NEW FACES

Angela Heard, the Edmondson High grad, has just completed her freshman year at the U.SM International University for the Performing Arts. She has filled out beautifully in just one year with sparkling eyes, pretty dimples.

She'll be dancing at Club Harlem in Atlantic City July 15-22 with the La Park Dancers. New Birth heads the bill. This fall she'll go to Barcelona, Spain. She has 3-month contract to be in a Broadway type production.

ORCHIDS

A week ago the Board of Faith Baptist Church at Bond and Ashland St. held a 19th Anniversary Banquet to honor their pastor, the Rev. Dr. Walter E. Paige.

Most noteworthy is the fact that the pastor requested the banquet to be held in their own community center . . . and not in some expensive establishment. Members of men's group served and the women prepared the food in the church kitchens. The food was excellent—Congratulations to Obie Barnes Jr., general chairman.

Jim Brown (right) plays a successful record producer and the "Impressions," top vocal group, play themselves in "Three The Hard Way," action film about three men who battle a mysterious organization plotting mass murder. Fred Williamson, Jim Kelly and Sheila Frazier also star.

The exhibition will be opened to the public for the first time at Baltimore's Polish Festival on July 27 and 28 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the War Memorial and Plaza.

Alex Bra^fford
Star of "Cope"

Glen Campbell, Grammy Award-winning singer and guitarist for such hit records as "By the Time I Get to Phoenix" and Gentle on My Mind," will appear in person at Painters Mill Musir Fair.

ALEX BRADFORD

At four he was singing and dancing in local Alabama vaudeville theatres, and by the time he was 12 he had organized his own gospel singing group.

Now, at 46, Alex Bradford is an Obie Award winner, an established Broadway star and the lead performer in the multi-prize winning black musical revue, Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope, which begins a limited three week engagement at the Morris Mechanic Theatre in Baltimore on Wednesday, July 24.

Bradford received his Obie, the off-Broadway equivalent of the Oscar for his performance in the original New York production of "Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope," produced by Edward Padula and Arch Lustberg.

Recalling the night he received the award, Bradford says, "It was the most thrilling moment in my life. When they called my name, I was shattered."

For Bradford, that night was the culmination of an 11-year search which had begun when he made his first stage appearance in a production of "Black Nativity," directed by Vinnette Carroll, who also conceived and directed "Cope." The two made this the start of a productive relationship.

As head of the famous Bradford Gospel Singers, Alex has traveled around the world twice with stop in 29 countries.

"It's a lot of fun, but I must honestly say that appearing in 'Don't Bother Men I Can't Cope is a far more satisfying experience."

"The Duchess of Malfi," one of the most popular plays of the Jacobean stage, will be performed by the Electric Shakespeare Company of Towson State College July 23 at 8:30 p.m. in the studio theatre of the Fine Arts Building.

BASTILLE DAY

Join Music Director Sergiu Comissiona and the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra on July 14 to celebrate the French "Independence Day," Bastille Day with a rousing and festive Sunday Fun Day concert 2:30 p.m. at Merriweather Post Pavilion.

There will be a Flag Ceremony during Beethoven's "Battle Symphony" and authentic cannons will roar the triumphant finale to this musical afternoon in Tchaikowsky's "1812 Overture."

CHILDREN'S THEATER

Aladdin and his Magic Lamp will be presented at Painters Mill Music Fair on Thursday, July 18, 11 a.m.

The McKenzie report

By Vashti McKenzie

I can't stand it!

Fred Williamson, the handsome star of the silver screen, will be on Monday night football this fall. He'll join loveable Howard Cosell and mediator Frank Gifford.

ABC-TV conducted a nationwide search for THE man to replace Dandy Don Meredith, who decided football announcing wasn't enough for him. He wants to be an actor and made his TV debut this year on "Police Story."

Practically every sportscaster, retired football player and retired coach in the country was after the Monday night spot.

It's a juicy place to be. It made Dandy Don a household word and got him a million dollar contract with NBC.

It was rumored at one time that Joe Namath would hang up his spikes for the broadcasting microphone.

Some sportswriters and a few media personnel, mostly white, seemed disappointed that ABC's search ended with Fred.

They look at his football career as short and sweet, even though he was instrumental in creating the "bump" and "run" pass defense technique.

They look at his movies such as "Nigger Charlie," "Black Caesar," "Hell Up In Harlem" and "Crazy Joe" as bad, cheap black movies.

All were million grossers and made ole Fred a millionaire or close to it.

They probably regard his TV role on "Julia" with Diahann Carroll a few years back and his movie role in Otto Preminger's "Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon" as the highlight of his career.

