First United Church holds Women's Day

The First United Church of Jesus Christ Apostolic celebrated its eighth annual Women's Day, Sunday, June 10.

The church was filled with members and friends who listened attentively to the eloquent guest speaker, the Rev. Mrs. Delores Caution Carpenter.

Music during the service was provided by the Women's Choir, directed by Mrs. Jacqueline Saunders. Soloist was Mrs. Betty Carroll and organist was Mrs. Gloria Street.

Others on the program were: Mrs. Julia E. Jones, Mrs. Laura Henry and the Rev. Monroe R. Saunders Sr., pastor.

The Women's Department sponsored a Fellowship Hour where Mrs. Viola Black told of her experiences on a visit to Africa.

At the Women's Day evening service, Mrs. Wilhelmina Joyner and Evangelist Katie Brooks presided.

Music was provided by the Junior Choir, directed by Mrs. Jacqueline S. Jonson. The organist was Mark Payne.

The women set a goal of $10.000 to be contributed to the Building Fund.

Members of the Executive Board are: Evangelists Katie Brooks, Curzell Parker, Elinor D. Powell, Julia Smoot and Bessie Spence.

Others are: Mesdames Carrie Barnes, Vivian Brown, Marina Coleman, Celha Coleman, Lena Gibson, Alice Greene, Daisy Greene, Eloise Jones, Hazel Jones, Wilhelmina Joyner, Shirley Lewis, Mae McLain, Alberta Saunders, Bera Sims, Lizzie Smith and Geneva Smith.

No verdict in talks on Mt. Moriah

If the wrecker's ball doesn't, then the subterranean rumblings of behind the scenes negotiations may, in the end, topple the 99-year-old Mt. Moriah AME Church in Annapolis.

In the momentary lull before the final, big quake, William Gregory, press secretary to Anne Arundel County Executive Joseph W. Alton, Jr., obviously treading on unsafe ground, cautiously stated, "The county could test once and for all how much authority a commission has over a county."

His remarks were made in reference to hearings on Mt. Moriah now being held before the Annapolis Historic District Commission to whom the county had recently applied for a permit to demolish the old building.

At an initial commission hearing last week, County Administrator Robert R. Strout carefully restated the county's firm intentions to demolish the structure forsaking the claims of preservationists as to the historic significance of the church, reported Mr. Gregory.

Quoting from a report of a "space utilization" study conducted in 1968 prior to the county's purchase of the old church, Mr. Gregory read recommendations which indicated "The county should begin to acquire land parcels in the block (of Calvert St.) on which the court house and the health building are presently located." This area also includes Mt. Moriah.

When asked about the possibility of further legal entanglements following Commission hearings, he said, "I suspect the county would exercise its right of appeal taking the case to circuit court."

He further hoped that a "speedy decision" would be reached as to the ultimate fate of the church.

A GOOD citizen is registered and prepared to VOTE. You can register today at Supervisors of Elections, People's Court Building, Fayette and Gay Sts., open daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Mrs. Edna Brewer, of Apostolic Bible Study

Funeral services for Mrs. Edna J. Brewer, 59, 1824 N. Castle St., were held Thursday at Apostolic Bible Study Church where she was a longtime member and her father, Elder Joseph C. Lee, is pastor.

Officiating was District Elder Wesley Thomas. He was assisted by Bishop Ramsey Butler.

Mrs. Brewer died Sunday in Harbor View Nursing Home after a lingering illness.

She was an employee of the University Club for 30 years.

Born in Baltimore, Mrs. Brewer was educated in the public schools.

An active member of Apostolic Bible Study, she formerly belonged to the usher board and choir.

Besides her father, she survived by: three sisters, Mrs. Mildred Johnson, Mrs. Mable Brown and Mrs. Lillian Hill; two brothers, George and Howard Lee; five nieces and seven nephews.

Mrs. Brewer is buried in Arbutus Memorial Park.

cil for Equal Business Opportunity (CEBO).

Mrs. Ethel Burgess, wife of the Rev. Salters Burgess, pastor of Community Baptist Church, Patapsco Park, spends most of her time sewing now that her four children are grown.

With her one daughter studying at Howard Medical School, Mrs. Myrtle Johnson, Cecilton, Md. likes to do "charity work in the community."

Mrs. Johnson is the wife of the Rev. James H. Johnson, pastor of Union Bethel AME.

