MR. AND MRS. ARNELL MCCRAY
(former Miss Patricia Rivers)

Beautiful setting for McCrays

In a lovely floral setting at Wayland Baptist Church, Miss Patricia Raye Rivers was given away in marriage by her uncle, Eugene B. Nivens, to Arnell McCray.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Nivens and granddaughter of Mrs. Julia Ann Nivens was radiant as she spoke her wedding vows in a gown of white silk organza, fashioned with a high ruffled neckline with long full sleeves with a ruffle cuff. Her gown was empire waisted with an flared skirt. The bodice was delicately trimmed with appliques of Venice lace, trimmed with tiny seed pearls. The sleeves, neckline, hemline and full chapel train banded with the Venice lace trim.

Her bouffant vei of white illusion fell from a Juliet cap trimmed with the Venice lace and pearls.

The maid of honor Miss Olga B. Jones and bridesmaids Misses Shirley Smith, Juanita White, Sharon Washington, Wanda Holt, Jackie Holt and Mrs. Carolyn McCray were all elegant in empire gowns of crepe in shades of violet and orchid. The only trim being on the collars and cuffs, edged in white lace. They wore matching wide brim hats.

The best man was Bernard Powell. Ushers were Michael Bennett, Michael Banks, Eugene Banks and Gregory Randel.

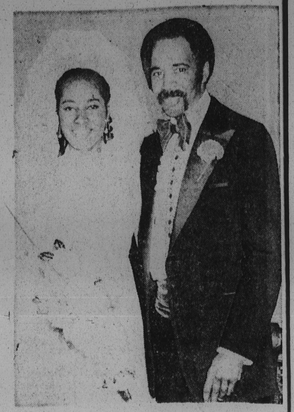
Pretty little flower girls Misses Terry Jones and Tamy Robertson were dressed in orchid long gowns with a mixture of flowers to match.

Master Anthony Harris was ringbearer for the ceremony.

With out-of-town guests present from Philadelphia, South Carolina, Washington and New York the couple was feted at two receptions. The buffet style affair was highlighted by the cake of three tiers which was lavender with white trimming.

The bride is a graduate of Eastern High School and the bridegroom is a graduate of Polytechnique High School and is presently employed at D.C.A. Food Industries where he is a designer draftsman.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Mcray.



MR. AND MRS. FLOYD E. THOMPSON
(former Miss Pearleya Ash)

Miss Ash, Mr. Thompson repeat vows

In a beautiful candle-lit double ring ceremony Miss Pearleya Ash became the wife of Floyd E. Thompson Saturday at Gospel Tabernacle Baptist Church where the Rev. J. Reid officiated.

Given away in holy matrimony by her father, Charlie Ash, the bride wore an original white gown with a high collar trimmed with Venice lace. Her sleeves were long and full with Venice lace trimming matching that of her train and veil.

The bride's sister, Miss Elizabeth Ash, was maid of honor along with bridesmaids, Mrs. Bernice Evans and Mrs. Audrey Ware. They were lovely in gowns of blue and lilac pastel flowers.

Little Misses Deneen Ash and Gabby Leverette were flower girls who also wore dresses of blue and lilac pastel colors.

Master Joseph D. Evans was ringbearer.

Best man was Gordon Thompson, brother of the bridegroom along with Melvin R. Thompson and Douglass Thompson, also the bridegroom's brothers.

Musical preludes during ceremony were rendered by Miss Linda Hawthrone, organist and Audrey Morton, soloist.

Following wedding nuptials the couple was feted at a reception held at the Elegante Room in which over 150 guests attended and enjoyed a hot buffet style dinner.

Making their new home on Whirl Wind Circle the new couple was honored by the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie J. Ash, Miss.; Mrs. Eliza Thompkins, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Julia Jones, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Elizabeth Steele, Cleveland, Ohio.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Shelia King

Williamses new home in El Paso

The sound of the words "I Do" echoed beautifully Saturday as Miss Sheila Watts became the wife of Carter James Williams at Mt. Pisgah CME Church where the Rev. John Thompson pronounced the couple as man and wife.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Watts and the late Charles E. Watts, was given in marriage by her brother, Ronald Watts.

She was elegant in an original A-lined silk organza gown with an empire waistline with Chantilly lace and the high yoke and lace sleeves. A beautiful bouquet of white and yellow carnations complemented her attire.

The matron of honor, the bride's new sister-in-law, was Mrs. JoAnne Watts who was lovely in an apricot gown with long sleeves, white lace around the collar and down the front of the dress. She carried yellow and orange carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Mildred Edwards, wore a canary yellow gown with long sleeves. The gown featured a white collar of lace which ran down the front of the dress.

Miss Lynnett Edwards was flower girl. Her long white dress with short sleeves featured blue lace around the sleeves, waist and neck. She carried rose petals in a small straw basket.

From out-of-town came Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Roberts, Columbus, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Melvin, Michigan; and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Giles of Texas.

