—Sam Torsell retires

the famous poem Abou Ben Adhem saying that Sam Torsell is one who loved his fellowman and thanked him for the great legacy that he had passed on to those who would follow him.

John H. Murphy, III, president said, "Service is not measured in years but how it affects his fellowman.

"Mr. Torsell and his wife, Ida, have left an community that will last throughout the ages." imprint on the Catonsville

Rev Reginald Boston, pastor, said that Mr. Torsell is an humble man and full of love, and many of the great people of our time and of times past, are found in small places.

Also that Mr. Sam, known as the Mayor of Catonsville, is one of those persons who, found in a small place, has a rare quality. God only made one Mr. Sam."

Leon Bridges to be cited January 21

Leon Bridges of Leon Bridges and Co., Architects, will recieve the Victor Frankil Award at the Baltimore Jaycees noon luncheon, Jan. 21 for the Outstanding Young Men of the Year citations.

Also cited are U.S. Attorney George Beall and David Malin, educator, co-founder and director of the School of Jemicy and Camp Bombadil, schools for language disabilities. The event at the Lord Baltimore Hotel has Sen. Charles Mathias Jr. as main speaker.

First D.C. inaugural impeachment ball

Washington: The Washington Area Impeachment Coalition, the local affiliate of the National Campaign to Impeach Nixon, and the American Civil Liberties Union of the District announced that they are co-sponsoring the first annual Inaugural Anniversary Impeachment Ball.

It will be held at the Ramada Inn Downtown, Massachusetts Ave. and Thomas Circle, NW, on Jan. 19 beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Entertainment will include the local jazz-rock group Zapata as well as folk singer Ellen Dicks. Other entertainment to be announced later will also be present.

Tickets can be obtained for a donation of $5 per person from the Washington Area Impeachment Coalition, 1404 M St. NW, 659-1118.

"Political costumes are encouraged for the Impeachment Ball," according to the invitation being circulated, "where Watergate Plumbers can dance with acrobatic secretaries.

WAIC and the ACLU state, as reasons for the holding of the Ball, "One year after Nixon's second inauguration is a good time to protest his administration's responsibility for Watergate, inflation, the energy crisis, cutbacks in domestic programs, political espionage.

HOCHSCHILD KOHN

Welcome the tourist, he helps Baltimore's economy

A tourist, a guest in Baltimore, deserving of friendly and hospitable treatment, rewards the city by putting new dollars into citizen's pockets.

Tourism generates economic activity which enhances employment, tax revenues, sales and income.

A conventioneer in the city averages a daily expenditure of $50 for lodging, food and beverages, transportation and miscellaneous goods and services, which include retail purchases, amusements and recreation.

Some 1,000 conventioneers staying one night in Baltimore will spend $50,000. That sum is computed to generate $32,000 in sales-direct, indirect and induced.

This in turn creates 5 new full-time jobs for a year, $19,000 in income and $5,000 in city and state tax revenues.

In 1973, there were 104 conventions and meetings in the Baltimore metropolitan area attended by 44,000 people who spent an estimated $8 million.

This sum brought forth approximately $13 million in sales; provided 800 man-years of employment, $3 million in income and $800,000 in taxes.
