"I really enjoyed being Miss Senior and representing the senior class student body", she added.

Upon graduation Miss Blackwell hopes to pursue a career in business and also attend graduate school part-time in the field of guidance and counseling.

Columbia Capers

By Pinnie L. Ross

The Columbia Alumnae Chapter, Delta Sigma Theta, Inc., is planning a series of events for their 1974 May Week observance.

The major event of the observance will be the banquet; on Tuesday, May 28, 8 p.m. at the Urban Life Center.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be the Hon. Shirley A. Chisholm, member, U.S. House of Representatives. Mrs. Chisholm, the first black Congresswoman in the country, has firmly established herself as the "fighting" Shirley Chisholm.

Elected to the 91st Congress, her constituency is the twelfth Congressional District, whose center, Bedford Stuyvesant, an area of urban decay, is New York's and perhaps the nation's largest ghetto.

Mrs. Chisholm, a specialist in early childhood education and child welfare, entered politics more or less by public demand in 1964 when she ran successfully for the New York State Assembly on the Democratic ticket.

An articulate, straight-forward champion of the rights of the downtrodden, she derives her power from "the people," as she has often pointed out, rather than the regular party organization. Her close identity with her community enabled her to outdistance two candidates in the Democratic primaries in 1968 and gain an upset victory over the Republican liberal candidate by nearly a three-to-one margin. She campaigned under the slogan, unbought and unbossed, the title of her recently published autobiography.

Mrs. Chisholm's entrance as a freshmen to the 91st Congress made her known as a woman with "true grit" and a mind of her own.

Establishment of the Columbia Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta, Inc., in June, 1971 — less than four years after the onening of the "New City" — exemplifies the Sorority's tradition of "breaking new ground."

The myriad of public service activities in which both individual members and the group as a whole are involved reflects the Columbia Alumnae Chapter's commitment to Delta's Five-Point Program Thrust.

Such groups as the Columbia Foundation, the Steering Committee for Dag Hammerskjold University, Howard County Arts Council, Maryland Commission on the Status of Women, Kidney Foundation of Maryland, Interfaith Group — Maryland American Red Cross, are just a few of the many Columbia and/or Howard County institutions and organizations with which members of the Columbia Alumnae Chapter are affiliated.

Moreover, a number of the Chapter's members perform a variety of direct volunteer services throughout the community. Included among these activities are volunteer service in the Columbia schools, a Delta woman serving as an elected member of the Wilde Lake Village Board, and the entire Chapter providing assistance to the Columbia family whose home was destroyed by the gas explosion in June, 1973.

Since its establishment, the Chapter has awarded two scholarships to Howard County students attending the Community College of Baltimore and Morgan State College. It is a Life Membership Chapter of the Howard County NACCP. It has made public service awards to Friendship Exchange and to the Roslyn Rise Day Care Center.

* * *

May Week is the culminating event of the year for the more than 450 sisters of the Sorority throughout the world emphasizing the year's programs and progress. The activities of the Columbia Alumnae Chapter this year will include a banquet, champagne sip, Youth Day, worship service, and recognition of outstanding scholarship and service. Awards will be made to a Howard County student, a "Soror of the Year" for outstanding volunteer service, a 50-year pin for devoted service, the NAACP Life Membership Committee, and to a community organization for responsive public service.

Members of the May Week committee are: Dolores R. Thomas Cochairman; Cedaria B. Weldon, cochairman; Rose Hill, Christian Mitchell, Sylvia Jones, Susanne D. Paine, Gilda W. Lewis, Harriet A. Tootle, Myrtle L. Winstead.

Gowns in an array of colors seen at two town happenings

By Marie P. Cooks
AFRO Women's Editor

Many thanks to Naomi J. Jones who came to this writer's rescue this week with the write-up on the Zeta's Spring Formal held a couple of weeks back. We all remember that on that particular weekend, there were oodles of things going on in this town and it humanly impossible for me to attend.

Naomi reported that there were some 700 good lookin' spring balloons at the Alpha Zeta chapter's sorority affair and folks had "bad" time that night. ("Bad," a slang word meaning "good" or "boss.")

The elegant dance was highlighted with music by the Jimmy Smith band, dinner from a hot buffet, along with refreshments galore.

And at the stroke of twelve, sorors from Alpha Zeta, Gamma, Mu-Gamma, and Eta Epsilon chapters gathered in the center of the floor and sang the national sorority hymn.

Many of the sorors were seen in every color and gown creation imaginable which made the evening even more beautiful.

Some of the outstanding gowns seen were worn by sorors Mary Fields, bustleus, in an original creation . . . emerald green chiffon gown with ruffles around the neck and sleeves; Dotty Horton, in a pretty light blue and white satin pants gown with matching white jacket, accented with blue designs on the jacket and pants.

