Mrs. Jenkins wins honor

MRS. MARIE JENKINS
Honored on birthday

Age is only a number to Mrs. Marie Jenkins who recently celebrated her 78th birthday. Relatives, friends and members of her senior citizens organization attended the party at her Druid Hill Ave. home.

Mrs. Jenkins belongs to Gillis Memorial Community Church. A favorite pastime is listening to gospel music on the radio.

This has been an especially good season for Mrs. Jenkins who was awarded by a community group recently for her seasonal door display. She used an enlarged holiday card with a drawing of "Tiny Tim" on the front wishing everyone a happy holiday.

Mrs. Jenkins' relatives include a granddaughter, Mrs. Mary S. Washington of Baltimore.

Woodlawn HIGHlights

By MARJORIE R. GREEN

MRS. GREEN

It was a night of fun and games last weekend when Junior Achievement Advisors in metropolitan Baltimore gathered at the Overlea Hall on Belair Rd. for the Annual Advisor Recognition dinner.

As an advisor representative from the Social Security Administration, this writer along with Mrs. Callie Coles and Ms. Barbara McGraw, was fortunate enough to be among those winning prizes contributed by many of the sponsoring companies.

Junior Achievement is a group of dedicated men and women who have volunteered their time to help guide young people.

Under supervisors they get a knowledge of the values, freedoms and responsibilities of our business system: gain experience in the organization, operation and management of a business.

In addition, they are motivated for leadership through the development of skills, abilities and confidence; provided a demonstration of the relationships within business and between business and the community.

Further, they get a supplement to the formal educational experience by a constructive, learning by doing experience and are provided a preview of career opportunities in business.

Congratulations to Miss Dorothy Beason in the Bureau of Health Insurance. She was recently promoted to a GS-12 position titled Direct Reimbursement Specialist. Mrs. Beason is a member of Heritage United Church of Christ.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Hilda Bouldin (East Building). She is recuperating at home from recent surgery.

The Chesapeake Toastmistress Club sponsored three very successful training sessions during the 1973-74 period.

Conducting the classes for the group were Mesdames Verna Day, Barbara Haskins and Dr. Lucia Hawthorne. Because of her extensive training and acting experiences with the Arena Players, Mrs. Day was very effective in her presentation of a session entitled "Facial Expressions and Gestures."

The session on "Voice Techniques" featured Mrs. Haskins, a former SSA employee who is currently working as an instructor at the school of charm.

Her eloquent deliverance of the eulogy for President John F. Kennedy, written by Sen. Mike Mansfield, and "I Have a Dream" by Martin Luther King, were electrifying examples of perfect voice control technique. She also detailed her methods of overcoming shyness. The title of this session was "How To Organize a Speech."

Members of the Chesapeake educational committee who were responsible for the training program are Mesdames Eleanor Hood, Dorothy Brown and Lelar Haynes.

Mrs. Marjorie Cole, claims authorizer in the 707 Calvert St. building and new member in the club, proved to be invaluable in planning the program. She secured the services of Dr. Hawthorne Cuff note: Mrs. Cole is also the mother of Mrs. Barbara Haskins.

The death, early last week of Mrs. Margaret Chase, former scouting clerk in the Bureau of Data Processing, saddened many SSA employees. Six children are among her survivors.

Two daughters, Mrs. Veronica Barnett and Mrs. Ingrid Collick, who work in the Dickinson Building complex.

HYPERTENSION SATURDAY TOPIC

Provident Hospital symposium will memorialize Dr. Harmon

DR. LOUIS HARMON

Provident Hospital and the Searle Educational Systems, Inc. are presenting The Louis Harmon Memorial Symposium, "Current Concepts- Hypertension."

The program is set for Saturday, January 26, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Emmanuel Chambers Auditorium at Provident, 2600 Liberty Heights Ave.

Dr. Elijah Saunders, chief of Cardiology at Provident and director of the Symposium, told the AFRO, "this major educational program will feature nationally recognized authorites in the field.

It is especially important to expand our study of this vitally important subject because hypertension, by far, comprises the largest group of cardiovascular diseases affecting The American Population."

Dr. Saunders explained, "Hypertension is the most common chronic disease treated by the practicing physician especially in the office situation."

Program participants, nationally recognized in the field, include Aris Apostolides, D.V.M., Department of Preventive Medicine and Social Medicine, University of Maryland, School of Medicine; Edward S. Cooper, M.D., professor of Medicine and Chief, Department of Medicine University of Pennsylvania; Harriet P. Dustan, M.D., vice-chairman, Research Division, Cleveland, Ohio, Clinic:

Also, George Entwisle, M.D. Department of Preventive and Social Medicine, University of Maryland, School of Medicine; George Miller, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, Department of Epidemiology, Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health.

The Symposium will include individual papers, panel discussions and question and answer periods. There is no registration fee and the program is open to all physicians and interested persons in the community.

• • •

"In addition to the educational benefits received form such a program and the awarding of credits from the appropriate Accrediting bodies, participants will be paying honor to the late Dr. Louis Harmon, one of the most distinguished physicians Provident has ever known." Dr. Saunders told the AFRO.

