Models Of The Year

Baltimore — The Travis Winkey Studio and Janyce Brown Associates presented the first annual Black Model of the Year contest this past Sunday at the Poly-Western Auditorium. The program was the first of its kind in the country.

Some 850 persons witnessed the selection of the two winners, one male and one female. Many of the guests were here from other points in order to take ideas back to their cities. Judges were also out-of-towners, representing many of the top fashion and beauty companies. They were:

Fred Carter from Philadelphia, Pa.; Ms. Joyce King, New York City; Andrea Jones, New York City; Bonnie Adams, Philadelphia; Mr. Saran George, Atlanta, Ga.; Irving Dyett, Baltimore.

One of this city's most popular models, Mrs. Carolyn Wainwright served as commentator. She explained how the contestants would be judged in the three categories; semi formal, swim wear and original dress.

The 31 contestants were sponsored by various organizations and businesses throughout the city.

Contest participants were: Misses Deborah Young, Florella "Happy" Mitchell, Brenda Wynn, Maria Antoinette McSwain, Anna E. Wharton and Yvonne Stewart.

Misses Marti Franklin, Laverne Armstrong, Rosalyn Bailey, Vanessa McCoy, Brenda McNeil, Esther L. Bush, Laura E. Bollin, Sherry Wongust and Barbara Hawkins.

Misses Sharon R. Hinton, Ellen D. Gaither, Betty Gaither, Carmelite Coombs, Christine Brooks, Deborah Gladden, Linda Pulley.

Also Messrs. Mark A. Burrell, Anthony Jackson, Robert Purnell, Roland "Chico" Russell.

Several of the contestants wore creations by this city's top designers like Siena Thomas, Meticho Thornton, Mildred Durham Alston, Odessa Pulley, Ken Carter, Dwayne Tally and Lawrence Parker and Eloise Locke. Others were seen in their own creations.

Winners Selected

Crowned the black male model of the year was Eric Von Adams, 24, a full time student at Coppin State College and husband of Mrs. Cheryl Adams and father of Everett Adams, 5.

Mrs. Delia H. Alston won the title of the female black model of the year. She's a housewife and mother of three.

Winners received an expense-paid trip to the Caribbean, cosmetic kits, and engraved trophies.

First runnersup were Miss Sharon R. Hinton and Michael Newton. Voted the most photogenic were Robert Purnell and Miss Laverne Armstrong.

Ms. Delia H. Alston and Eric Von Adams walked away with the titles of Female and Male Models Of The Year on Sunday. The contest was sponsored by the Travis Winkey Modeling Studio and Janyce Brown and Associates.

'The Home Of Pleasant Living'

"God bless our happy home—One we hold dear—Stand beside us and guide us—As our plans for the future draw near. Built by stalwarts, full of courage—And with hearts of love alone—Hail to the founder of N.M. Carroll Home! Hail to the founder of N.M. Carroll Home."

So sang 500 supporters of the N. M. Carroll Home at the Citizens Salute last Thursday evening at Emerald Gardens.

The affair was a benefit to aid the building of a new home which will be located near the present Carrollton Ave. site.

For 103 years the residence for the aged has served senior citizens, specializing in domiciliary care. The new home hopes to also serve as a facility for those needing special individual attention.

Congressman Parren J. Mitchell served as toastmaster for the 7 p.m. affair. Mr. Mitchell, who has been living in Baltimore all of his life, told of the days when he visited the home and took gifts to the residents at Christmas time.

While guests dined on a delectable pan baked chicken dinner, they were entertained by Delmas Milbourne at the organ.

As a contribution to the home, Mr. Milbourne lent his services along with his organ for the evening.

Following dessert, the Rev. Kelly L. Jackson, chairman of the board of trustees of the home, told of the efforts and contributions to the community the structure has made during the years.

"Our doors have never been closed in 103 years," he said. "The home for the elderly has brought faith in the city of Baltimore. I can remember when we used to take money out of our own pockets to see that the tables were supplied," he recalled.

