City's Notables Get B. P. Awards At Annual Founders' Day Luncheon

The Baltimore Club of the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., now in its 32nd year, held its annual Founders' Day Luncheon at the Hilton Hotel on Saturday.

Some 300 or more guests turned out under dark, cloudy skies for the 1:30 p.m. afternooner. Presiding at the affair was Mrs. Lelia W. Powell chairwoman, who introduced the head table guests: Mrs. Rosalie McGuire, National President, NANBPW, Mrs. Edna DeCoursey Johnson,, president of the local chapter, Mrs. Virginia W. Scott, recording secretary and co-chairwoman and the awards recipients.

Following the invocation by Mrs. Jeanetta P. Wilson, chaplain, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. McGuire and Mrs. Grayce M. Robinson, Mid-Atlantic District Governor brought greetings.

The purpose of the gathering, Mrs. Scott commented, " is to honor services and recognize the achievements of outstanding professional women."

SOJOURNER TRUTH

The beautifully engraved plaques were presented to the recipients by Mrs. Johnson. All were signed by the national president who congratulated each awardee, following the presentations.

Mrs. Carolyn M. Robinson received the Sojourner Truth Award for over 30 years active duty in the Baltimore City Police Department.

Lt. Robinson was appointed to the department in 1942 and worked under the direction of Lt. Violet Hill Whyt at the Northwestern District. While there, she worked with civic organizations, young people and PTA's.

In 1966, Mrs. Robinson was transferred to the Community Relations Division where she was promoted to sergeant and in 1969 was promoted to Lieutenant and administrative assistant to the dirctor, Major James Watkins.

In her remarks she said, "I worked, not for honors, but for the satisfaction of a job well done. I loved working with families, with youth and with the community in general.

CHANGING SOCIETY

"Today, we live in an era of radical change which raises many uneasy questions and doubts pertaining to the direction of our society in America.

"Many barriers have fallen in the past, tremendous gains have been made in varied and sundry fields, new achievements and recognitions have been recorded.

"We as women have a duty to discharge special responsibilities to our communities or society. This is a national consequence of our status as educated women.

"Living in an age of rapid change is difficult. We are faced by conflicting aspirations of various groups, by technological developments, by shifting family patterns, by an aging population and a changed role for women.

"These changes have been accompanied by increasing tensions, by threats of an ecology way and by denial of basic concepts of the American system of law.

"The basic take of change offers a challenge to most of us. We must face up to the world that used to be. We are living in a vastly changed world.

"My challenge to your, accept change with total involvement."

BUSINESS AWARD

Mrs. Mahalia A. Blair Robinson, longtime Baltimore beautician, was presented the '73 Business Award.

Many know Mrs. Robinson. She began her work as an operator in Scott's Beauty Salon in the '30's and in 1939 the Blair Salon on McMechen St.

From 1956 to 1971 she conducted Blair's Advanced School for Licensed Beauticians.

A native of Carsen, Texas, she received her early schooling in Fort Worth. Texas and was graduatd from the I. M. Terrell High School in Forth Worth.

Mrs. Robinson is professionally affiliated with the Theta Mu Sorority, Zeta Chapter; National Beauty Culturist's League, Inc.; Master Beauticians, Baltimore.

In addition, she has given tireless hours to volunteer service to the N. M. Carroll Home for the Aged. She is a member of the Shiloh Baptist Church, is a volunteer worker for the Kidney Foundation. She is married to Charles Lee Robinson, who is now retired but works part-time with the Cancer Research Laboratory at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

PROFESSIONAL AWARD

Mrs. Bernice Smith White, a community relations specialist with the Social Security Administration and writer of "It's Not A Man's World,' 'which appears weekly in the AFRO-AMERICAN, won the Professional Award.

Mrs. White, a product of the Baltimore City Public Schools and Morgan State College works hand in hand with community organizations and the administration at both the local and national levels, interested in equal employment opportunities and civil rights.

Mrs. White is a member of the board of the Medical Eye Bank of Md; board of trustees of the United Fund; Employment Committee of the Md. Commission on the Status of Women; Herbert M. Frisby Historical Society and the National Council of Negro Women, and others.

JOB MARKET

In her remarks, Mrs. White spoke on the new job industries that have opened up to women.

"When talking to women, young high school women in particular, it is imperative to bring to their attention the labor predictions for the 1980's. Of particular interest are the predictions in the field of education, which has traditionally been the largest single professional occupation for women.

"The passing of the post-World War II 'baby boom' means that fewer teachers will be needed than in the middle and late 60's although there will continue to be numerous opening for teachers.

"In the past, two out of three women college graduates entered teaching.

"Unless recognition of the diminished demand exists, there could be an increase in the number of college graduates, conditioned past shortages, who seek to enter the teaching profession. The situation calls for careful appraisal in making career decisions.

"Future trends suggest that women should prepare for broader career opportunities."

MAN OF YEAR

The new Secretary of Employment and Social Services, David T. Mason accepted the "Man of the Year award and said." There must be thousands of 'Man of the Year' awards bestowed throughout this country every year.

"These awards are usually given to prominent athletes, religious leaders, politicians, humanitarians and public figures of every sort. But there are few such awards that are given to men by women's organizations.

"At a time when women's liberation can find little good to say about any man, it is a special honor to be singled out for an award by this distinguished group of women.

"In recalling some recent winners of similar awards, I remember that Richard Milhous Nixon was honored last year by Time Magazine as the man of the year. As a result to what has happened to Mr. Nixon and remembering Shakespeare's words that 'uneasy lies the head that wears the crown,' I am determined to behave and conduct myself in a prudent manner during the coming year."

Household hints

If your air conditioner's filter is washable, wash it periodically in lukewarm sudsy water. Rinse and wipe or shake dry. Change it periodically, according to instructions in the use and care manual.

• • •

To avoid air conditioner freeze-up at night when temperature drops, raise thermostat to middle setting and on medium or high fan speed.

• • •

On hottest days, turn air conditioner unit on a few hours earlier before temperature rises or let it run continuously.

• • •

Do not attempt do-it-yourself installation of an air conditioner unless the manufacturer specifically so instructs or provides a kit. Then carefully read the instructions before starting.

• • •

When buying an air conditioner look for these features: easily controlled air flow; easily removable for service, a cabinet of durable, rust-resistant material; easily reached and clearly labeled controls; easily removed filter for cleaning or replacement. Also: certification of accurate BTU, watt, and ampere ratings; styling to fit with your particular room decor and concealed line cord storage.
