Alliance prexy reports on union activities

on County Route 20.

Clifton Harris, president of the industrial labor union Alliance, has issued the following report on the union's activities.

"On Sunday, May 13, 1973, three historic events took place at the Alliance Home, located at 2025 E. North Ave. The 1st event was the presentation of gifts to two young ladies who walked 25 miles each in the March of Dimes Walk-a-Thon on April 29. Present with their mothers were Miss Juernene F. Bass daughter of Mrs. Clarice Bass and Miss Vanessa Hall daughter of Mrs. Gardenia Hall.

"The 2nd event was the eloquent speech given by our National Vice President Wesley Young who presented Local President Clifton Harris with a plaque for the outstanding job done for the recruitment of new members from January 15 to April 15 this year.

The Baltimore local is indeed very proud to be Number 1 in the country of Alliance Locals that competed in this contest. I personally want to thank Mr. and Mrs. William B. Garrett, Earl Wiggins, Mrs. Ethel Danley and the remaining Local 202 members who made this dream a reality.

"National Presidential Aide John W. White made some brief remarks concerning H. R. 7183, a Bill being introduced by Honorable Congressman William L. Clay. This Bill will give employees the right to be represented in grievances and adverse actions by representatives of their own choosing.

After these remarks he introduced the guest speaker of the day the Honorable Congressman Parren J. Mitchell.

"Cong. Mitchell, as always, made some inspiring remarks concerning what's happening in Washington, plus other areas of concern. He was given a standing ovation when he finished his remarks. The meeting room was packed to capacity. Refreshments were served and this day will go down in Local 202 history as one of the greatest meetings ever attended by the membership."

Edmondson grad wins grant

Miss Renee Peacock, 16, Edmondson High School June graduate, has won the $2,500 Hattie Williams Memorial Scholarship to cover a four-year college education.

The award was made at a dinner dance sponsored by the Upper South Department of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union at the National Maritime Union Hall on June 9.

Miss Peacock also won the Merit Scholarship Award, ranking in the top five per cent of her class and the American Legion Award given by Catonsville Post No. 25 for distinguished school service.

She resides with her family, Mr. and Mrs. William Peacock, on Gist Ave. Her

Mary Ashe never missed a day in 7 years school

Miss Mary Ash is one of Baltimore's specials. Throughout three years at Hampstead Hill Junior High, she has done outstanding work, often attaining a place on the Honor Roll of Distinction, with all marks above 90.

Last week when she graduated from the highest graduated from the large junior high in East Baltimore, she was awarded a prize for having the highest (93.15) average among 600 classmates during her three years at Hampstead Hill.

She was also honored for having perfect attendance throughout her three years in junior high, but her perfect attendance record goes back much farther than the seventh grade. She has not missed a day from school in seven years.

On hand for graduation were her mother, Mrs. Geraldine Ash, sister, Mrs. Sandrie Geraldine Gantt and her sixth grade teacher, Mrs. Lillian Ford from the Charles Carroll of Carrollton School. Mrs. Ford was justly proud of her former pupil, and Mary's mother was beaming.

Mrs. Ash has reared eight children, five boys and three girls.

For the last three years she has served Dunbar High School as a KAPS Community Assistant and a parent-school liaison worker.

Mary has only one younger brother living at home now. He is Wilbert Ash and has just passed to the fifth grade in the elementary school that Mary attended. Mary has three older brothers who are married, and one deceased.

Mary's two older sisters are Sheila, who works, and the oldest sister who came to the closing exercises at Hampstead Hill, Mrs. Sandrie Gantt.

Mrs. Gantt not only works but is attending evening classes at CCB and is the leader of Girl Scout Troop 518 which meets at the church at Caroline and McElderry Sts.

At school Mary took part in many activities and was well liked and respected by her classmates.

She was a member of the Mixed Chorus for three years and this spring had a leading role as "Bett" in the musical production of "Oliver."

She was a member of Hampstead Hill's College Club and has visited twelve colleges the past three years.

During her senior year she served as president of the club and took part in modern dance clubs both at Hampstead Hill and at the Lafayette Recreation Center.

At School No. 43 she was a member of the reading, mathematics and psychology clubs. Last summer she worked in the Neighborhood Youth Corps as a teacher's aide at P.S. 139.

Her present ambition is mathematics and Spanish. She plans to attend Western High School for the next three years and then hopes to go on to college.

Her prerent ambition to become a lawyer.

Housing loans theme of Coppin seminar

How blacks may more readily acquire housing loans from Maryland banks will be the theme of a seminar sponsored by Coppin State College's Title III Program, the Maryland Realtor's Association and the Training Division of the Maryland State Department of Economic and Community Development, Friday.

