places, &c.

V. And be it enacted, That the said duties are hereby granted to congress, for the purpose of discharging the principal and interest of all debts contracted on the faith of the United States, for supporting the late war with Great-Britain, agreeably to the resolution of congress of the sixteenth day of December last, and for no other purpose.

Purpose for which duties are granted, &c.

VI. And be it enacted, That the power before given to congress, to impose and levy the said duties, shall remain and continue for the term of twenty-five years after the same shall take effect, by similar laws having been passed by all the states in the federal union, and which congress shall accept as a substantial compliance with that part of the resolution of the eighteenth of April, which recommends the duty and duties aforesaid, and no longer; and if the debt due by the United States during the late war, shall be paid and satisfied before the expiration of the said twenty-five years, then the power given by this act to the United States in congress assembled, to levy the duties aforesaid, shall cease and determine.

Continuance.

VII. And be it enacted, That this act shall not be in force, before all and every of the United States shall pass laws, vesting the United States in congress assembled with power to impose, levy and collect, the said duties, agreeably to the resolve of congress of the eighteenth of April, seventeen hundred and eighty-three, for such time, and upon such terms, as the United States in congress assembled shall accept as a substantial compliance with that part of the resolutions of the eighteenth of April, which recommends the duty and duties aforesaid; and immediately upon such laws being passed, and such acceptance of the United States in congress assembled, this act shall commence, and be in force for the term aforesaid.

When to commence,
