Hints For Homemakers

INEZ KAISER

Now that 1974 is here, it's a brand New Year with a whole new set of resolutions. At the head of my list is a promise to spend more time with my family.

As a working homemaker, I really depend on handy products which help make "keepin' house" so much easier. This year more than ever, I plan to let Lever Brothers' products help me save time around the house.

"all" STARTS THE NEW YEAR RIGHT

My husband Richard and I really enjoyed the holiday season, and had a lovely time entertaining our friends and family for cocktails and dinner. Blue is my favorite color, and for the dinner party I used my beautiful blue tablecloth.

During the dinner, one of my friends spilled a little coffee on the table as she was pouring for her husband. But I didn't worry a bit because I knew that Concentrated "all" is good for laundering all kinds of linens, and takes care of stains, too.

"Don't worry," I assured her, "I use 'all' and it's safe for all washable fabrics." It's only human nature to be uncomfortable when you have an accident until the hostess reassures you.

Concentrated "all" is silly is a terrific help in the laundry room. I use "all" for the bathroom cotton rug and my white bedspread, and you can't beat the results.

IMPERIAL TASTES GREAT

Even though I'm a working homemaker, I do believe in cooking delicious meals for my family. There are so many easy recipes for cakes and pies that I am able to prepare home-cooked desserts often.

I baked sweet potato pies, pound cake and cookies for the holidays—all using IMPERIAL Margarine.

You know, everybody loves good home baking. In fact, some folks will ask you first if it's homemade when you offer them a piece of cake or pie. And oh, what a good feeling when you can say, "Yes, I made it myself from a new recipe."

IMPERIAL makes it so easy for me because the teaspoon and other measurements are marked right on the wrapper of each quarter-pound stick. SOF-SPREAD IMPERIAL is also convenient when it comes to measuring, because it's always ready to use in spoonfuls.

Our family likes the cute, easy-to-use containers from SOF-SPREAD IMPERIAL that go right from the refrigerator to the table.

IMPERIAL tastes so fresh and light—it makes bread, potatoes and whatever we serve with it seem extra special. IMPERIAL makes everyone in our family feel like a king or queen—just like in the TV commercial!

MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S A WINTER FAVORITE

Speaking of family meals, because I work I can only serve the family big, old-fashioned breakfasts on weekends. And our favorite breakfast for these cold winter mornings is golden pancakes or waffles with MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S Syrup.

My niece Joyce likes to come over, too, for these hearty breakfasts. Our son Richard Jr. is married now and living in California with his new bride, but I'm sure even out there in the sun, they are carrying on the Kaiser tradition of pancakes or waffles on weekends.

I believe families should get together like we do once in a while for a relaxed family meal. It gives everyone a chance to really find out what's happening with everybody else. About business and other things that you don't normally talk about.

MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S Syrup has a lot of other uses, too. I use it in canned sweets, sweet potato pudding and glazed carrots. My family also likes gingerbread and cookies, so I use MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S to give them that tasty, old-fashioned flavor.

Products like syrup are easy to store, so buy a couple of bottles the next time you are at the supermarket, and be prepared for guests that drop in unexpectedly.

EVERYONE WANTS A CLOSE-UP SMILE

For several years now I have been working with a group of teen-age girls, sort of as their friend and adviser. I've really enjoyed watching them grow into beautiful young ladies with poise and confidence.

The group holds a beauty pageant each year, and we work on charm and grooming in preparation for it. I remind them that the makers of CLOSE-UP Toothpaste have given a scholarship for the last several years to the senior girl who has the most pleasant smile.

The girls really get enthusiastic about winning and want to know how to improve their smile. I tell them that a pleasant smile starts on the inside.

"When you feel good inwardly, and confident about yourself and your appearance, it's easy to smile and look pleasant." I remind them further that a nice, clean face, pleasant breath, and clean teeth are basic to an attractive face.

"Be sure to brush your teeth often with a good toothpaste, and I strongly recommend CLOSE-UP," I say. "Your teeth and breath are very important to the impression you make on people, and with CLOSE-UP you get a toothpaste and a mouthwash in the one product." CLOSE-UP comes in regular or mint flavor, in red or green.

The girls smile automatically when I say, "it's a perfect toothpaste when you're up-close." They get the message!

Poly-Western musical cast selected

A record number of students turned out to audition for the Poly-Western musical production of "Anything Goes."

Over 100 aspiring actors and actresses read and sang for the various lead and choral roles.

The Cole Porter production will be presented at the Poly-Western Auditorium on the evenings of March 22 and 23.

No arrest 18 yr

Homicide police are still hunting for suspects in the beating death of Brwan Snencer Holmes, 10, Edgewood Elementary School 5th grader, whose battered body was found in an alley in the 700 block N. Fremont Ave. Jan. 11.

