PSTA displeased with Angela Lee court verdict

Dear Sir:

The Public School Administrators and Supervisors Association, AFL-CIO, has expressed deep regrets about the decision rendered by Judge Brown in the Angela Lee case on April 22.

We feel that this decision, at the least, was a miscarriage of justice, and at its worst, set a bad precedent for future school-parent relationships. We are now at a complete loss to understand what rights an administrator has to protect himself in such cases.

We felt that this was an open and shut case of a parent intruding and disrupting a school office, and interfering with the administrator in the performance of her duties.

"Certainly, we feel that an administrator has the right, within reason, to hold conferences in her office and to decide whom to confer with; when to confer; and how long to confer with them.

Regardless" of the status of the parent and or the services rendered, we do not feel that this gives any parent the right to barge into an administrator's office without permission.

"If this decision is allowed to stand unchallenged, then the administration of our public schools will become a much more difficult task in the future."

In a letter to State's Attorney, Milton Allen, the PSTA stated:

"PSASA respectfully wants you ot know that we are highly displeased with the performance of one of your assistants in this matter. We feel that this was a case that should not have been lost and need not have been lost."

34th CLA ends, 300 attended

The 34th annual Convention of Language Association ended at the Hilton Hotel Friday with a banquet attended by over 400 guests.

The three-day affair, hosted by Morgan State College, Bowie, Coppin, Howard and District of Columbia Teachers College, was co-ordinated by Dr. Ruthe T. Sheffey, chairman of Morgan State College English Department.

Chaired by University of Illinois president, Dr. R. K. Barksdale, the convention brought together over 300 prominent scholars. The opening session was addressed by Cong. Parren J. Mitchell.

Highlight of the Friday night banquet was the unexpected presentation of awards to three members who have exhibited excellence in scholarship and service.

Distinguished Literary Achievement Award was given to Dr. Theodore R. Hudson for his book, 'Leroi Jones to Amiri Baraka: Literary Works;' the Distinguished service Award went to Dr. Therman B. O'Daniels, editor of CLA Journal; and ot Dr. John L. Matheus for special services.

Participants heard a cross-section of lectures from both students and scholars.

8 federal workers honored

Eight persons were honored at the annual Federal Career Service Awards luncheon recently held at the Hunt Valley Inn.

U.S. Civil Service Commissioner Robert E. Hampton, was the guest speaker at the affair attended by over 450 federal government employees.

The honorees are Howard Edward Burrows, Outstanding Supervisor Award; Edward A. Kaczmarek, Outstanding Professional Employee Award; Mrs. Margeret Miller, Outstanding Nonprofessional Employee Award; Ralph T. Letts, Outstanding Trades or Crafts Emploiyee Award; Stephen J. Kimlicko, Intergovernmental Relations Award; SP4 Cary E. Shiler, Heroic Act Award and Morris Lieberman, Community Relations Awar1.

City gets its share of state cigarette tax

The city has received $901,338.56 as its third quarter share of the state cigarette tax.

These funds go into the city's general fund, just as do property and income taxes, according to Henry Main, research division supervisor for the city Department of Finance.

Annually the city gets just over $3.6 million from the state tax he says. This amount is frozen, so inspite populatin decline the city will continue to receive this amount, unless the laws are changed.
