A Howard Co. high school student will represent the state of Maryland in the Miss Black Teenage America pageant to be held in New York City next month.

The contest, to be televised throughout the U.S., will feature many of this country's most beautiful and talented teenage girls.

Pretty Miss Edna R. Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hill of Columbia, Md., was crowned Miss Black Teenage Maryland on Sunday as five other young ladies competed for the title.

The setting for the pageant was the spacious Walbrook High School auditorium in Baltimore. Engraved trophies stood high on tall white columns and potted plants with tiny white lights and inter-woven holly added beauty to the stage.

Following the greetings from Maryland State pageant executive producer, Maurice "Hot Rod" Hubert, greetings and a proclamation from the Mayor's office were extended by Quinton Lawson, his special assistant. Mrs. Jackie Hall, Morgan State College instructor, read a letter from the Governor.

The six contestants, representing Baltimore City and five counties were: Misses Cathey D. Smith, 15, from Baltimore City; Vickie Lynn Ivory, 15, Prince George's Co.; Catherine Doreen Christy, 16, Harford Co.; Sabra Dorsey, 15, Baltimore Co., and Gardenia Henson, 16, Anne Arundel Co. All of the girls had won titles in their respective areas which enabled them to compete in the statewide contest.

Serving as judges on Sunday were: Mrs. Vertell Simmons of Washington, district manager for Celebrity Fashion Jewels; Skip Wise, student at Dunbar High School, Baltimore, and all-star basketball player; Sam Wilson, instructor at Coppin State College and director of the Arena Players; Miss Frankie A. Reed, staff writer for Young World at the News American and junior at Howard University, and Ms. Marie P. Cooke, women's editor, AFRO-AMERICAN.

The contestants were judged on personal appearance, personality and achievement and performing talent, respectively.

At the end of each segment, the audience of about 200, was entertained by the Little Beavers' singers and band.

The program was commentated by Mrs. Rosa Johnson.

Following the singing of the "Negro National Anthem" led by the contestants, each girl was introduced to the judges and guests where they were rated for personal appearance,

Each was clad in a long evening dress, some with halter tops, others with high yokes.

During the second segment, the girls greeted the audience and gave brief biographical sketches on themselves, such as their ages, schools, hobbies and future ambitions. They were marked on a 1-35 point ballot.

Many of the judges commented that the performing talent segment was the most difficult to score. Each of the girls performed with skill and expertise which made the judging even more difficult. Two of the ladies danced to another song, "My Man" from Lady Sings The Blues, while others recited in prose and poetry.

Miss Hill recited "For My People" and "Heritage." (Note: During one portion of her recitation, she became so emotional, that she began to cry.)

Final judging was done during the question and answer section, where the girls were given impromptu question which were written by the judges.

"Is there any significance in traveling to foreign countries?" was asked Miss Hill. She answered, in part, "America is a foreign country. Why visit Africa when there're ghettos in America. After we have cleaned up the ghettos here in America, then we can travel to Africa, Asia or any other foreign country. Then we can say, 'free at last, free at last, thank God Almighty, we're free at last'". At one time during her answer when she received an ovation, she paused until the clapping had subsided and continued.

After the ballots were tallied, and the winner crowned, Miss Hill paraded the winner crowned, Miss Hill paraded off stage before the heartfelt guests and later rejoined her family and pageant Sponsor., Mrs. Pinnie Ross, who were waiting backstage.—M.P. COOKE

THE HAWKINSES

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hawkins (Barbara) of Copely Rd., in Baltimore are happy as they can be this week and are making plans for a much earned vacation.

For the last several days Mr. Hawkins has been the honoree of a number of testimonials at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, where he served as Ballistics Research Technician for 32 years.

On Tuesday morning at Holiday Inn in Aberdeen, his co-workers hosted him at a farewell party and gifted him with plaques, statues and many other tokens.

Making the retirement occasion particularly happy for the Hawkinses was the arrival of their daughter, Carol Marie, from San Bernadino, Calif., where she resides with her brother Dr. Robert M. Hawkins and commutes to San Antonio Junior College. She will be about for two weeks.