"Of course, the residents have much more today than before, and it's our responsibility to serve their every wish," he concluded.

The head table was divided in two levels. Those seated at the highest were: the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Daniels, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lamblin, treasurer of the home; Mr. and Mrs. James Talley and Dr. and Mrs. William Bishop.

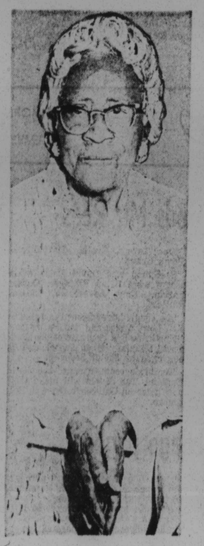
Also, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Metcalf, the Rev. Marcus Wood, Mrs. Kelly Jackson and Mrs. Edward Carroll.

On the lower level were members of the board of trustees and a few persons who served on the Committee of Fifty, the group which sponsored the affair.

Lovely were the greetings and tributes. Like when James P. W. Talley, director, Baltimore Conference of the Council on Ministry, stood and assured the guests that he, along with 256,000 other area residents are deeply interested in the home and will continue to give it its support.

The Rev. Mr. Daniels was there that evening representing the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance. He said we all have a responsibility to the elderly. "What we do for our senior citizens when they have come to the end of the sunset — we have touched upon God."

Many of the guests didn't know that the N. M. Carroll Home was probably the first of its kind for blacks in this country. The Rev. Mr. Metcalf, standing for the mayor, told how the home has carried its own weight without federal funds. "Many communities suffered due to loss of funds but not in Baltimore. Churches got together and the programs continued.



Mrs. Bessie Scott, a resident at the Home, was there that night. She, too, made a presentation, on behalf of the Guild of $1,000.

"The N. M. Carroll Home was the first to be integrated. People were amazed but we are beginning to win the battle. We are all God's children," he added.

Perhaps the happiest guest present was the Right Rev. Edward G. Carroll, resident bishop of the Methodist Church now in the Boston area. Bishop Carroll, as he is affectionately known to his thousands of friends in Baltimore, was the keynote speaker for the evening. It was like a family reunion; he had a chance to see many of his lifetime friends, some for the first time in several years. For years he pastored churches in the state.

"Bishop Carroll stands as a hallmark of Christian endeavors. He is a leader and friend indeed and is the first and only black elected Methodist bishop," said Dr. William Bishop as he called the guest speaker to the podium.

When the Right Rev. Mr. Carroll arrived at the microphone, all rose to their feet and gave him a hearty but warm ovation.

"It's a significant symbol that a black man, living during a period of social rejection and disadvantage could express a deep concern for older people. This was the kind of man Uncle Nat was (Nathaniel M. Carroll, founder of the home).

He told the gathering that the elderly are an asset. They are a valuable resource, so that we won't lose the richness of their heritage.

"The Carroll Home does not house old folks. It makes a home for them."

An additional highlight was a salute made to the Committee of Fifty, board of trustees and contributors by Mrs. Viola C. Jackson, wife of the Rev. Mr. Jackson and coordinator of the volunteers.

Mrs. Jackson was stunning on Thursday in an orange, black and white autumn print gown which featured a semi-scooped neckline. She graciously recited original poems about the officer on the board.

Presentations came from the Harlem Park Community which raised $1,125 in proceeds from a benefit dinner; Dr. Grandbrant, president of the United Methodist Conference presented $15,000.

Checks from many of the guests flowed to the front of the room during the evening.

Mrs. Bessie Scott, a resident at the home and chairman of the Carroll Guild, gave $1,000 from the residents. (Note: Mrs. Scott stood before the audience with the aid of a cane. She looked fine in a full-length gown of aqua. Her mixed silver hair added even more to her outfit).