And I was told that Naomi wore a black sequin number with a black and white stripped top accented with a black sequin jacket designed by Mindy Malone. Also on the scene was Andrea Abraham, in a light green gown with ostrich feathers around the neck and bodice highlighted with a peek-a-boo back.

Soror Beatrice Pitts was dressed in yards of blue chiffon with layers of chiffon flowing from a high rhinestone collar and flared layered chiffon skirt. And Hilda Brown sported a Malcom Starr creation of light blue satin with a rhinestone bodice and ostrich feather hem-line.

Coordinator for the affair was soror Isolene Crowner and her committee members: Betsy Simon, co-chairlady, Beatrice Pitts, Emma Dudley, Angie McClain, Helen Patterson, Hilda Brown, Naomi Jones, Hazel Phillips, Elva Tillman, Joanne Chambers and Elizabeth Demby.

Pivots' Spring Thing

Still speaking of parties and pretty gowns: the Rainbow Ball given by the Baltimore Pivots last Friday night was a colorful parade of high fashions in sparkling party-time atmosphere.

Members of the group set the fashion scene with Helen Gattis, the club president, in long flowing luscious pink chiffon; Frances Murphy, first vice president, in demure white shirt waist; Gordine Blount, recording secretary, glowed in her shirt-waist hot pink; Lillian Jones, financial secretary, lovely in her long full gown of muted tangerine.

Also, Minnie Smoot, treasurer, so, so smart in her halter back brown and white gown; Ada Woodland, historian, wore her flowing acqua gown with a sparkle; Gerri Deaxtorde, was delightful in a shirt-waist floral print, colorful, spring assortment; Vera Carrington, lovely in a coat and dress ensemble of delicate mint-green, Helen Whittaker, won attention in her bright multi-colored skirt topped with torso white top.

Jean Phillips, a perfect picture in her long full shirt-waist coral blue chiffon, Pat Selden sensational and smart in white pants, matching backless top with a bright colorful blazer jacket; Jeanne Davis, just lovely in a two-piece lemon yellow ensemble, and Janet Woolridge, dance Chairman, walked in a warm colorful floor-length spring print.

It was raining on the outside, but sunshine and laughter were within their home when friends of their deceased mother, Mrs. Mary Gross Bennett and some of their friends gathered to celebrate the day.

Friends greeted by the hosts, Mrs. Susie B. J. Reid and Charles G. Bennett were the Nelson Randolphs, Walter Jeffersons, Harry Fosters, and Avon Childs Jr., and son; Joseph Taylor, Frank Burt and grandson and Holmes.

Also, Dr. and Mrs. Roland Patterson; the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clifford and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Jackson; Mrs. Emily B. Childs; Mrs. Mary Goode Clarke, Mrs. Edna Bowen Newton, Mrs. Daisy Edwards, Mrs. Bessie Springs, Mrs. Pearl W. J. Hall, Mrs. Inez B. Smith, Mrs. Mary Miles, Mrs. Shirley Boulware.

And, Mary M. Johnson, Florence Kelly, Evelyn Trusty, Nancy Clifford, Sharon Clifford, Linda Clifford, Jerry Clifford, Shanay Boulware, Tanya Boulware, Kristal Boulware, Florence Miles, Sylvia Plunk.

Also Anthony Clifford, Oscar Rawlings, Frederick Smith, Warren Stanley, Samuel Wilson.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Laura M. Coleman, Atlantic City, N.J.; John Childs and George Moore, both of New York City.

Among the guests at the gala May Ball, sponsored by the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority were from left: Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Joyce and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hynson.

The Social Security Administration is seeking to award more contracts to small business concerns owned and operated by socially or economically disadvantaged persons from minority groups.

According to SSA's small business specialist, Lester Palmer, the minority groups are awarded government contracts in an effort to help them become self-sufficient and to enable them to later compete in the open market for larger contracts. The government procurement office maintains a bidders mailing list that is used to send invitations for bids when contrusts are available for services, supplies or equipment.

Recently the Federal Executive Board held their second annual Minority Business Opportunity Fair at the downtown War Memorial Plaza. Area companies and government agencies sent representatives to meet with local minority business men to discuss procedures and opportunities for subcontracting in government and private industry.

One of the most recent contracts awarded by SSA was to the Bagr Janitorial Service in Arnold, Md. The minority-owned company was contracted to clean the overhead light fixtures in the Paca Pratt and Civic Howard buildings.

Mr. Palmer states that he is presently preparing a minority business directory and anyone who is interested in doing business with the social security administration can secure a Bidders Mailing List application by contacting him at 594-6277 or writing to Social Security Administration, Property Management Branch, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Md. 21235.