The other Hawkin's children are, Albert Lewis Jr., computer specialist; Anthony Thomas, vice-president of Rouse Company and General Manager of Rouse Co., Cherry Hill N.J.; Bruce Hawkins, student at Morgan State College and writer for Channel 11 TV in advertising and production.

In addition, Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins now both retired, Mrs. Hawkins from the government are also the grandparents of seven.

Mr. Hawkins who enjoys fishing and photography is a lifetime member of Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church. He is the author and co-author of many scientific research books and pamphlets on Ballistics.

In addition he is a member of the Phalanx Social Club and the Holy Name Society.

SIGMA WIVES

When the Sigma Wives gathered for their closing meeting on the spacious lawn of Mrs. Thelma Daley's home on Elderon Ave., recently, each member brought a covered dish.

When uncovered, cool salads, delectable hor d'oeuvres, savory casseroles and feather light cakes were revealed.

It was a pleasant and relaxing meeting, a fitting close for a year of FETED at retirement luncheon on Wednesday at Aberdeen Proving Ground was Albert Hawkins, shown here with his wife, Barbara. For more about the Hawkinses, see RSVP.

Miss Branch 17 pageant set for June 28

The Pennsylvania avenue branch of the Enoch Pratt Free Library will be the setting of the final selection and crowning of "Miss Branch 17" at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 28, in the branch library at North and Pennsylvania Ave.

From 25 entrants, ten semi-finalists have been selected. A panel of three judges will choose "Miss Branch 17" and two runners-up on the basis of appearance, talent, speaking ability, and poise, and will award prizes to all three. Entrants in the contest were required to be registered Pratt patrons with operative library cards.

The event will be open to the public free of charge, but tickets will be required for admittance. Free tickets will be available at the Pennsylvania avenue branch till the day before the final judging. Children will be welcome if accompanied by an adult.

Beautiful setting for the Royster wedding

In a well-appointed floral setting at Deliverance House of Prayer, Miss Lizzie Ann Davis spoke her wedding vows to Lee Thomas Royster on a recent Saturday afternoon.

The bride, radiant in a traditional white wedding gown, an original design, was escorted down the aisle by Marshall Maberry who gave her away in marriage.

Miss Eula Guiont of New Haven, Conn., was maid of honor for the double ring ceremony where the Rev. Oscar Dalton officiated. Miss Guiont wore a lovely aqua blue chiffon gown with white pearls and held a bouquet of red roses.

Bridesmaids were Misses Sherrie Darden and Sandra Best who wore light blue gowns with white and held bouquets of red roses.

The groomsmen for the ceremony were James and Hugh Euburn. Howard McKnight served as best man.

Pretty little Miss Sharyn Guiont, flower girl was dressed in a light pink gown with a multi-colored pink and mint green veil. She was escorted down the aisle by Master Rufus Maberry Jr. who served as ring bearer.

The couple took off following the wedding reception held at the home of a friend on Lafayette Ave., for a honeymoon in Pennsylvania.

For traveling, the bride was elegant in a hot pink and canary yellow dress with white lace sleeves and complemented by white shoes and handbag.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. Wyatt Darden of Ayden, N.C.

Mr. Royster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Royster of Baltimore.

Mt. Winans Park holds ribbon cutting fete

By WALTER W. E. HILL

Dedication of Mt. Winans Park located at Hollins Ferry Road and Paca Street was held recently with W. E. Hill acting as master of ceremonies.

Among persons who participated in the opening: M. Jay Brodie, Deputy Commissioner Department of Housing and Community Development; Donald Millard, Assistant Superintendent of Bureau of Recreation; George Barrett, HCD Program Manager for Mt. Winans; Mark Weiser, Designer of Parks; Baltimore City Mayor William Donald Schaefer; the Rev. James Reynolds, pastor of Bethany Baptist Church, Mt. Winans; Westport Scout Troop No. 239 and Charles T. Parks, manager of Mt. Winans- Westport Homes.

* * *

The most gratifying event was the presence of the Mayor in our community for the first time. After the Mayor had delivered his opening remarks he asked the scouts to gather around him with Samuel Harris of 2448 Dorton Court reciting the Pledge of Allegiance.

In closing the Mayor chose little Clemit James of 2415 Paca St. to assist in cutting the Ribbon.

CCB hosts Girl Scouts

At Community College of Baltimore this week is a group of students, participating in the second annual "Careers Exploration" event sponsored by Girl Scouts of Central Maryland.