Another highlight was when Mrs. Jackson spotlighted the other residents and staff members who came out that night. Mrs. Naomi Camper, co-chairperson of the Committee of 50, told how the home is operated and called it "the home of pleasant living."

Proceeds of $5,000 from the dinner will go into the building fund.

Members of the committee were:

Mesdames and Misses Kelly L. Jackson, chairperson; Douglas Camper, co-chairperson; Charles Fletcher, co-chairperson; Rore Tyson Kinney, secretary; Robert McDaniels, financial secretary; Mary Allen, treasurer; Maurice Adams, arranger and Mary K. Pool, publicist.

Also Mesdames and Misses Victorine Adams, Helen Chamberlain, Richard Clifford, Minnie Davis, Frederick Dedmond, Ernest Dennis, J. B. A. Dyson and Robert Gill.

Mesdames and Misses Parlett Moore, William Gosnell, Paul Henderson, Rose Tyson Kinney, Rosa Jones and James Keene.

Mesdames and Misses Anne Payne, Ida Murphy Peters, Elizabeth Spicer, S. Leroy Taylor, Mary B. Thomas, Mary K. Pool, Roland Rayne, Elinora Sharpe, Ruth Rosedom, Zella Washington Beryl Williams and Verda F. Welcome.

And, the Revs. Marion Bascom, Sidney Daniels, Leslie Metcalf, Kelly L. Jackson, Forrest Stith and W. W. Payne.

State Senator Clarence Mitchell, Hon. Milton B. Allen, Dr. A. J. Payne, Dr. G. Franklin Phillips.

Women

Columbia Capers

By Pinnie L. Ross

Baltimore is buzzing about the intense message presented in the film of the 1972 Operation Push Exposition entitled "Save the Children," which was presented at the Lyric Theatre last weekend, sponsored by the NAACP.

This dramatic film was designed to highlight the devastating effect of social and economic segregation of black children and to encourage black Americans to design and implement programs' efforts to counteract the effects that it is having on our children.

"Save the Children" — save the little babies — the impact of the film was evidenced by the emotional reaction of some of those in attendance.

The scenes reflecting the ravages of crying, war and poverty on children were very depressing and brought tears of sorrow to the eyes of many of the sparse group.

The entire program was hosted by beautiful young ladies of the community including Miss Edna Hill, Miss Black Teenage America. Mayor Schaefer and many other city officials supported the worthwhile affair.

Nathaniel Knight, executive secretary of the NAACP, kept quite busy assisting the hostesses in seating the guests in their choice seats and assisting the young children with their duties.

All residents in the Columbia area are encouraged to make a contribution to your local or state NAACP Chapter in order to help "Save the Children" all over the nation.

Mrs. Mary McCleod Bethune, born 1875 to parents who had been slaves before the Civil War, became an eminent educator, founder of a college and the inspiration and founder of the National Council of Negro Women. In commemoration of the council's beginning, the local chapter will join in a Founder's Day celebration with the congregation of St. John Baptist Church, Interfaith Center, Sunday, December 9, at 2 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Lucia S. Hawthorne, chairman of the Department of Speech, Communication and Theater Arts, Morgan State College. The public is invited. For further information contact Jean Toomer, 730-6100, ext. 19; Bernice Long, 730-0626 and Barbara Bray, 730-3920.

Reminder: Dr. Herman R. Branson, president of Lincoln University, will be the guest speaker at the 10:45 a.m. service celebrating the first annual Men's Day service also at St. John Baptist Church Sunday, December 9.

The Morgan State College Gallery of Art was the scene of simply beautiful people Sunday as the results of a long gray invitation from members of the Pierions Art Club to view an exhibition "Beyond Illustration, the Art of Playboy."

Well-dressed people began to crowd the place at 7 p.m. to this black tie affair. Gorgeous ball gowns of all descriptions were seen, and all kinds of furs, such as the fabulous full-length autumn haze mink coat worn by Ms. Mary Young, Baltimore City school teacher.