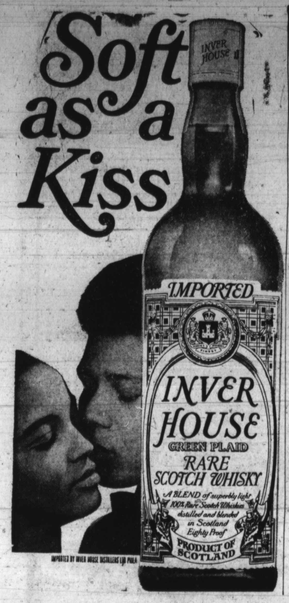
Soft as a Kiss



Architect Leon Bridges of Leon Bridges and Co., received the Victor Frenkel award for work in the community from Harry Cole, Public Relations director for the Baltimore JayCees during the OYM luncheon Jan. 21st.

Architect receives Frenkil award

Leon Bridges, head of Leon Bridges and Co., an architectural firm, received the Victor Frenkil Achievement Award for 1973 at the Baltimore Jaycees annual Outstanding Young Men of the Year awards luncheon Jan. 21 at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. He also has privilege of awarding a Victor Frenkil scholarship to a deserving student or graduate student.

The award, endowed by Victor Frenkil, chief executive and founder of Baltimore Contractors, goes annually to the person who has contributed most to revitalize the American ideal of free enterprise by attaining outstanding and deserved success in his chosen field.

Bridges opened his architectural firm in September, 1970. His most recent designs include the newly opened Arena Playhouse, 406 Orchard St. and in conjunction with McLeod, Ferrara and Ensign, a Washington, D.C. firm, the $10,500,000 renovation of Baltimore City College. That project is scheduled for completion in early 1977.

After receiving the award, Bridges expressed great emotion as he told the AFRO, "I regard this award as a big honor because it gives the opportunity for at least one more black person to provide a model for our brothers and sisters to go by."

Morgan—UMES game moved to Civic Center

The February 5th clash between Morgan and Maryland, Eastern Shore has been shifted to the basketball floor at the Civic Center.

The regular season contest between the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference's (MEAC) leading contenders had been originally scheduled for the Morgan campus. However, according to Earl Banks, the college's athletic director, the game site was changed to the Civic Center so that "we can accommodate our entire student body and our alumni who have expressed interest in the game."

Morgan (12 and 1) is currently ranked 12th among the nation's small colleges, while Maryland, the Bears' leading arch rival, is unbeaten with a 15-0 record and ranked No. 1 in the NAIA poll of small colleges.

• • •

Tickets for the matchup of the top-ranked small colleges, who are the two winningest collegiate teams in the state, are expected to go on sale on next Monday at the Civic Center box offices.

The preliminary game, with the Morgan junior varsity facing off the Hawks' jayvees, begins at 6 o'clock, followed by the varsity test at 8 p.m.

Marvin Webster, the Bears' 7-foot junior, and the Hawks' trio of Talvin Skinner, Reuben Collins and 7-footer Joe Pace head up an outstanding array of stars who will be making their Civic Center debut.

YOU can win if YOU are in the picture

If you were at a recent sports event in Baltimore, there is a chance the AFRO camera spotted you. If it did, and if that is a picture of you on the sports page of this edition, you will find the coincidence worth money to you.

"Were You There?" is a brand new giveaway feature that costs us money in your pocket. Take a look at this edition, and at each subsequent issue of the Baltimore AFRO-AMERICAN, for a happy combination of fun and finance.

It was in their honor that their parents entertained at a buffet dinner at their Wilmary Lane home.

About were: Mr. and Mrs. William Cradle, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Sutton and Son Wendell, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. William Birt, and daughter, Adriane, Dr. Lionel DesBordes and sons Byron and Tony, Mrs. William Wilson and daughter, Deidre.

Also present were the Russell's daughter, Robyn, 14, and son Jeffrey, 7, who took his first Holy Communion.

Wedding Bells

A large number of out-of-towners from along the Eastern Seaboard are in Baltimore town this weekend for the wedding of Miss Patricia Allen Garner and Charles Arthur Ray Jr.

The 10 a.m. Saturday wedding will take place at the E. Coldspring Lane home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Garner (Wilhelmina), and will be witnessed by a small group of relatives and close friends. A reception will follow in the afternoon.

The double-ring ceremony will unite two old and well-known families. The bride-to-be is the granddaughter of the late Rev. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Allen. He was one time pastor of Leadenhall Baptist here in Baltimore and former president of Va. Theological Seminary.

The bridegroom-to-be is the son of the senior Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ray of Durham, where his dad heads the English department at N.C. State Central. His grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rivers of Raleigh.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Collins (Iona), entertain for the bridal party tonight (Friday) at their Edgewood Rd. home. Bridal showers have been given by Mrs. Garland Chissell and Mrs. J. Preston Grant and her daughter Linda (Mrs. John Guess).

More Weddings

New brides include Frances (Toni) Murphy Peck and Andre Draner who exchanged vows at St. Andrews Chapel at St. James Episcopal Church at noon today. (Friday).

Her best friend and longtime pal, Pat Payne became Mrs. Curtis Ringgold at 10 a.m. The Longwood St. home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Payne (Alice).

The new Mrs. Draner is the daughter of James (Biddy) Wood of Los Angeles, and Mrs. France Murphy.

Mr. Draper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Draper Jr., (Lucille) of Baltimore.

Mr. Ringgold is the son of Norma Bernord Ringgold Sr. of Baltimore.

Real togetherness: The newlywed Drapers and Ringgolds will be at home in adjoining apartment buildings in Security Park complex.
