Iotas Close '73 Season; Ten New Sorors Installed

The Kappa Chapter, Iota Phi Lambda Sorority recently held its closing meeting for the season at the Madison Avenue YWCA with the president, Soror Mary Ames presiding.

Recommendations for 1973 were read and discussed and accepted by the group.

A brief report for plans for American Education Week which begins the week of October 20 was given by Soror Eloise Taylor. The theme for this year is "Get Involved in Your Child's School.

Soror Fannie Poulson reported for the Scholarship Committee stating that the student selected this year, Vanessa Taylor will enroll at Morgan State College in September.

At Morgan she will major in accounting hoping to become a CPA. Miss Taylor was interviewed by Soror Poulson and was then taken to dinner.

A progress report on plans for the scrapbook was given by Soror Blanche Pettiford.

Soror Harden spoke on the Cortez Peters Business School Reunion Banquet. Twenty members of Kappa actively participated in this affair held at the Sheraton Inn in June.

A list of officers for the year 1973 through July 1974 was submitted by Soror Emma Brown. These were accepted as presented.

Local UNCF Women's Committee Plans Second Fund Raiser

The Baltimore Women's Committee of the United Negro College Fund is actively involved in finalizing plans for the 1973 Baltimore campaign.

Because of the financial success the committee experienced last year, there was unanimous support for presenting the second Miss UNCF gala as the principle fund raising project this year.

The gala, featuring a Miss UNCF contest, dinner and dancing is slated for Friday, October 26 from 7 p.m. until midnight at the Eastwind.

The committee is soliciting support from groups, organizations or individuals interested in sponsoring contestants. All interested parties may contact Mrs. Ruth Pratt for information.

Officers of the Women's Committee are:

Mesdames Milton B. Allen, chairperson; Bernice S. Hunley, vice chairperson; Robert M. Lafane, recording secretary; Vernon Green, treasurer and Albert Hawkins Sr., financial secretary.

Members are:

Mesdames and Misses Mary Allen, Peter Angelos, Gwendolyn Brooks, William Campbell, Pearline Carter, Emmanuel Christian, McKinley Clayburn, Shirley Clinton, Leonard Cox, Ethel J. Day, Charles Demby, Glenford Dudley, Grace C. Gates, Blaine Gilbert, Raymond Haysbert, I. Bradshaw Higgins, Keliv L. Jackson, Quentin R. Lawson, Dale G. Lee and Hubert N. MacDonald.

Others in the group: Mrs. Mary Allen Bell, Chicago; William Johnson, Washington; Mrs. Thelma Perkins, Hastings-on-the-Hudson; Bertrand Phillips, Chicago; and George B. Murphy Jr., Washington.

Travel Notes

The Adjacent Neighborhood Improvement Association, Inc., headed by Mrs. Inez Spicer, spent several delightful days in Florida and Nassau.

The group reports they spent two nights at the Atlantic Towers Hotel in Fla. . . right on the beach. The following day they boarded the bus and were taken to the ship that carried them to Freeport, the Grand Bahamas.

They say it was a "first" for many of the 33 passengers and will be long remembered.

"Even the slum area in Nassau was beautiful and clean. The air was fresh and the food was delicious."

"Our last night's cruise back to Florida was smooth sailing. We spent another night at the Atlantic Towers and then left for Disney World where we had an exciting time on the rides."

Among those that went on the trip were: The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Moses Lewis of Fountain Baptist Church; the director of Model Cities area 'B', Mrs. Maragaret Todd and husband; Mrs. Helen Alston and her sister Mrs. Olivia Davis of Faith Baptist Church; Mrs. W. D. Anderson of Christ Methodist Church; Miss Lucille Gross of First Baptist Church and Members of Waters A.M.E. Church.

About the Association

The Association is designed to help upgrade the community. At times many neighborhood groups have been called in to give suggestions and help. It is a non-profit organization and funds from such trips, dues and anniversaries are used to pay their attorney.

The group's 20th annual day is to be held on Nov. 4, at Mt. Calvary Free will Baptist Church The Rev. Robert Farron is pastor; Mrs. Margaret Jones, chairman of the affair.

Wine and Cheese

The Robert Finneys of Woodlawn entertained on Saturday eve with a wine and cheese tasting party. The spacious lawn was beautifully decorated with umbrella tables to represent the country of its wine and cheese. The guests were all about the rolling green and torch lit patio until showers ran them into the tastefully furnished "orange house" of the Finneys.

The evening was sparked with interesting conversations. One of the most spirited being centered around Paul Awkei, a Nigerian, in this country on a medical research assignment.