The bride is a graduate of Morgan State College and presently a teacher in the Baltimore City Public Schools.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Morgan State College and is presently a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

The newlyweds are now at home in El Paso, Texas.

MR. AND MRS. CARTER J. WILLIAMS
(former Miss Sheila Watts)

Pocono honeymoon for Jenkinses

In a traditional wedding ceremony, Miss Linda C. Burton became the wife of Grant M. Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jenkins of Westwood Avenue in Baltimore.

The lovely double-ring nuptials were held at Zion Church where the Rev. Marshall officiated.

Given away in marriage by her brother, Willie Burton, the bride chose an elegant white satin gown with lace on the sleeves and down the front of the dress.

Miss Delilah Burton, the bride's sister was maid of honor wearing a hot pink gown trimmed in white lace.

Bridesmaids Misses Deborah McKill, Donah Armstrong and Joan Bland wore dresses designed similar to the maid of honor's in rainbow colors.

Little Annette Thorpe and Alisa Cooke were flower girls dressed in yellow and white gowns with daisies in a basket.

The bridegroom's attendants were Michael Flint, best man, and Ricky Ratchford, Raymond Jenkins Ernest Lee Jr.

The couple was feted at a reception in the church hall immediately following the service.

One of the most unique bridal cakes ever was witnessed this day when the cake of three tiers with the first layer being square and the second layer being round with both having bridesmaids and ushers on each layer in the exact colors which the actual ones wore in the wedding. The third tier of the cake had the bride and bridegroom standing aton.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding ceremony were: Glenda Thorne, Washington, D.C.; John Lee Thorne, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thorne, Newport News, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Meadley and family, Chicago, Ill.

With their new residence in the Parkside Gardens Apartments the couple took off after their reception to the Pocono Mountains in Penn.

The bride, the daughter of Mrs. Pauline Burton, is a graduate of Jane Adams High School. The groom is a graduate of City College and a member of the singing group Love and the 25th Century. He is employed as a bricklayer at the John Mirmon Construction Company.

MR. AND MRS. GRANT M. JENKINS
(former Miss Linda C. Burton)

Mr. Graham takes hand of Miss Barber

A couple's wedding is usually a once-in-a-lifetime occasion. With much labor they plan and prepare to bring the wedding ceremony to near perfection to make it a beautiful remembrance for all involved.

So was the wedding of Miss Darydenise Angela Barber and Gregory Graham Sunday afternoon at All Saints Catholic Church. Under the direction of Mrs. Jackie Henderson, the ecstatic couple joined each other in marriage in a very lovely and memorable ceremony when the bride's father, Francis F. Barber Jr. gave her away in marriage.

For her wedding the bride chose an original crepe grown with wide sleeves and coral belt. Her veil, unique in style, was wide brimmed and fell softly over her shoulders and back.

In the solemn traditional double-ring ceremony Father E. Priestcin and Deacon J. Kenney officiated.

The soloist for the wedding was Miss Jean Graves accompanied by Donald Henderson on the organ. They rendered the beautiful song entitled, "Ave Maria".

WEDDING PARTY

The bridesmaids' processional down the aisle was a brilliant array of colors. Their gowns were fashioned softly of royal material. Sleeves were full to the wrists where they gathered with a small ruffle. The necklines were high-fitted with lace bodice and a small ruffle at de top of the sleeve. The dresses were complemented with wide brim hats matching the colors of their dresses. The Bridesmaids carried carnation bouquets.

Miss Toni Barber, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The other bridesmaids were: Misses Vanessa Henderson, Linda Craig, Robyn Quarrels, Pamela Pinkett, Sheila Wilson, Shelley Sheppard, and Linda Janey. Junior bridesmaids were Misses Jan Holman and Lucretia Matthews.

Flower girls Misses LaVonne Barber, sister of the bride and Tonya Peterson were visions of springtime as they walked down the aisle along with Master Ronald Joyner who served as ringbearer.

The bridegroom was handsome in long tails with a black jacket with pinstripes. His best man was Ronald Matthews along with ushers Darrell Jones, Ralph Henderson, Jowell Holman, Erwing Sheppard, Milburn Matthews, Humphrey Dennis, Ken James, Ledell Matthews and Clifton Kellum.

Ushers were handsome in their long tails with matching black pants and ruffled shirts which matched the color of each bridesmaid. They wore black bow ties to complement their outfits.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis F. Barber Sr., is a graduate of Northwestern Senior High School and is currently employed at Westinghouse.

Mrs. Barber chose to wear for her daughter's wedding, a beautiful pink flowered raw silk gown ensemble which was long sleeved. She complemented her attire with matching shoes and a wide brimmed pink hat.

Following nuptial ceremonies the couple was feted at a reception in the church auditorium where they were congratulated by over 200 guests.

A garden reception was later given in honor of the newlyweds at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bacon at their Leewood Avenue home in Catonsville.