Visibly excited by the convention was Mrs. Doreatha Jordan, wife of the Rev. Basha P. Jordan, retired pastor of Centennial United Methodist Church who admitted she was "thrilled to see all the people" enjoying her home town.

The mother of three is assistant Director of Student activities at Morgan State College. She loves the opportunity to work with young people. It keeps my mind active," she commented.

Her daughter, Mrs. Mary Frances Aikins-Aful, is married to a Ghanian student at Morgan.

All of the Md. representatives spoke very highly of Mrs. Felicia B. Adams, former president of the state Ministers' Wives Assoc., who died May 18.

Her efforts were the force behind the growth of the state organization.

A memorial service was held in her honor Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Alexina Hazzard, Little Rock, Ark., is national 1st vice-president. Her husband, Dr. Walter R. Hazzard, is president of Philander Smith College, Little Rock.

Mrs. Hazzard serves as associate director of public relations at the school, predominantly black private school of the United Methodist Church.

The oldest of her three children, Walter Jr., is now known as Abdul Rahman, and is a guard for the Golden State Warriors basketball team based in Oakland, Calif. He was formerly a star on UCLA's championship basketball team of 1963-64.

Mrs. Hazzard, who has been in the organization 25 years, considers Baltimore her "second home." She has visited our city often.

Miss Ruby Tyree, 13, is visiting the convention for the first time with her mother, Mrs. Ophelia Coger, Washington. Her father is the Rev. R. V. Coger, pastor of Matthews Memorial Baptist Church.

She has six sisters and brothers living in Cleveland, Ohio. She has not had time to practice her favorite hobby, modern dance, because she has been too busy seeing Baltimore.

Chairman of registration for 15 years, Mrs. Marie Wise, Norfolk, Va., is very active in the goings-on at her husband's church He is Dr. Frank P. Wise, Mt. Lebanon Baptist.

Mrs. Mary E. Williams, Vauxhall, N.J., has been married for 33 yrs. to the Rev. W. F. Williams, pastor of Enon Baptist Churih She has been in the national club 17 years.

She has relatives in Baltimore and likes to visit often. For relaxation, she plays the piano.

Mrs. Nora Cousin, Middleton, Ohio remembers when Baltimore used to be a very racially prejudiced city, but finds it "better now."

The mother of two girls is active in the League of Women's Voters and a project "Friends in Action" that counsels youngsters. Her husband, the Rev. S. S. Cousin, is pastor of New Era Baptist Church.

Mrs. Arlene Fair, Dayton, Ohio, likes Baltimore because to her it has "less pollutit than Ohio. I can breathe here," she said. The wife of the Rev. Charles Fair does mission work at United Missionary Baptist since her three children are grown and away from home.

Mrs. Mary Diamond, Atlanta, Ga., belongs to an organization that makes clothing for needy children. She has stayed busy with this project since the death of her husband, Dr. J. C. Diamond, two years ago. He was formerly pastor of Fisk Baptist Church in Norfolk Va.

Her son, the oldest of her three children, Dr. John Diamond, has been a minister for eight years. He has taught at the Interdenominational Theological Seminary for five years. Before that he was a teacher at Pacific University in California.

Mrs. N. L. Scarborough, Columbus, Ohio, had a fall at the 1969 convention in N.C. and this has been the first year since then that she has been able to attend.

Her husband, the Rev. Eneil Scaborough, has been deceased for 24 yrs., but she still likes to stay active in the club, of which she has been a member since 1947.

She feels her efforts to attend this year were worth it because the people of Baltimore are "friendly and so helpful."

Mrs. Larnie Mobley, Brooklyn, N.Y., has certainly not been lonely during her stay in Baltimore. She brought her 13 month-old son, Lamuel. She said that he's been "wonderfully behaved." But she does admit that she has to keep the bottle full. She has two school age children at home.

She is the wife of the Rev. Connie Mobley of United Community Baptist Church. She is superintendent of Sunday School at her church, 1st vice pres. of the Baptist Ministers' Wives of N.Y., and recording sec. of her state's organization.

Treasurer of the N.Y. state club is Mrs. Cellie McBride, also of Brooklyn. The wife of the Rev. H. W. McBride, New Jerusalem Baptist Church has been in the national club 14 yrs.

For Mrs. Florence Kelly, Phila. the trip to Md. is homecoming. She was born on the Eastern Shore and remembers times before the Bay Bridge, when a trip to Baltimore mant a boat ride. She left Md. in 1919 and this is her first trip back.