The guest list included the fashionable Miss Selena Foster and her fiance Mr. Charles Redd. The debonair Malcolm Francois and his sophicated wife, Jerrelle; "the official winetaster himself," Barry Simms, and his charming wife, Joyce; the Gaithersburg Struthers, Ed and Jackie; the Hyattsville 2, Sam and Janice Nicholas; the vivacious Geneva G. Sparks and Beverlyn Cooper, the amiable Milton Cornish and wife Elsie; Bill Lambert and his Lovely Lambert, Barbara.

Other interesting guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Thompkin Weaver Jr. and Karen. Mr. and Mrs. Silas Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hayes.

More Bon Voyage

Speaking of travellers bound for abroad, the Wednesday evening party-Bon Voyage that Mrs. Blanche Beckham and Mrs. Annabelle Rawlings gave at the latter's Winterbourne Rd. home was really saying something.

Guests entered to find the hostesses dressed in garbs similar to those that they would find when they visit European countries next week, as well as the house decorated with signs and other remembrances of the foreign lands they will see.

There were fun games and gifts for the honorees. One of the games saw guests encourage them to dress up in eyelashes and put on a show to explain how they will greet people they will visit in a foreign land.

Those about were: Mesdames Beatrice Wright, Lucille Venture, Bernice McDaniels, Mattie Gardener, Gwendolyn Hillen and Janet Woolridge, Bertha Forte, Christine Moore, Louise Lockerman, Ellen Howard, Anethia Williams, Bettye Moss and Miss Jacqueline Spencer.

Evening with Mrs. Mosby

Over 200 relatives, friends, co-workers, and fraternal sisters attended a testimonial dinner honoring Edith M. Mosby who has given 40 years of service to the teaching career.

The mistress of ceremonies for the evening was Mrs. Carrie E. Sheppard. Invocation was given by the Rev. Walter Thomas, Ministerial Intern, New Shiloh Baptist Church. Welcome was given by Miss Rochelle Turner.

Tributes to the honoree were paid by Mrs. Cleo Diggs, Miss Rosalind Allen, Master Antoinne Shaw, the Rev. Walter Thomas, Mrs. Margaret L. Dyer.

Soloists for the occasion were Mrs. Mary Savage and Mr. Charles Pryor. A reading to the honoree was read by Mrs. Genevieve Fields.

GIFTS FOR HONOREE

Gifts were presented by Mrs. Deborah Whitehead and James Bell, while music was rendered by Victor Myrick, Benediction was given by the Rev. Mr. Thomas.

The members of the planning committee were: Mesdames Deborah Whitehead, Veronica Staples, Melba Logan, Hattie L. Younge, Francis McBride, and Dr. James E. Bell.

The hostesses were:

Mesdames Veronica Staples, Mabli Logan, Hattie L. Younge, Beatrice McMorris, Frances McBride, Arnethia Williams, Janie D. Hayes, Vera Bass, Rebecca Gaither, Thelma Bens and Miss Rochelle Turner.

Seen that Evening

From out of town came Mrs. Leola Clark and Mr. William Love of Norfolk, Va. Also seen were: Mesdames Anne Bowers, Yvonne Fairclothe, Patricia Lyles, Patricia Jones, Francis McBride, Rochelle Turner, Karen Barland, Clester Myers, Isabell Taylor, Blanche White, M. Rosalind Allen and Janice Thompson.

And, Mesdames Bettie Williams, Josephine Williams, Oceanus James, Arnetta Williams, Ethelina Barland, Maxine Gaskins, Helen Browne, Thelma Betts, Patricia Morris, Vera Bass, Mae Harvill, Cleo Diggs.

Mesdames Jane Schwindt, Melba Logan, Janie Hayes, Thelma Dixon, Cornelia Wharton, Jessie Hudgins, Gladys Thompson, Louise Coates, Mildred Cooper, LeRay Stokes, Catherine Stokes, Audrey Taylor.

Mesdames Eubelia Hariston, Lillian Newby, Josephine DeLeon, Earth Davis, Thelma G. Bens, Rev. Mrs. Emma Swann, Sarah Thornton, Lassie Burrows, Ruth Lucas, Mary Nutter, Rosie Butler, Cathrine Gales, Ivy Fetter, Virginia Thompson, Susie Lewis.

Mesdames Augusta Smith, Margarie Dixon, Inez Mack, Mildred Gilliness, Lessie Hurtt, Beatrice McMorris, Mary Green.

