Lakers, Sabers coaches see teams contenders

Lake Clifton High coach Woody William looks for his team "to be more competitive this year" . . . That remark could be an understatement. The Dolphins, last year's A Conference doormats, overcame Southwestern High in the final seconds, 56-55, on Wednesday afternoon at Lake Clifton.

"We had a bad season last year winning only one conference game. This year the fellows are familiar with the system and that year of experience will help," said Williams.

The Lakers, now 2-0, have "paybacks" in mind and hope to give favorities Dunbar and Edmondson a scare. Coach Williams looks for Robert Brown, Vern Addison, and defensive ace Purnell Wilkes to spark the team with Rodney Wright and Greg Jeffers pitching in.

* * *

Southwestern coach Warren Schwartz rates his team as a top contender in the B Conference along with Mervo.

"Our team is young but has some experience. Center Donald Watson is the big man but I like to play all my men because if they're needed, they'll be ready to do the job."

The Dolphins trailed for three quarters, finally battling to a three-point lead with less than a minute remaining. Time ran out before the Sabers could pull it out . . . Schatzman.

New suit seeks to block Padres

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The City of San Diego Wednesday filed antitrust action against the National Baseball league and several public officials, including Vice President Gerald R. Ford, in an effort to block transfer of the San-Diego Padre Franchise to Washington, D.C.

The action, filed in U.S. District Court, said the defendants had achieved a monopoly in the control, distribution, division of markets and fixing of prices for baseball franchises.

Additionally, it said the league and others had illegally interfered with the lease arrangement between the city and the Padres for use of city-owned San Deigo Stadium.

The Padres have 15 years remaining on their 20-year lease with the city for use of the facility.

The suit also said the defendants had conspired to "request the National League to exercise its monopoly power to remove the professional baseball team franchise from San Diego to Washington, D.C."

* * *

Other defendants included Rep. Bernie F. Sisk, D-Calif - all 12 baseball teams, Padre owner C. Arnholt Smith and certain other club owners.

Ford, the American League, House speaker Carl Albert and three other past and present congressmen were named co-conspirators.

The suit was the second legal action taken by the city after Mayor Pete Wilson last week declared "illegal and political war" on the league and Washington officials following announcement of the franchise shift.

Bears host Spartan 5 in opener

Morgan State College opens her home basketball season tomorrow (Saturday) night with Norfolk State College visiting the Hurt Gymnasium.

It will be their first home floor appearance of the season, and it also will be the last for the Bears until after the holiday.

Coach Nat Frazier's youngsters compete in the Nassau Classic for sickle cell research in Long Island next weekend, then await Jan. 5th when they return to Baltimore to entertain Howard.

* * *

The Bears ran up their fourth in a row Tuesday night at Lincoln University, where Webster, Jethroe Crum and Eric Posey led an 89-76 victory over the Lions.

Marvelous Marv collected 23 points and grabbed 20 rebounds while mates Crum and Posey checked in with 19 and 18 tallies, respectively.

On last Saturday, Morgan defeated South Carolina State, 89-67, to add two previous victories in the Schaefer-Metro Classic, which she won for the second straight year.

Colts set salute to Morgan's Banks

Two individuals of rotundity and renown will occupy center stage during the halftime entertainment at Memorial Stadium and RFK in Washington Sunday afternoon.

In Baltimore, Earl Banks will be honored by the Colts at the break of their National Football League finale against the New England Patriots.

And in Washington, Santa Claus will make his annual visit at the intermission of the Redskins' meeting with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The latter is a yearly ritual in which the club's promotions department makes a point of surprising the fans with an unusual variety of acts by the jolly round man.

* * *

The Colts front office announced the tribute to Banks after the latter made official his retirement as Morgan Football coach last month.

They have labelled Sunday as "Earl Banks Day" at the stadium with a program notation that the club seeks to cite him "for his extraordinary career as head coach at Morgan College, and for his many contributions to football and to the City of Baltimore."

* * *

Two of Banks' proteges — Tight end Raymond Chester and linebacker Stan Cherry — are presently on the Baltimore roster.

They are expected to attend, along with several other topflight ex-Bears, including Ara Person, John Sykes and Jim Phillips.

Also expected are longtime friend Buddy Young and assistants on Banks, coaching staff.