Married for 53 yrs. to the Rev. John C. Kelly, First Emmanuel Baptist Church, she is a 30 yr. member of the Ministers' Wives. She loves to work with young people since her three daughters are grown. They are all teachers.

Mrs. Annie Bobbitt, Morrestown, N.J. considers Baltimore hospitality a fact since her stay here. The wife of the Rev. Matthew Bobbitt, Second Baptist Church, is National Corresponding Secretary for the wives. Her sister, Mrs. Sally Sabb lives here.

Since 1942, she has taught secondary retarded youngsters in E. S. Miller School In Phila. She finds the work "fulfilling and exciting."

* * *

Mrs. Carolyn Moore, Atlantic City, N.J., as wife of Bishop Noah W. Moore, of the United Methodist Church, has traveled extensively.

She has been around the world 3 times. One thing she feels that she has learned is that "people everywhere are basically kind and good."

Her husband, a Morgan College graduate, is also a trustee at a community college n Atlantic City.

Mrs. Moore has been married for 47 years and a member of the wives for 25 years. She remembers working with the founder, Mrs. Elizabeth Bouey, to build the club.

* * *

Mrs. Martha Hester, past national finance sec., is also a 25 yr. member. Married for 37 yrs. to retired minister John Henry Hester, Mt. Pleasant Baptist, she is a retired schoolteacher. She now serves as sec. of the Atlantic City Fine Arts Commission.

* * *

Mrs. Shirley Hart, Stamford, Conn., has only been in the organization for 3 yrs., but those years have been busy ones. She organized the state group and is now their president.

Her husband, the Rev. Charles Hart, is pastor of the 1st Baptist Church.

Mrs. Lizzie Quick, Hamlet, N.C., owns and operates "Lizzie's Groceries." She also finds the time to teach Sunday School and raise a family of three children. Her husband is the Rev. L. B. Quick of Letthee Methodist Church.

* * *

Mrs. M.S. Woolfolk, Oxford, N.C. is president of the local ministers' wives and state missionary assoc. Her husband, Bishop T. E. Woolfolk, is head of the Apostolic Church in the state. The older of her two daughters is a nursing student in Durham, N.C.

Mrs. Inez Delaughter, Orlando, Fla., misses the open spaces of her home town. She is the wife of the Rev. James Delaughter, Macedonia Missionary Baptist Church.

This is the first convention for Mrs. Brenda Gregg, Pittsburgh, Pa. She has been married just four years to the Rev. W. E. Gregg, Willoway Baptist.

On the other hand, Mrs. Jesse Moore, Lynchburg, Va. has been in the organization as long as she can remember. Her husband, the Rev. William Moore is pastor of Morning Star Baptist in Roanoke, Va.

—Chain of love

Mrs. Mamie Anderson, new member of the Tents, attending her first convention gave her impression of the organization, "It's very good. I don't understand everything but it's exciting and you meet so many friendly people."

The Tents' objectives are many but basicly include, urging women to vote, to become first class citizens; looking after sick and aged members; encouraging members to attain highest standard of Christian living. A chief project is educational assistance by which at least one deserving girl is helped through college.

Tents members are sisters to each other, the fellowship sustained by its members is an unbroken chain of love.

Two slave women began the United Order of Tents, Sister Annetta M. Lane of Norfolk, Va. and Sister Harriet R. Taylor of Hampton, Va., in 1848, to do something for the elevation of womanhood.

The Tents home office occupies a three story building in Norfolk, Va. which renders services to its members.

The 98th annual United Order of Tents Convetion program jammed with business sessions, luncheons, conferences, committee meetings, site-seeing tours and excitement will be well remembered, according to Tents members.

James Mills, City employee for 32 years

Funeral services for James "Jimmy" Mills, elevator operator at the courthouse 25 years, were held Wednesday, at John Wesley United Methodist Church where he was a lifelong member.

Mr. Mills, 63, died last Friday in Bon Secoours Hospital after a brief illness. He was a longtime resident in the 1800 block Lauretta Ave.

Mr. Mills, a Baltimore City employee 32 years, had also been employed by the Department of Public Welfare and City Hospitals before going to the courthouse.

Born in Baltimore, he was educated in the public schools.

A former musician, who played the guitar and banjo, Mr. Mills played with the Rivers-Chambers Orchestra. He was also well known in the community as a television repairman.

His survivors include two sisters and one brother.

Mr. Mills is buried in Arbutus Memorial Park.