Sporting a three-quartered length ranch mink was pretty Mrs. Marlene Adai, a Southern High School teacher and wife of Coppin State Teachers College professor Carl Adai. Mr. and Mrs. Edward (Marquite) Wilkins were seen viewing the art work. Mrs. Wilkins is a long-time retired school teacher; Mr. Wilkins is still with the city system.

Enjoying the evening and sipping champagne from Columbia were: Dr. and Mrs. George Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. George Woodland, Mayfield K. Webb, Esq.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson (Annette, founder of the club).

Also Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Withers, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jones.

And Mr. and Mrs. Issac Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. Brook, Mr. and Mrs. William Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Emerson Walden (Celonia, club president) and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Briscoe (Roberta, new member) and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ross.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Harold (S.na) Reid. They are the proud parents of another baby boy. Mrs. Douglas (Barbara) Sands hosted a surprise shower for Mrs. Reid at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel (Blondelle) Hunter.

The new baby is the second son of the Reids. Derrick, the seven-year-old, is a second-year student at Samuel Ready School.

Thought For Today

"They who give have all things; they who withhold have nothing." Hindu proverb

Bradshaw Higgins, A. Clifton Lamb, James E. Lewis and James Mebane.

Mesdames Herbert Mosely, Lester Norris, Medford Reynolds, William B. Russell, Jerome Todd, Henry C. Welcome, Ruth Welling and Catherine Wilson.

The Sunday affair was only the beginning of the 15th anniversary celebration. On Feb. 22 of next year the group will bring the Dance Theatre of Harlem to the Lyric Theatre; March 9, Pierians Awards Ball; April 20, Caribbean Art Safari, and June 15, its closing dinner.

Drought Ball

Mr. and Mrs. John deCecilo attended the Desert Ball held for the benefit of the six states of the Schara at the Sheraton Park Hotel last Friday in Washington.

The affair attracted some 500 patrons with an undetermined amount of money collected at the $50-a-plate affair. A conservative estimate, with one large corporation underwriting the ball expenses, is that close to $40,000 was netted.

The deCecilos are members of the Washington Chapter of Africare.

Chester Testimonial

Mesdames Jean Gregory and Gloria Stokes are busy as can be these days making last-minute plans for the gala fund-raiser and tribute for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chester (Georgianna). The December 11th affair will be held at the Blue Crest North at 7 p.m.

Mr. Chester for 26 years a Baltimore secondary school teacher, made history in this town in 1970 when he won a city-wide election as the first black Chief Clerk of the Court of Common Pleases. He has announced his intention as the Democratic candidate for the '74 election.

Mrs. Chester retired this year, closing out 32 years service as a public school music teacher having taught at the Harvey Johnson, Booker T. Washington Junior High, as well as Dunbar, Carver, Douglass and Edmondson Senior High Schools.

A Family Gathering

The Naylor clan gathered at the Mossmoor Leisure World for dinner recently with Mrs. Kathryn Naylor Allison and her new husband, Preston and daughter Joyce Hymes along with her two children, Kenneth and Tracy.

Her guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Griggs (Bernice Naylor) of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Plummer (Beulah Naylor) of Baltimore, with her daughters, Beatrice Watson and Vivian Burnett and their children. Also there were close friends, the Badens from Baltimore, Goldzy, Erva and Erva, II.

People Helping

We are heartened this week by the many good neighbors calling to help Mrs. Santa's families.

Special Cases Need Help Now

Case No. 57 — I'm the mother of 8 children. I have a very hard time feeding and clothing them. I'm on the welfare and I don't get very much money. My husband is very sick. He has a drinking problem. He gets paid on Friday and instead of coming home he drinks the money up. I had to go around asking people for food and clothes to keep my children dressed. They are 3 to 16. I'm unable to work. I stay in the hospital most of the time.

* * *

Case No. 59 — I would like a food basket for my children for Christmas. I receive a small check each month. I am able to work but it's hard trying to find a job. I have Seizures and I was forced to stop work.