According to Bennie Graves, director of special projects at Coppin, the main purpose of the session, which runs throughout the morning, will be to identify "those lending institutions which are amenable to black citizens and then pass that information on to blacks in the city and state."

Professional realtors, city and federal housing officials, including James Crockett of the Maryland Real Estate Board, will be present to provide information and answer questions on segregationist patterns in Maryland housing and discriminatory practices by both lending institutions and some realtors.

Community leaders and bankers will discuss the role lending institution should play in providing black citizens with necessary information on securing loans and purchasing any home in Maryland they can afford.

Among them will be Rudy Schafer, director of the Maryland Housing Fund; Robert D. Kahn, director of the Maryland Home Financing Program and Taylor G. Hall, chief of Urban Training of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development.

Ft. Holabird on the move to Ft. Meade

The United States Army Intelligence Command (USAINTC) will move its headquarters and associated activities from Fort Holabird to Fort Meade, Md. beginning in July, reports the Department of the Army.

Most USAINTC Headquarters staff offices are expected to be in place at Fort Meade by September 30.

Relocation of the Intelligence Command is a result of the decision by the Department of Defense to close Fort Holabird. The Command has been allocated space at Fort Meade in buildings near First U.S. Army Headquarters.

11,000 vets study abroad

In fiscal year 1972, 11,04[illegible] veterans and servicemen pursued training under the GI Bill in approved foreign institutions of higher learning, the VA reports.

A list of approved foreign schools and other information is available from any VA regional office.

This could be your lucky break...

Every Tuesday Tickets go on sale for the following week's drawing.

1. Where to Buy Tickets: Lottery tickets are 50¢ each. You can buy them from any Authorized Lottery Sales Agent. There are thousands of agents located throughout the State of Maryland. Look for one wherever you see the Twin Win Lottery sign.

2. How to Read Your Tickets: There is a new Lottery Drawing every week. Tickets are eligible for the Drawing Date printed on the ticket. Compare the Lottery number printed on your ticket to the winning, weekly number for your drawing.

3. How To Tell If You're A Winner: Compare the six digit (every number, including zero is a digit) Weekly Winning Number to your six digit Lottery Number. If you match, in exact order, only the last two numbers, you qualify for the Million Dollar Playoff. If you match, in exact order, three or more of the right hand digits, beside qualifying for the Million Dollar Playoff, you win a cash prize.

4. How Much Can You Win: If six digits match in exact order, you win $50,000. If the last five digits match in exact order, you win $1000. If the last four digits match in exact order, you win $100. If the last three digits match in exact order, you still win $25.

5. How Else Can You Win: If the six digits in your Lottery Number or the six digits in your Serial Number match the Winning Weekly Number in any order, you are a Scramble Winner. (Get it. You have the right numbers, but they're all scrambled up). Scramble Winners get $35.

TWIN WIN

The MARYLAND STATE Lottery

The Lottery.

50¢ can make you a millionaire.

($50,000 a year for 20 years.)

6. What To Do If You're A Winner: If you are a cash winner in the Weekly Drawing, bring your ticket to any Official Lottery Claims Center. A complete list of Claims Centers is available wherever Lottery tickets are sold. Do not mail your ticket! Shortly after your ticket has been validated, you will receive a check. If your ticket has also qualified you for the Million Dollar Playoff, the Lottery will notify you if your ticket is entered into the finals for the Million Dollar Drawing.

7. What To Do If You Qualify For The Million Dollar Playoff: If your ticket has ONLY the last two digits in exact order, hold on to your ticket. Do not take it to a Claims Center! Immediately before the Next Millionaire Drawing, a special qualifying number will be announced. If the number announced matches the last three digits in your Serial Number, then you're a winner. Congratulations. You're on your way to winning the Big One. One Million Dollars. Fifty thousand dollars a year for the next twenty years.

8. What Assures The Fairness Of The Lottery: Because of the way winning numbers are selected, everyone has an equal chance. The Lottery ticket has been scientifically designed to incorporate the most advanced measures against forgery and alteration. Strict security measures have been built into every step of the Lottery operation.

9. What Happens To The Funds From The Lottery: After initial operating expenses have been deducted, the rest of the money is divided equally. Half goes into the winners' prize pool and the other half goes into the General Fund of the State of Maryland for uses to benefit the people of Maryland.

10. What About Additional Information: Lottery information booklets are available free wherever Lottery tickets are sold. One more important piece of information. The Lottery wishes you the best of luck.
