McCormick Co. dinner seeks MSA unsung hero

Unselfishness is the theme of the Unsung Hero Awards Dinner, being held tonight (Friday) at the Hunt Valley Inn under sponsorship of McCormick and Company.

The banquet is designed to select the high school football player who gave most to his team during the past year, with no thought of personal gain.

Twenty-seven youngsters from Maryland Scholastic Association schools have been nominated. They will occupy the dais, and from the citations presented by their respective schools one will be chosen to receive the scholarship that McCormick's provides for the most deserving candidate.

Following are 12 of the young nominees, picked at random, with the recommendations forwarded in their behalf:

JOHN ANDERSON — Northwestern — "Has demonstrated to coaches and team mates an unselfish attitude, dedication and self sacrifice, both on and off the football field. He is anxious to help others and possesses pride and determination that have developed him into an excellent competitor. Northwesterns success in football during the past two years has been due in part, to John Anderson's mental attitude and physical ability."

JAMES BRISTOL — City College — Has demonstrated real teamsmanship by serving where and when he is most needed. Last year he had an outstanding season as first team center, but this year was switched to guard every game on offense, but also started on defense as a defensive guard. He has never missed a practice and is a leader on and off the field. He has developed into one of the best offensive and defensive guards in the MSA A Conference. In addition, James does the centering on punts and extra points, besides being on the kick-off and kick-off return teams. Besides being a full-time student carrying an 80 average and playing football, James works four nights a week from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. to help out his family with finances."

WINFORD CHERRY — Dunbar — "Has made substantial contributions to the spirit of team cooperation and self-sacrificing among his teammates. Cherry has been an excellent two-way player, giving practically full-time performance throughout the season, for he also has filled in on specialty teams. He is respected for his knowledge and understanding of the fine points of the game and the coach frequently lets him manage the operations on the field, for the players respond enthusiastically to his suggestions. Winford has pride, courage, durability and outstanding belief in team play."

JOE DODSON — Walbrook — "A half-back and a linebacker. A courageous and persuasible student athlete, Joe Dodson has outstanding athletic ability and is a three letter man who has never missed a practice, for even while convalescing from an injury, he has been on the practice field encouraging his teammates and questioning his coaches. His attitude exemplifies true student athletics and he is an inspiration both on and off the field."

THOMAS GILBERT — Mt. St. Joe's — "A great team man who excels in helping others and always giving that needed word of encouragement to his teammates. Tom has played three years of varsity football for Mount St. Joe. Tom finished second in individual tackles on a team that allowed only 79 points (an 8.7 average per game) in nine scheduled games. He has played in every football game since his tremendous leadership to his teammates."

EARL GILLIAM — Lake Clifton — "An offensive center who played every minute in every game for the past two years. Earl has gained the respect and confidence of all his teammate and coaches for his perseverance, determination and cooperation which helped develop team spirit. He also took on added responsibilities this year by playing defense at middle guard."

CLARKE GREEN — Loyola — "Weighing in at 145 pounds, Clarke has chalked up an impressive football record at Loyola. In a two year period, playing as a defensive end, he started in all twenty games. He was selected Unsung Hero by his teammates because of his attitude toward football and toward other members of his squad. Clarke's pleasant personality and gutty performance were a key factor in knitting the Loyola squad into a coordinated team."

TYRONE GREEN — Carver — During this season, Tyrone developed into Carver's most versatile player. When injuries struck other members of the squad, he filled the vacancies both defensively and offensively. His willingness to do whatever was necessary and his knowledge to do it properly, contributed substantially to the teams development both at practice sessions and during scheduled games. He inspired team play."

RODNEY MONROE — Poly — "One of the finest defensive ends in our memory. He is truly a gentleman off the field and an outstanding player on the field. Last year we needed ends, so he was moved from the backfield to end. He made many big plays for Poly this year, yet very rarely received any recognition. His unselfishness is demonstrated by his tremendous desire to play — wherever it would contribute most to the team effort. He is truly an Unsung Hero for Poly 1973.

WAYNE EDWARD OWENS — Douglass — "Though short in stature, Wayne is oh so big in heri and spirit and determination. For two very frustrating years, Wayne attempted to make the starting variety team only to be slapped down repeatedly by some illness or injury. Wayne spent little time worrying about failure. He was too busy working at being successful as a student, athlete and a citizen. He is not really known outside of the team ranks as a good guard. Yet he is the one person at his position who constantly kept doing the job required of him. No opponent worried. Wayne, for all he knew was 'I have a job to do!' Proudly we name Wayne our Unsung Hero."

JULIAN ROBINSON — Edmondson — "Julian is our quarterback and perhaps not though, of in the vein of Unsung Heroes. He has meant so much in holding our team together. He is very mature and unselfish and has overcome many personal problems in order to participate and lead our football team. We have experienced one of those years you don't like to remember, but Julian's undying devotion and dedication to the total team picture overshadows mere statistics. His only concern was for the help he could give to a young, inexperienced team."

WAYNE SPAIN — Forest Park — "Has played three years of varsity football and started on the first team for two years. At 255 pounds, Wayne was forced to play on both offensive and defensive teams because of lack of numbers at Forest Park. Wayne has been one of the most aggressive linemen ever at his school and was the team captain because of his spirit and competitiveness and truly his school's Unsung Hero."

MEAC games to test no-disqualify rule

Beginning with two games tonight (Friday), Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference teams will take a look at one of basketball's revolutionary changes in over two decades.

North Carolina Central will visit Maryland, Eastern Shore at Princess Anne, and Howard University will tackle South Carolina State at Orangeburg, in games in which the newly-proposed rule will be tried out barring the disqualification of players via personal fouls.

The change, approved by MEAC coaches on an experimental basis, is the most radical undertaken since the center jump after the scoring of points was eliminated. • • •

The new rule states:

A player shall be permitted to remain in the game after he has committed his fifth personal foul. On the sixth foul and all subsequent fouls committed by the player (including overtime play) the offending player shall be charged with a foul and the following rules shall apply.

1. When fouled in the act of shooting, and the basket is made, the two points shall count and the offended player shall be

a. awarded two (2) free throws or

b. the team of the offended player given possession of the ball at mid court

2. when fouled in the act of shooting and the basket is missed, the offended player shall be awarded two free throws and he or a team mate shall be awarded the ball at mid-court.

3. All common fouls shall be penalized by awarding two free throws and the offended player or a team mate is awarded the ball out-of-bounds at mid-court. All foul shots are shot just as a technical foul (free throw a lane clear).

All flagrant fouls shall be administered according to the existing rule during the entire ball game.

Other MEAC games which will be used to test the innovation are as follow:

SATURDAY — NCC at Delaware State, A and T at Md., E. Shore, and Morgan at S.C. State:

Dec. 11 — NCC at A and T; Dec. 12 — Md., E. Shore at Delaware State:

Jan. 5 — Howard at Morgan; Jan 11 — A and T at S.C. State; Jan. 12 — Morgan at Delaware State, and Jan. 16 — Delaware State at Howard . . . . IACY.
