UNDOING A WRONG—Here is 87-year-old Dorsey Willis last February receiving an American flag and an honorable discharge from Lt. Col. William Baker of the United States' Army. Willis is believed to be the oldest survivor of an all black army unit dishonorably discharged from the army in 1906 following an unsolved murder in Brownsville, Tex. Willis appeared in Washington Thursday to testify before a House hearing on the question of being awarded back pay.

Seek $$$ For Brownsville Survivors

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The House Veterans Affairs Committee held hearings here Thursday on a house bill presented by Congressman Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., that would provide monetary compensation to survivors and heirs of the 1906 Brownsville Incident.

Last year honorable discharges were added to the release records of 167 men of the First Battalion, 25th Infantry, an all black unit, who had been punished for the shooting incident.

The disturbance occurred about midnight Aug. 13, 1906 when some 16 to 20 men went through the streets of Brownsville, Texas firing weapons into homes and stores. Witnesses alleged that the men were black soldiers. The first battalion stationed outside the town at the time, was implicated.

When the entire unit professed their innocence, the penalty of discharge without honor was carried out en masse.

After the case was reviewed last year by the Secretary of the Army, officials said that the concept of mass punishment had for decades been contrary to Army policy and the old decision was amended.

Dorsey Willis, 87, the oldest survivor of the unit, was present at the hearing. Also in attendance were Senator Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.); Congressman Donald Fraser, (D-Minn.; author, John D. Weaver,Brownsville Raid: The Story of America's Black Dreyfus Affair and Congressman Hawkins.

Girl, 14, dies in Coxson case

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (UPI) — A 14-year-old girl shot and wounded in the attack which claimed the life of Major B. Coxson last Friday inside Coxson's $200,000 mansion here, has died.

A spokesman at Cherry Hill Medical Center said the girl, Lita Luby, the daughter of Coxson's common-law wife, died about 6 p.m. Tuesday of a bullet wound in the head. She had been unconscious and in critical condition since being admitted to the hospital with her mother, Lois Luby, 35, and a brother, Toro, 15, both of whom remain in critical condition with head wounds.

Tuesday Camden County authorities denied a published report that Lois had identified a suspect in the June 8 murder of her flamboyant husband.

County prosecutor Thomas Shusted disputed a story in the Philadelphia Daily News Tuesday which said the woman had tentatively identified the photo of a suspect named "Sam."

"That name has been mentioned, but where it came from, I don't know." were shot by four black has been left temporarily sightless since the incident."

The victims allegedly were shot by four black men inside Coxson's rented home here who then drove off in a black Cadillac.

A third son, Lex, 13, escaped uninjured to a neighbor's home to notify authorities of the predawn incident.

Authorities questioned the victims Tuesday "in depth" and said Toro "has been able to supply us with a third composite sketch of a possible suspect." Funeral services for Coxson are being held Friday evening.

Back in 1963 we introduced America to something new. Soft whiskey.

In all this time no one has come close to matching that one-of-a-kind taste.

They may be trying, of course. But that means spending years in doing experiments by the thousands. And spending dollars by the millions.

Even then there's no guarantee of success.

If you want a soft whiskey you have a choice. Calvert Extra.