Fred has 7 movies being released this year, his latest being the action flick "Three the Hard Way" with Jim Brown and Jim Kelly.

A lot of people can't cope with his attitude, black and white, but they love him just the same.

He's tall, dark and handsome. He knows it, and if you don't, he'll tell you. He thinks of himself as God's greatest gift to the world, and he's proving it.

As Jim Brown said when he was in town last month:

"You can say what you will about Fred, but remember he came to Hollywood and made himself a star. He took acting lessons, worked hard and made, made himself a star. He made a name for himself. He didn't rely on his football name . . . he didn't have much of one anyway. He did it all by himself."

Fred is a black Dandy Don, only better.

I guess some men will be threatened more by Fred's sexuality than Don's. I mean how many white men are going to sit there Monday nights with their wives who're digging Fred and not the game?

And the ladies, black and white, pink and in-between will be tuning in this fall to hear Fred do his thing.

It will be interesting to see how Fred and Humble Howard get along on the air. Howard also loves himself.

One thing for sure, it won't be dull. Right On, sexy Freddie Williamson!

John Davidson, who made a name for himself as a Cosmopolitan male nude pull-out, got quite a shock a few nights back in Pa. While singing on stage at Valley Forge Music Fair, he noticed a crowd of women coming closer and closer to the stage.

Before he knew it, they jumped the young singer and began to strip him naked. One young lady held high the Cosmo pullout. (I guess they wanted to know if John looked that good in person)!

With his shirt torn off, belt unbuckled and about to lose his trousers, John asked the anxious ladies to at least wait until he finished his song. Davidson will be appearing, hopefully clothed, at Painters Mill, in Owings Mill July 22 to 28.

Bobby Womack is coming to Carter Barron Amphitheatre in D.C. July 17 to 21. His new country-western album is becoming a big hit. He is supposed to be keeping steady company with Pam Grier. She's starring in Womack's movie about the life of the late Sam Cooke.

Womack seems to be cooking on all burners. A national firm has bought his recipe for Bar-B-Q sauce. It's due to be on the shelves sometime this summer.

Tavares, the fantastic singing brother group, will be at the Mark IV in D.C. through Saturday. If you can't make the drive over, you can catch them beginning July 17 at the New Carousel Lounge.

Gene Walker leads the Baltimore Big Band every Sundav at the War Memorial Plaza downtown opposite the City Hall, 7 to 9 p.m.

He stopped by the AFRO this week to chat about the band's summer doings.

The interracial band of 21 men and women have been together for 4 years. This is their third summer playing in the city parks.

If you were on the 1st level at the Mayor's Ball at Pimlico this spring, you danced to Walker's "big bands" sound. They play mostly jazz, contemporary music, pop, a few ballads and just about whatever music the crowd wants to hear.

The Main Ingredient at Carter Barron

Mandrill at Civic Center (tonight) Friday with Ohio Players and Funkadelic.

When not performing for the city, the band is known as Gene Walker's Orchestra.

In August the Big Band will be playing daily concerts around the city, in Mt. Vernon Place, Village of Cross Keys, Reisterstown Road Plaza and Cedonia Mall.

Two years ago, they played in Druid Hill Park and Walker seemed disappointed that there weren't going to be any city bands in that park this summer.

"I started playing in the park some years ago," he said. "I guess what happened was that the crowds began dwindling. Some of the jazz didn't have the greatest crowd appeal.

"They accepted our group, but I think what happened was that there were complaints that our music interfered with or there was some conflict with the bongo players in the park. We were only there for one summer though."

He went on to say that ministration decided no after that conflict, the ad-bands in Druid Hill Park.

"I say that if people want "bump" music then give them "Bump" music, and if they want classical music all the time, then give it to them," he said. "Taxes come from black neighborhoods too."

There was some fear that people were afraid of going into Druid Hill Park in the evenings for concerts.

"We have no qualms about going into the park."

said Walker about his band. "In fact we played in a few black schools in South Baltimore and at CCB and Druid Hill. I don't think we're specific-ally scheduled into a black area this summer."

Walker is pleased over the success and acceptance his band received in the city. As a city subsidized band, only 8 concerts were done their first summer. This year the Big Band has 19 dates and draws heavily. He expects about 22 dates next year.

Laura Lee has new hit, "I Need It Just As Bad As You". On the flip side, "If I'm Good Enough To Love (I'm Good Enough To Marry)". She sang the gospel song in "Detroit 9000".

Mary Seymour, Delores Hall and Jo Ann Brownel are in the cast of "Hair" now at Mechanic.