"There are no clues nor leads in the death of the youngster who left home to go to his school to play basketball the evening before his death but never returned, police state.

Deltas Celebrate Founders' Day

stating that soon without a Masters degree a person has little hope of advancement.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Brooks presided. Mrs. Ponjola Priest gave the invocation and benediction.

"We have come through another milestone in history, another fruitful year," is how Mrs. Chapelle Armstead, president of Baltimore Alumnae Chapter greeted members and guests.

The clever Miss Rosemary Backus, attired in a white gown with halter shoulders and back, introduced the speaker.

Top Award

A highlight of the affair was the presentation of Soror Christine J. Moore with the Annual Founders' Day Award for exemplifying through continuous and devoted services, the goals and ideals of Deltas' 22 illustrious founders.

Charming in a gown of white with high neck, Mrs. Moore in her acceptance said, "I owe much of my happiness to my family who have stuck by me. My husband has run many sorority errands for me, and although sometimes he grumbled he did them anyway."

Mrs. Moore was recently named dean of student personnel services at the Harbor campus, Community College of Baltimore. Presently she is Director of Developmental Studies at the Liberty Heights Ave. campus of the same college.

She resides on Hilton Rd. with her husband Marcellus, Assistant Warden of Treatment, House of Correction, Jessup, Md. and her daughter, Lisa, 17, a student at Western High School.

Committee

Those responsible for Founders' Day Celebrations were Sorors Gwendolyn Brooks, chairman, Rosemary Backus, co-chairwoman; Janice Bowie, Waetina Coles, Pearl Exum, Betty Fox, Bernita Fuller, Frances Gainer, Lucy Harrison, Leah Hasty, Ernestine Jolivet, Dorothy Marshall, Aloha McCullough, Muriel McDonald, Kathie McLaughlin.

Also, Sorors Christine Moore, Marshal Moore, Mabel Murray, Hazel Parks, Barbara Ragland, Sara Smalley, Gerri Stewart, Delores Tucker, Rosita Uncles, Marguerite Walker, Grace White, Beryl Williams, and Sylvia Wooden.

Some of the honorees at the Saturday Open House of Direct Search for Talent, an educational project at 2227 St. Paul St., where they were honored are from left, Mrs. Elva Edwards, associate director of Model Cities and Community Action Agency; Mrs. Ellen Howard, program director; Dr. Roland N. Patterson, superintendent of Baltimore City public schools; Mrs. Chapelle Armstead, president, Baltimore Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, sponsor of the project. In right panel, top to bottom, Mayor William Donald Schaefer; his executive assistant for education, and William Sykes, director of human resources, mayor's office.

Mrs. Howard Hucles, (Ethel), was among those about on Sunday at the 61st Founders' Day Celebration of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. Honored as a 50-year Delta she is a retired Douglass High School teacher and a member of St. James Episcopal Church.

Teeth are essential

Healthy, cared-for teeth are essential for chewing and cosmetic purposes, good digestion, clear speech, and to prevent pain.

Teeth that are free of disease "provide no portal of entry for infection that may spread to affect other area of the body," the authors of a book on preventive medicine state.

The American mouth is "a disaster area," the authors contend — an area to which insufficient attention is paid.

They suggest regular visits to the dentist and adherence to his advice. The value of home treatments and following good oral hygiene procedures are now recognized as helping to prevent tooth loss, gum disease, and pain.

But many individuals still postpone visits to the dentist. They fear the dentist's drill, or the possibility of learing that expensive, painful treatments are necessary.

Ironically, dental examination sometimes reveals that discomfort is not due to tooth decay or infection, but to an overly-sensitive reaction to extremes of temperature or to certain foods. The condition can then be "treated" in most cases simply with the use of a special toothpaste and by brushing with a toothbrush that has been designed for persons suffering from dental hypersensitivity. Sensodyne is the name of products most often recommended by dentists for overly-sensitive teeth.

However, should the problem be cavities, improved, high-speed dental equipment has charged drilling, to a fast, relatively painless experience, and is certainly preferable to losing a tooth. Moreover, a chemical substance has been developed that is sprayed on the diseased tooth, and it offers hope of eliminating much of the drilling procedure.

Food Stamp Program

WASHINGTON — Participants in the food stamp program may earn more money and still take part in the program and the value of stamps they may purchase will be increased effective Jan. 1, 1974, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced today.

More than 95 per cent of the 12.3 million current participants will benefit from the changes which will raise the cost of the program in the current fiscal year by about $400 million over the presently appropriated $2.5 billion. The number of participants is expected to increase — possibly by two or more million — with the increase in the "maximum income eligibility," which is the number of dollars a household may receive and still participate in the program.

Cupon allotments — the dollar value of stamps a household may purchase — are adjusted periodically to reflect changes in the prices of food as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. This adjustment has been made annually in the past, but now is to be made semiannually under provisions of the new Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973.