"Careers Exploration" offers girls of junior and senior-high age, non-Scouts as well as Scouts, a chance to sample a variety of possible career choices and to have a taste of campus life.

In making their application, girls indicated which of three "major fields" — drama, physical education and art — they preferred to emphasize.

They attend classes in their "major" one hour each day.

There is also time for two daily "elective" classes, chosen from such offerings as music, business, modeling, and allied health.

Other opportunities, such as instruction in self-defense will be offered to all participants.

"Careers Exploration" is one of many Wider Opportunities made available by Girl Scouts throughout Central Maryland, the rest of the country, and overseas. The Scouts serve girls in Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Frederick, Harford and Howard Counties and get support through the United Fund of Central Maryland and the United Givers Fund of Frederick County.

Bowmans Feted In Annapolis Marking 30th Anniversary

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — More than 300 members and friends greeted the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bowman of First Baptist Church at dinner in celebration of the 30th anniversary of his pastorate and her service at Bay Ridge Inn on Thursday evening.

The Rev Mr. Bowman, a former resident of Washington, D.C., where he was assistant to the late pastor of the Florida Avenue Baptist Church, the Rev. Robert E. Rollins, has distinguished himself as one of Maryland's leading ministers and citizens.

Having been ordained in 1943, six months later, he took over the pastorate of First Baptist. Within the 30 years he has served, his congregation has grown from a membership of 75 to more than 300.

Also during this time, the congregation has acquired several peices of property and built a new church in 1954. At present progress is being made in an expansion building program, which includes an education building, a day care center, and a central community building for use to organized groups of the city.

The Rev. Mr. Bowman is a graduate of the Washington Baptist Theological Seminary. He did further study at Emerson Institute and American University.

He is a past president of the United Baptist Convention and Auxiliary of Maryland, and a member of the Board of Directors of the National Baptist Convention of the U.S.A. He is also a representative for the national body on the Executive Board of the Baptist World Alliance.

Locally, he served on the Commission of the Housing Authority for the City of Annapolis for about 10 years, and served as chairman of the Board of Commissioners for three years. He is also on the Board of Directors for the Stanton Center and is affiliated with the OEO and the Poor Peopels Rights.

Formerly the assistant director of the Housing Authority, he now serves as Director of Tenant Relations.

Speaker for the dinner occasion was the Rev. George A. Crawley Jr., pastor of St. Paul Baptist Church of Baltimore. Other speakers on the program were Mr. Leonadas Crutchfield, chairman of the Deacon Board, the Rev. Wesley B. Nash, pastor of the historic Mt. Moriah AME Church, and the Rev. Samuel Ray, pastor of the Morning Star Baptist Church in Baltimore. Mr. Everett Pettigrew was the toast master.

REV. AND MRS. LEROY BOWMAN Feted by 300 in Annapolis

Musical selections were rendered by Mrs. Mary L. Brown and Mrs. Sophia Miller, soloists, accompanied by Mrs. Irene Richardson, and Miss Michele Pettigrew, guitarist.

Napoleon Harris, trustee, presented the Rev Mr. and Mrs. Bowman with a trip to the Holy Land and a Certificate of Appreciation from the congregation.

Among out-of-town guests were the Rev. Bowman's mother, Mrs. Lucille Moseley of Washington, D.C.; two aunts, Mrs. Delia Allen of Washington, D.C. and Mrs. Elizabeth Doublas of Baltimore; and the Rev. Eugene Carter, pastor of the Good Shepherd Baptist Church of Baltimore.

Among local guests were Acting Mayor and Mrs. Noah A. Hillman, and the attorney, Mr. Albert Goodman and Mrs. Goodman.

The Committee on Arrangements included Major Louis J.Boston, chairman, Mesdames Bertina Smith, Ethel M. Thompson, Claraetta Williamson, Messrs. Leonadas Crutchfield, Charles M. Walker Sr., and Booker T. Williams, and the Rev. Ellihue Hamilton.

Hostesses were Mesdames Ethel M. Thompson, Annie T. Crutchfield, Mollie Harrison, Marion L. Johnson, Adell Walker, Elizabeth Williams and Claraetta Williamson.