Mesdames Blanche Goldman, Elaine Cambell, Geneveive Fields, Melvina Jackson, Martha Miles, Veronica Staples, Laura Wilson, Marie Shaw, Melba Logan, Deborah Whitehead, Hattie Young and Carrie Sheppard.

Also There

Messrs. Antoine Shaw, Earle Moore, Bernard James, John Broaddus, Buddy Jones, George Knight, Dr. James E. Bell, Rev. Walter Thomas, Charlie Parker, Victor Myrick, Gough Jimerson, Charles Pryor, William Blount and Harry Evans.

Messrs. and Mesdames Augusta Gaither, Vernon Gaskins, Clarence Gordon, James G. Martin, John L. Tucker, Wayland Bell, George L. Taylor, Charles Hynson, Wallace Pompey, Messrs. and Mesdames George W. Evans Jr., Roland D. Henson, Edgar Matthews, Martin Dyer, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Parham, Theodore Savage, Henry Richardson, Reese Salters and Aaron Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Staples (Veronica) entertained the group later that evening in their home where Mesdames Veronica and Beatrice McMorris were the lovely hostesses.

The dining room table was bedecked with cold platters of assorted meats, a variety of imported cheeses and assorted dips. Soft music from the stereo was soothing to the ear.

Ping pong and pool tables were used by the younger group. The "other" group, which included childhood friends, enjoyed themselves reminiscing about the past.

A Gala Reunion

When the Frederick Douglass High School classes of '33 celebrated its 40th class anniversary with a dinner dance at the Eastwind, guests of honor, for the reunion were two former teachers Mrs. Edna O. Cambell and Miss Nellie Buchanan. Mrs. Cambell was the principal speaker for the evening.

One of the highlights of the evening was when Mrs. Marguerite Cambell, administrative assistant to the Mayor, presented a citation from Mayor Shaefer to the Rev. Jentry McDonald

Woodlawn HIGHlights

By MARJORIE R. GREEN

MRS. GREEN

Early this week upon the request of the Baltimore Council for International Visitors, the Social Security arranged a program at Central office for two delegates from Operation Administrations International Staff Crossroads, Africa.

Accompanied by Miss Janet Wilgus, U.S. State Department escort, E. B. Medawi of the Democratic Republic of Sudan and Eric Amonu-Graham from Ghana arrived at Woodlawn Monday morning.

Mr. Medawi, 29, is a Ph.D. candidate in urban planning at the University College in London where he has already received a diploma in development planning. In 1962, he entered the University of Khartoum and earned a B.S. in architecture.

While residing in Sudan, he acquired work experience as architect for the Ministry of Works and Architect-Town Planner for the Ministry of Housing.

Much of his time between 1967 and 1972 was spent doing post-graduate study and traveling in Egypt, West Germany and England.

* * *

Unlike Mr. Medawi whose interests are centered around politics, Mr. Amonu-Graham is a fourth year medical student at the University of Liege, Brussels.

In 1965, he was elected president of the Ghana Students Union at the University of Strasburg, France. It was there that he received a diploma in French and medicine.

Both men are bachelors and have an excellent knowledge of English. Mr. Medawi's primary language is Arabic while Mr. Amonu-Graham's is French.

I asked the visitors what they thought of American women, but neither would commit himself. They did, however, make it clear that they were not fond of the women's liberation movement.

Eric Amonu-Graham volunteered, "If a woman holds the same job as a man, then she should get the same pay, but in the home I want to be the boss.

"Even if she is your boss on the job?" asked Mr. Medawi who was the quieter of the two.

"Yes, even if she is my boss at work," answered Eric.

The visitors educational and work experience backgrounds are so impressive that it is hard to believe that they are so young until you witness their infectious, boyish smiles and friendly attitudes.

The theme of the Youth Leadership program that brought them to the United States is: "Government and Politics."

Their six-week tour of the U.S. thus far has covered Boston, Washington and Baltimore.

Houston, Texas is their next educational travel stop. They are looking forward to the excitement of the West Coast.

Time to say good-bye came too quickly for this writer who enjoyed every minute spent with these future leaders of Ghana and the Democratic Republic of the Sudan.

Shuttle traveling compamon this week was Mrs. Vivian Russoe. We shared the same bench in front of the Woodlawn operation building while waiting on the shuttle bus to take us to the Dickinson and Dickinson Tower buildings.

Mrs. Russoe has worked in the Diary Unit of the Bureau of Disability Insurance for five years.

She is beginning her second year in the Upward Mobility educational program at SSA and is interested in pursuing a career in social welfare or mental health.

She has two children at home. Youngest is Lawrence, age two. Nine-year-old Danita attends school No. 74.

