Mrs. Johnson, the Philadelphia coordinator, has been president of the Eastern Region for two years and has traveled the eastern seaboard from Rhode Island to Washington. Her job is to get guilds chartered. She said her heart is very warm towards the Baltimore Guild, mainly because of the good work it did in the past and the fine people in the guild. She is in charge of 25 guilds — and it's strictly volunteer work. She is employed with the government in the Defense Department.

It was truly a reunion among the former members. Many former members received lots of praise for the good work they had rendered over the years. Mrs. Esther Vines was the guild's representative to the board for years and also a two-time president. Clegg Blackwell spearheaded many programs and activities for the guild years ago and attends the National Convention across the country each year. He plans to travel to Los Angeles in July to the national convention.

Mr. Vauls' right-hand deputy director attended the meeting also — Harold Kennedy.

An organization meeting will be held at the Mondawmin office February 9 at 4 p.m. Won't you please join this worthwhile group — but only if you are interested and want to wor

I'll be there and will expect to see you, you and especially you!

Jack and Jill

A beautiful message came to all members of the Columbia Chapter of Jack and Jill Saturday from chapter president, Mrs. Mattie Simmons . . . "Best wishes for a happy New Year. May health, happiness and enduring friendship be yours in abundance all through the New Year." She expressed her appreciation for the fine members for their cooperation with all of the activities thus far. She gave additional praise to the activity sponsors.

Speaking of activities— All age groups had fantastic programs, such as the Santa breakfast given for the 6-8 age group; the 3-5 group took a trip to the Kennedy Center to see the Nutcracker Suite. According to Mrs. Simmons the turnout was fantastic, with 70 per cent family participation. Other family outings were bowling parties and a splash party for the 9-12 group. The group also earned ten badges for achievement in skating.

Mrs. Simmons in closing again thanked the members for their support for being there when they said they would in '73 and being such beautiful people.

Big plans are set for '74. The Jet Set (teen group) will be traveling to Baltimore to the Lyric Theatre to see the famous Harlem Dancers. Mesdames Kathy Dandridge and Carolyn Briscoe are sponsors.

Woodlawn HIGHlights

By MARJORIE R. GREEN

MRS. GREEN

The assistant bureau director (Administration) in the Bureau of Data Processing is a rare example of a hometown son making good in the Social Security Administration.

Walter C. Statham officially took over this $28,000 to $36,000 a year position in October, 1973, in performance of his GS-15 responsibilities he directs, coordinates and implements the bureau's management programs involving training and career development, production control, organizational planning, budget and finance and service functions.

Born and reared in Sparrows Point, Mr. Statham, who holds memberships in three honor societies is a product of Xavier University in La. University of Notre Dame in Indiana and the University of Maryland Law School.

In 1961 after serving two years in the Arm, he came to SSA and started work in the Division of Claims Control, BDI.

Four years later he was the recipient of SSA's highest work performance award, the Commissioners Citation. In 1968 he was among the first group of employees to be chosen for the Executive Development Program.

When asked about his future plans, Mr. Statham stated that "there is a lot of work to be done in the Bureau of Data Processing, and I hope to be able to respond effectively to the needs of all SSA employees."

His secretary, Mrs. Jean Glancey, describes him as being "A great humanitarian." She also reveals that he is a lover of sunflower seeds and fresh roasted peanuts and is seldom caught without a supply in his desk drawer.

Mr. Statham lives in the Randallstown community with his wife Ruth, their teenage son Geary and son, Michael who is presently attending college.