* * *

Case No. 60 — I am writing you for help for my children and myself. I have recently gotten out of the hospital for a nervous breakdown and I am still under the doctor's care. I have 4 children ages 8 months, 3, 4, and 6. I receive check from welfare which is $234 a month. By the time bills are paid and food is brought I have nothing left to buy the kids anything for Christmas.

* * *

Case No. 61 — I have 4 children and my mother is with me. She had a stroke 3 years ago and cannot walk, so I take care of her. My children's father is dead. They receive a little check from Social Security and Social Service makes up the rest. For two months now I haven't received anything and I don't know if I'll receive anything this month.

* * *

Case No. 62 — We are in much need. My mother just came home from the hospital. Our father is not with us. He is a man that fights mommy and drinks all the time. There are 9 of us all boys. Ages are 16, 13, 12, 12, and 6. We are on welfare. We need clothes especially winter pants and coats. We also need food.

* * *

Case No. 63 — My mother has 5 children. My brother was very sick at Johns Hopkins hospital for a month, so our mother had to stay home with him. Our father kept telling her to go to work but mother stayed home with her sick son and now she is laid off her job. Our father moved out on November 22. Our mother went to the welfare office and they asked her for his address which she don't have and they told her she had to go downtown before they could help her. Our ages are 5, 9, 10, 12, and 14. Please help.

Case No. 64 — I am the mother of 2 girls, 13 and 13. I am unable to make Christmas for them. This is the first year that I am unable to give them anything. I can't even give them a little something, due to the serious heart attack that I had October 5, 1973. There are things that my kids need like clothes that I am unable to buy. I get no support for my kids from their father. We are barely making it. My girls sizes are 15 years old, size 12 pants, 34 blouse; 13 year old, size 12 pants and 32 blouse. I wear 20½ dress and size 10 shoes. I do hope you can help.

* * *

Case No. 65 — I am the mother of 5 children. Three girls and 2 boys. Ages are (girls) 14, 13 and 7 (boys) 10 and 9. My boys need coats; their sizes are 12, and 10. I work but I don't get support for the children. Their father left town 5 years ago. I wrote last year and received coats for my girls for which I am grateful.

* * *

Case No. 67 — I am 23 years old and I am taking care of five children and one of my own. My mother died the early part of this year. I don't have the time to work and my husband is out of work and the only money that I receive is from Social Service. I don't receive food stamps so the kids won't get anything for Christmas. They keep telling me what they want. What can I tell them except that they won't get anything. Their ages and sizes are: Phyllis 15, size 27-34 small; Rickey 14, size 28-34 medium; David 13, size 14; Jerry 12, size 14; Thomas 11, size 14; and the baby is 9 months, size 18 months.

Case No. 58

I know you help needy families at Christmas but I know a family who needs help now. There was a fire in the 2100 block of Pennsylvania Ave., in which about three or four houses were or are damaged. My friend and her family is in one of them. The fireman had to come through her house to get to the blaze. She doesn't have a roof and her clothing is damaged. She doesn't have money to move which I understand the landlord asked her to, plus she can't afford to pay high rent because she's on Social Services.

* * *

Case No. 66

My father-in-Law died last week and as a result my husband has suffered a stroke. He wasn't well anyway with a plastic lung and I just don't know what I am going to do. We have 5 children, 3 boys and 2 girls. (Boys 12, 7 and 6) (Girls 10 and 4). If you could send a basket and one toy a piece I would be most grateful.

Case No. 68 — My mother is very ill and my father left us 2 years ago. I have 5 brothers and 4 sisters and 2 sons. I am 19 and we need food and toys for them. My mother and I will be very happy to see the children happy on Christmas Day. Their ages and names are Eunice 9, Carolyn 10, Janice 11, Benzina 12, William 6, Robert 8, Kevin 10, Charles 14, Tarzan 15 and my sons La-Mont 2, and Gary 4.
