Last rites Monday for Hubert Reed

Funeral services will be held Monday 11 a.m. at Joseph Russ Funeral Home for Hubert R. Reed, 63.

The family will receive friends Sunday from 7 to 8 p.m. at the funeral home. Mr. Reed will be buried in Arbutus Cemetery.

Mr. Reed died Tuesday at Baltimore County General Hospital after a lengthy illness. Born in Hagerstown, Md., he formerly worked at Enoch Pratt Library.

Mr. Reed lived in the 900 block N. Gilmor St. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Doris Carberry and Mrs. Peggy Valentine; one aunt, Mrs. Martha L. Cross; three grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

2 Mervo students for workshop

Two students from the Mergenthaler Vocational - Technical High School will spend four weeks this summer becoming acquainted with authors of The Great Books.

Sheila Y. Davis and Stephen E. Humes, Jr., are among 18 10th and 11th graders selected to attend the High School Workshop sponsored by the St. John's College Graduate Institute in Liberal Education.

The workshop will be held on the Santa Fe campus in New Mexico. All expenses are paid by St. John's.

Participants will come from New York City, Chicago, Washington, Albuquerque and Baltimore.

Besides delving into Aristotle and Plato, the young people will take part in the cultural events of the area. They will visit Indian pueblos, archeological sites, and the colorful studios along Canyon Road.

216 grads at Forest Park

Forest Park High School held graduation ceremonies at the Poly-Western auditorium Sunday, June 9.

There was a total of 216 seniors awarded diplomas at the commencement exercises.

Some 22 awards and scholarships were presented with Paul Vance representing the superintendent's office and Dr. Eugene Scott standing in for the mayor's office.

The top five students of the class are Misses Debora A. Moore, Ester D. Artis, Sharon R. Harris, Eunice C. Wells and Deborah Morrisey.

Concerned citizens continue support of Dr. Patterson

A group of concerned citizens met again on Wednesday evening to further organize an effort for their continued support of Dr. Roland N. Patterson's position in the wake of a mounting attack on his administration.

The participants unanimously voted to urge the mayor to veto the resolution which passed the City Council by a 12 to 6 margin on June 10.

They issued a statement which said: "If signed by the mayor, this ordinance would go on the ballot in November, 1974 and would strip the school system of its limited fiscal autonomy and place the budget in the hands of politicians.

"We feel, therefore, that the proposed bill is not in the best interests of quality education, particularly now in light of the corrupt and self-centered behavior exhibited by local, as well as national, officeholders."

Last week this same group of concerned citizens held their first meeting also at the AFRO office.

Afterwards, they issued a statement in which they called for an end to what they termed, "unwarranted, politically-motivated intrusion into our community's educational system by Mayor Schaefer, Council President Orlinsky and other elected officials."

The statement further said, "The mayor and his cohorts have continued to show lack of sensitivity in support of education, lack of moral leadership and discourtesy towards the black community.

The statement pledged that "Community action is needed to discontinue the present conduct of city officials."

Spokesman told the AFRO that continuing meetings will be held during the weeks ahead. No details were issued.

The causes, prevention, and treatment of venereal diseases will be the subject of a free film-discussion program for young people scheduled at the Pratt library's Gorsuch Ave. center, Kirk and Gorsuch, at 3:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 20, with the showing of "Half Million Teenagers" and "When Love Needs Care," each about fifteen minutes long. The public is invited.

Bribe info on Mitchell not available says Milton Allen

Baltimore State's Attorney Milton B. Allen said Wednesday that it is not yet legally possible for him to receive evidence of political misconduct in connection with an alleged bribe paid to State Senator Clarence M. Mitchell III (D., 4).

Mr. Allen had earlier criticized federal prosecutors for withholding information regarding Sen. Mitchell's alleged involvement in a scheme to get a convicted gambler on work release by creating a phoney job.

What happened is that prosecuting attorney Joseph Kiel, who is handling the federal bribery conspiracy trial of retired Captain Dennis Mello and four other police officers, told reporters that he had known about the information (regarding Mitchell) for sometime.

The evidence Kiel referred to, however, came up before a grand jury last year and was not unearthed by the Federal government. Consequently, the government is prohibited by law to promulgate the evidence until the present case is concluded.

"Beall's office can't legally say anything about the evidence (about Sen. Mitchell) but when he can release the evidence, he will," said Allen.

"He (Kiel) shouldn't have made the statement in the first place," he noted adding, "I'll have to wait until Bell sends it to me.

"Then and only then can I tell what it means.

Earlier this week Sen. Mitchell denied the allegations made by Robert M. Gordon who was appearing as a witness in the police conspiracy trial.

Boswell seeks injunction in city dock dispute

By Fletcher Roberts

Del. Hildagardeis Boswell, D-4th-Balto., disclosed Wednesday that she is seeking a federal injunction against a local longshoremen's union on behalf of several hundred disgruntled black city dock workers.

She stated that she made a call Monday to the U.S. Attorney General's Office for Baltimore to request an appointment with assistant attorney Russell T. Baker.

The purpose of the meeting, Del. Boswell explained, would be to discuss the feasibility of obtaining an injunction "to prohibit continued actions on the part of Local 333 that have been directly contrary to the 1971 ruling."

In 1971, U.S. District Court Judge Alexander Harvey ordered white Local 829 of the International Longshoremen's Association (ICA) to merge with black local 859.

Under its terms, the resultant Local 333 was directed to make hirings from a single employment list, at the same time segregated works gangs were ordered disbanded.

Del. Boswell indicated that she had not yet received a response to her request from Mr. Baker.

The AFRO was unsuccessful in several attempts to contact Mr. Maker by telephone for comment.

Meanwhile, dock workers who walked off their jobs last week, according to Del. Boswell, have returned to work.

"The men," she went on to say, "told me federal agents are on the docks taking complaints from black workers."

However, "We don't really know who is there. We don't know which agencies responded," she added.

In general, she said, the men indicated a willingness to remain in segregated work gangs because they felt their money was being "gobbled up" by the present union "without proper representation on their part."

In so doing, the men complained that "333 has not done one thing to give proper redress of their grievances," Del. Boswell continued.

"The men want direct control over their money. They also want direct ability to talk for themsetves with the benefit of the international," she commented.

Favoring preservation of a local union, the dock workers stand opposed to the merger arguing it "further cuts them out of power under the present set-up," Del. Boswell clarified.

At a meeting of local 333 Sunday, Del. Boswell stated she was told by ILA Vice president Johnnie Kopp that she was "not invited" to stay.

A group of outraged workers leaped onto the speak's stand to protest calling Mr. Kopp "a liar," she went on.

In an attempt to cool tempers, Mr. Kopp placed a motion before the general membership of Local 333 asking whether she should be allowed to stay, Del. Boswell said.

The vote was "overwhelmingly yes" that she should remain, Del. Boswell further stated.

But, "in the interest of peace," Del. Boswell said she decided to leave to the applause of sympathetic dock workers.

Mr. Kopp could not be reached for comment; he was out of town in Florida.
