Airman Hutton in Guard

Airman First Class Joseph C. Hutton, 4000 block Ridgewood Ave. enlisted in the Maryland Air National Guard Nov. 2.

As a two year Air Force veteran enlisted into the Air Guard under the "Palace Chase" program enabled him to convert on a two for one basis his remaining Air Force time into the Air Guard. Airman Hutton attended Morgan State prior to his entry into the Air Force.

Hutton has been assigned duties of Material Facilities Specialist with the Combat Support Squadron of the Middle River based 175th Tactical Fighter Group.

• • •

By attending unit training assemblies two days a month, Airman Hutton will fulfill his remaining Air Force obligation, and partake in one of the best part time jobs available.

Air Force seeks officers

Tech. Sgt. Johnson, local U.S. Air Force recruiter, announces recruitment of rated minority officers is receiving new impetus as the Air Force strives to meet its goal of truly equal opportunity and racial balance at all positions and levels.

Air Force officials hope to achieve a long-term goal of 11 per cent minority production. This would be an increase of five per cent over the fiscal year '73 objectives.

State hiring freeze asked

The Maryland Classified Employees Association, Inc. called upon the secretary of the Department of Personnel to institute a hiring freeze on all state job vacancies.

In a telegram to Gov. Mandel and Henry Bisz, secretary of personel, Arthur N. Caple Jr., president of MCEA and Edward H. Johns Sr., executive director of MCEA, requested the cessation of hiring to fill State vacancies until employees at the Employment Security Administration, who face lay-offs, are found jobs in other state agencies.

The Employment Security Administration has ordered the immediate lay-off of 27 employees, effective Nov. 21, and another lay-off in December.

• • •

As the result of a cut in funding by the Department of Labor, the Employment Security Administration, at this time, is faced with nearly a $700,000 deficit necessitating the lay-offs.

Fans ask right to pick college games for TV

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A taxpayers suit has been filed against the National Collegiate Athletic Association, seeking a public voice in the selection of college football games for live broadcast if the schools are publicly supported.

The suit, by Dr. Jerry Olivet of Whittier in Superior Court, was aimed specifically at compelling the NCAA to provide live TV coverage of all UCLA and UC Berkeley football games.

"Acting in an arbitrary and capricious manner, the NCAA is accountable to no one," the suit said, contending that the association uses its own discretion in picking games to be televised.

"However, since its earnings are derived from tax-supported colleges, this revenue is indirectly earned from the tax paying public, which should have a voice in the selection of games to be broadcast live," Olivet said.

The suit said the NCAA, a private institution, derives more than $20 million annually from "our publicly-supported colleges."

The suit argues that the public should have a voice in the selection of televised games and that a member of the public be selected by the Sportswriters Association of California to take part in the decisions.

Bullets gear for invasion by superstars

COLLEGE PARK — Jerry West, Gail Godrich, Pete Maravich, Lou Hudson, Walt Frazier, Dave DeBusschere, Willis Reed, Bob McAdoo and Ernie DeGregorio are just a few of the players the Capital Bullets will host in the eight days beginning Sunday.

After the first five weeks of the season in which the Bullets played just five home games, the team will make a four-game homestand, hosting Buffalo Sunday, Los Angeles (Nov. 21), Atlanta (Nov. 23) and New York (Nov. 25), at Cole Field House at University of Maryland.

And what makes this homestand even more attractive is the return of Archie Clark, Wes Unseld and Nick Weatherspoon to the surging Bullets.

The rejuvenated Buffalo Braves are led by McAdoo, last year's rookie of the year and currently the NBA's third-leading scorer. DiGregorio has also excelled offensively for the Braves along with Jim McMillian, formerly of the Lakers.

The Lakers' first visit will be the homecoming of rookie Kermit Washington, a first-team All-America at American University last year. Washington, the Lakers' No. 1 draft choice and the fifth player chosen in the draft (the Lakers' highest pick since Jerry West), has been playing at center behind Elmore Smith, the league's premier shot-blocker, and at the strong forward.

Atlanta is the Bullets' most formidable opposition in the Central Division. The league's leading scorer, Pete Maravich, and the fifth-leading scorer, Lou Hudson, will lead the Hawks.

The World-champion New York Knicks will be looking for a measure of revenge when they visit the Bullets at their temporary home, the University of Maryland's Cole Field House. The Bullets scored a 101-84 vectory over the Knicks at Madison Square Garden in late October.

N.Y. Holiday Festival to feature college 5's

Black colleges, under the sponsorship of the Interreligious Foundation for Community Organization, will participate in the first annual Holiday College Basketball Classic, Dec. 28-30, at the gymnasium of the City College of New York.

Seven of the eight teams participating are from the Mid-East Athletic Conference — Howard University, Delaware State College and S. C. State — and the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association — Shaw University, Norfolk State College, Elizabeth City State College and Hampton Institute. The other team participating es from Lincoln University, an independent.

The tournament setup calls for each team to play two games during the three-day span, with no championship game planned unless there is a demand for it.' In the words of IFCO sports director Joseph Peters.

'Determining winners and losers is not our primary objective," said Peters. "What we want is for youngsters in New York City to see good basketball by players from black colleges."

According to Ara Mitchell, coach of Delaware State, the black colleges are at a recruiting disadvantage when competing greatest things that could with their white counterparts.

"I think this is one of the happen for the black colleges in the greater New York area," said Mitchell. "This tournament will serve to promote black colleges and make youngsters aware of where they could fit in.

Frisbee aces eye U.S. title

The Northern High School athletic field will be the site of one of the most unusual sporting events in Baltimore's history on Sunday afternoon.

Frisbee stars from throughout the nation will converge on the city today (Friday) to await the national junior tournament at the field at 2201 Pinewood Ave.

• • •

The four-day activity begins with a 5 p.m. dinner at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, after which a two-hour practice session for the youngsters is scheduled at Northern.

On Saturday, the visiting contestants will be greeted by Mayor Schaefer, and will be guests at the Clippers hockey game that evening.

• • •

Competitions will begin Sunday at 1 p.m., followed by the awards banquet at the Lord Baltimore.

An all-day bus tour of Washington is set for Monday. The frisbee-ites will leave early Tuesday for their various homes.

Tenn. State seems cinch to be No. 1

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tennessee State, with only one game remaining on its regular season schedule appears the odds-on choice to replace Delaware as national college division football champion.

In the latest ratings released by the United Press International board of coaches, the Tigers of coach John Merritt remained their big lead over Hawaii, Western Kentucky and Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo with just two weeks of voting remaining.

Tennessee State gathered in 23 of a possible 35 first place votes for 331 points while second ranked Hawaii received the next highest total of No. 1 votes (6) and 275 points.

Third-rated Western Kentucky had four first place votes and 267 points while No. 2 Cal Poly, undefeated like the three teams above it, received three first place nods and 243 points.

Louisiana Tech, 7-1, was again fifth with one first place vote and 183 points. Unbeaten Wittenberg of Ohio, which has completed its regular season schedule, was sixth followed by Elon of North Carolina, Abilene Christian, Grambling and Nevada-Las Vegas.

Tennessee state will wind up its regular season this Saturday against Alabama State.