Her husband, Johnston Russoe, is employed at Chemical Industries.

The Chesapeake Toastmistress Club recently held its installation meeting at the Mohawk Motor Inn.

Sixteen members and thirteen guests attended. The installation proceedings were conducted by Mrs. Rose Rightnour, chairman of Council Nine.

In her unique manner she presented dolls dressed in materials that were closely associated with the responsibilities and duties of each position.

Topic mistress for the evening was Mrs. Emma Brewington. She chose "Superstition" as the title of her presentation. It was interesting to hear how she explained the origin of various superstitions.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Marjorie Gutfleisch, a member of the Woodlawn Club, who always has a fantastic story to share with her audience.

The acceptance speech given by president-elect, Mrs. Lillie Powell, was warmly received as she announced her theme for the year, "Step-Out."

* * *

Mrs. Martha McCready, toastmistress for the installation dinner, kept things moving smoothly. Tokens and words of appreciation were given by Mrs. Elizabeth Bryan.

New members to the club felt exceptionally appreciative when they were commended by Mrs. Eleanor Hood, general evaluator, who stated "You are the members who have made Chesapeake a success and have helped to bring about a new image."

Officers for SSA's Chesapeake Toastmistress Club are: president, Mesdames Lillie Powell; first vice president, Geneva Shiflet; second vice president, Virginia Gladden; recording secretary, Martha McCready; corresponding secretary, Sarah H. Speaks; treasurer, Emma Brewington; club rep., Jeri O. Perkins.

Mrs. Vivian W. Young is past president of the group.

'Facilitating Mental Health', theme of seminar in Columbia

"Facilitating Mental Health in Columbia" was the title of a recent seminar sponsored by Loyola College's Columbia Division at the Faulkner Ridge Neighborhood Center in the Village of Wilde Lake.

The seminar was the outgrowth of a class project by Dr. Harvey Rapp's graduate Mental Hygiene Course which is being held during the college's summer session. Dr. Rapp is adjunct assistant professor of psychology and a member of the staff at Spring Grove Center.

The evening program featured speakers from Columbia and Howard County agencies concerned with the facilitation of better mental health in the new city.

Speakers included: Dean Joseph DeSantis of Howard Community College; the Reverend Gerald Goethe, Coordinator of the Columbia Cooperative Ministry; David Nesbitt, Director of Development and Planning for the House Company; Captain R. O. Matthews of the Howard Police Department; Lola Klein, Coordinator of the Family LIFE Center and Nancy Williams of Grass Roots.

After a short explanation of the role the representatives' agencies play in facilitating mental health, the speaker and participants took part in small group discussions using the speakers' presentations as a basis for interaction.

Dr. Rapp noted the significance of this seminar: "Mental Health is a key factor in the growth of any individual. It is essential that mental health be facilitated here in Columbia because of the unique nature of the community and the people living here. The growth of Columbia is actually the growth of thousands of individuals."

La Coterie meets at breakfast

Last Saturday morning found La Coterie, a group of former college friends organized since 1959, really up in the air.

The group met at the home of Eugenia Monroe, for breakfast to discuss the fact that there's a new group in town which recently adopted the same La Coterie for their club's name.

The original La Coterie is headed by Dorothy Clayborne. The secretary is Eugenia Monroe; treasurer, Geraldine Griner. Members are: Mesdames Anne Warner, Shirley Reddick, Velma Evans, June Ross, Joan Washington, Delores Queen and Joyce Blanchard.

This group meets every month for either business or social activities which often include their husbands.

Their activities have included: dinner parties, dinner shows, book reviews, plays and trips to such places as Mexico, London, Hawaii, Trinidad, South America, San Juan, Paris, Hyannis Port, Atlantic City.

World Service Carnival, Aug. 10, Towson

YMCA activities in 83 countries will benefit from Towson Family YMCA day camp's 14 annual World Service Carnival. The fund raiser will be held Thursday, Aug. 9, from 5 to 9 p.m. Rain date is Friday, Aug. 10.

The annual World Service Carnival is part of the Association's effort to support American YMCA directors overseas. The funds will provide financial support for the directors while they train foreign nationals to manage YMCA activities in their own countries.

The carnival will feature a variety of games and contests for children. One of the highlights will be a fire engine ride. Games will include lawn dart throw, football throw, contests and a prize wheel. Prizes have been donated by the Baltimore Bays, Colts and Orioles and others.

Refreshment stands will sell cole slaw, potato salad, hamburgers, hot dogs and sodas. There will also be a baked goods sale. For more information, contact Towson branch YMCA, 823-8870.
