

The high estimation in which the Decisions and Opinions of Chancellor Johnson are held by the entire bar of the state, would, at any time, be an ample recommendation to this work, but at present, when all equity jurisdiction is about to be transferred to new, and, therefore, inexperienced tribunals, it is believed that the numerous decisions upon the various points of Chancery Practice and Pleading, contained in this volume, will render it an invaluable book to every lawyer in the state.

The "Maryland Law Reporter," is designed to constitute the second and succeeding volumes of Chancellor Johnson's Decisions.