The couple plan to make their new home in the Pawn area of Baltimore.

Columbia Capers

By PINNIE L. ROSS

The Columbia Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority held its May week Luncheon recently at the American Cities Building. Mrs. Celonia Walden presided over the program as it opened with invocation (the Delta's prayer). Greetings were given by the sorority president, lovely Mrs. Ruth Felton. As she graciously stood before a crowded audience giving praise to her members, she indicated that all of the sorority members had played meaningful roles, and without their support, the sorority would be a failure.

Sorors Ruth Hunt, Charlotte Mebane, Hazel Parks and many others from the Baltimore chapter were present.

The guest speaker for the luncheon was Dr. Emerson Walden, who was introduced by his cute daughter, Celonia B. Walden. Dr. Walden spoke on "China and Acupuncture." He was one of the ten-member delegation from the National Medical Association who spent 15 days visiting the People's Republic of China). He observed health-care delivery systems of hospitals in China of various types and its rural and urban communes. Dr. Walden said he witnessed treatment of deaf mutes and gastric ulcer patients as well as acupuncture anesthesia for major surgery of three different conditions.

He further stated that in response to their host's expressed interest in the health care problems of black Americans, an arranged seminar was attended by ranking revolutionary committee members and members of the China Medical Association. It was noted that the People's Republic of China and the National Medical Association were addressing the same problem: the provision of adequate health care for a whole people, where this had not been available before. The medical curriculum has been shortened from six years to three, and the period of training must involve some actual service among the people. This would increase both the speed of production of doctors and their orientation toward service to the people.

Dr. Walden added that because population growth is so rapid, many people in the People's Republic of China are not being provided for at all, due to lack of trained personnel. He also stated that it was necessary to create several new levels of practitioners who render effective service to the people with shorter periods of formal training. He said, "these include the "barefoot" doctors who work among the people in many responsible ways."

Presentation of awards were made by Mrs. Marian I. Graves. The basic continuation of Delta's public service program is it's a five-point program thrust in the areas of educational development, economical development, community and international development, housing and urban development and mental health.

Annually, the Delta Sorority sponsors a scholarship based on financial need and academic achievement. This scholarship is given to some deserving young person, be it male or female.

Miss Sydney Ann Howard is the recipient of their 1972 award. She attends Baltimore Community College and is majoring in human science.

Alan Garod Baion, a graduate of Mt. Hebron High School was the recipient of this year's $200 scholarship. His scholastic leadership accomplishments include: freshman class president, sophomore class representative, freshman football, junior football, basketball and the varsity team. He has also served as president of the Neighborhood Teen Center, leader of recreation and later, assistant director of recreation at the Center. He plans to enter Morgan State College in the fall and pursue a major in recreational education.

Rosalyn Rise Day Care Center was the recipient of the public service award — a check for $50 in recognition of the splendid job they did in meeting the needs of the pre-school children of working parents in the community. Delta's continuing interest in community and international affairs commits them to support and reinforce activities of such worthwhile organizations as the NAACP to which they gave $50.

The Soror of the Year Award went to Mrs. Celonia Walden. Mrs. Graves explained that it was not an easy job for the awards committee to select the one soror of the year, because all of the sorors are involved in one way or another in meaningful volunteer service to committee schools, neighborhood centers urban service, hospitals, playgrounds; etc.

Soror Walden has served three years at the Baltimore Museum of Art, two years on the Children's Concert Committee in Howard County, one and one-half years as a volunteer in the reading laboratory at Wild High High School and as a volunteer for the Kidney Foundation of Maryland. She is a community representative of the Columbia work group on cultural development art.

Next, awards went to seven Deltas who had served twenty-five years, and concurrently shown a devotion toward helping keep the promises made in light of the goals of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. While keeping the promise of the past, three sorors have met the challenges of the present. These were Sorors Marg Carter, Ruth Felton, Marian Graves, Annette Johnson, Mae Lucas, Celonia Walden and Myrtle Winstead.

The afternoon program was climaxed with a choral reading by the Delphites (Delta daughters). The Delphites also served as beautiful hostesses for the afternoon.

Food Clips

What is yogurt? It's a custard-like product made by fermenting milk with a special culture. According to U.S. Department of Agriculture, it is usually made from homogenized, pasturized whole milk. However — it may be made from skim or partly skimmed milk.

* * *

Ice cream is made from cream, milk, sugar, flavorings, and stabilizers. It must contain at least 10 percent milkfat.

* * *

Sour cream is sometimes called "salad cream" or "cream dressing". Sour cream is made by adding lactic acid bacteria culture to light cream. It is smooth and thick and contains at least 18 percent milkfat.

* * *

What is sour "half and half?" It's the same as half-and-half except that a culture is added. You could use it to replace sour cream because it has less fat. Half-and-half is a mixture of milk and cream, homogenized. Under State requirements, it must have between 10 and 12 percent milkfat.
