MVA sets Jan. 7 meet on rule change

The Motor Vehicle Administration will conduct hearings on a proposed rule and regulation requiring the reporting of certain disabilities to its Medical Advisory Board upon application for a driver's license or a renewal.

The hearing will be conducted on Monday, Jan. 7, at 10 a.m., in the auditorium of the Department of Transportation Building, Baltimore-Washington International Airport.

Comments will be accepted orally or in writing from interested persons.

Provident dedicates Yule tree of health

"I can't know when I've been such a moving and inspirational ceremony."

These were the words of Dennis A. Gowie, executive director of Provident Hospital, as he addressed the employees and friends who gathered for the annual Christmas tree dedication.

The lobby of Provident, decorated for the holiday season, was the setting of the dedication and the tree is appropriately called the Tree of Health.

The Rev. Earl Tucker, director of unit management and chairman of the Christmas committee presided.

A chorus comprised of students from Provident's Helene Fuld School of Nursing and the staff of the Patient Billing Office led the large gathering in carols.

Invocation was offered by Father R. Clifford of Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

The Tree of Health was officially dedicated by Dr. Oakley Saunders, president of the medical/dental staff at Provident.

A Christmas prayer was offered by the Rev. Ernest Ross of Christ Church. Program chairman is Mrs. Mildred H...

AFRO readers win $$ in time for holidays

Because they were in the AFRO's lucky sports picture and called at the AFRO before deadline, four AFRO readers collected $5 each in time for the holidays.

In each edition the AFRO published a photo made at a sports event by AFRO staff photographer, Ben Phillips.

When the head is circled, that person is eligible to win $5, provided he calls at the AFRO office before the deadlines, which are Tuesday noon after the Friday issue and Friday noon after Tuesday's issue.

The holiday winners were: Officer John Wade of Pikesville, who is a member of the Baltimore City Police Department. His wife, Mrs. Brenda Wade is a supervisor at the C. and P. Telephone Co. They have two children, 10 year old Lisa, a 9th grade student at Winard Park and 11 month old, John Jr.

The Wades attend Brown Memorial Church. The Rev. Mr. Douglas Miles is pastor.

Officer Wade reads the AFRO regularly and used to sell them. He said, "My mother-in-law, Mrs. Willen Shields called to tell me that my picture was in the paper. I like to read the feature stories."

Tyson Post ends Yule aid program

The John and Samuel Tyson Post No. 8509 Inc. in it's continuing effort to serve the community has completed its Christmas season program.

On Dec. 21, the post gave a Christmas party for 90 neighborhood children in its upstairs hall fed them and gave them gifts of fruits, nuts and candy.

On Dec. 23, the post members and the ladies' auxillary went to Perry Point State Hospital and gave a Christmas party to 60 patients.

On Dec. 24, post members, with food donated by members and money raised from a Beef Raffle and Fish Fry were able to give 35 baskets of food to needy families.

The baskets contained poultry, canned goods, green vegetables, nuts, fruits, and a gift for each child in the family.

After delivering the baskets some members went to City Hospital where they visited the 135 mentally retarded children that have been transferred there from Rosewood State Hospital.

They carried Christmas stockings with candy and fruit, and each child was given a gift, some of which were donated by another post and money that was donated by two other posts.

High school students join college program

Dr. Roland N. Patterson, superintndent of public instruction, says the Baltimore City Public Schools and the University Without Walls of Morgan State College are working together to design and implement an undergraduate program for high school students in the 11th year education.

This program will begin in January 1974 and will provide opportunities for students in the 11th grade to embark upon an integrated learning experience which will culminate in earning a bachelor's degree.

The program is called the University Without Walls because it abondons the traditional way of requiring students to take all their courses on the college campus.

A pilot group of 20 students will be sought to enroll in the high school/rollee project in Baltimore. Because the 20 participants will be selected by a lottery, all interested 11th grade students are encouraged to apply.

The coordinator of this project for the Baltimore City Public Schools is Lloyd McDonald, staff director of the office of student relations.

Constables to carry guns authorized

The city's 32 constables are now required to take the standard Police Department course in pistol technique. Chief Judge Robert F. Sweeney met with the constables last week in the library of People's Court.

Judge Sweeney has given the permission for the first time to carry a gun while working in the city. The duties of constables consists of delivering rent court summonses.

Since the death of Jerome J. Goldsborough, 64, a constable, the men have been asking for permission to carry guns. Mr. Goldsborough was shot to death while on duty in Cherry Hill on Oct. 29.

All constables will be investigated by the Maryland State Police to assure they are qualified to carry a gun. Judge Sweeney stated he was hesitant to authorize the carrying of guns because it might make the consables a target.

They're growing with Procter & Gamble

These P&G managers are only a few years out of college, yet they're already in charge of important parts of our business.

They joined us at the beginning management level because that's where everyone in P&G management begins. We "grow" our managers by promoting from within, on the basis of merit alone.

You carry substantial responsibility as soon as you start, and you work with and learn from professionals at all levels — P&G managers who want to see you develop as rapidly as possible and advance as fast as possible.

There's no limit to how far or how fast you can go . . . except your own ability. Does this kind of opportunity interest you?

We have early management opportunities in these fields:

• General Business Management — Sales, Advertising, Data Processing, Finance and Accounting, Purchasing, Market Research, Field Office Management.

• Manufacturing and Technical Management — Production, Research and Development, Engineering, Industrial Engineering.

If your interests are in these fields and you have a good record of achievement, write:
