The State's program has exceeded by more than 250 its federally-established quota of feeding 2,783 persons each day.

The meals are served to persons 60 years of age and older at 90 different sites throughout the State, including 16 locations in the city.

Called Eating together in Baltimore, because it offers hot nutritious meals and a chance to socialize, the program in the city serves about one-third of the State's total.

The Nutrition Program is designed to include those elderly who lack the skills, ability or incentive to prepare well-balanced meals for themselves.

Lyle looks to Norton after win over Ellis

Ron Lyle said in Baltimore in late spring that he'll "take 'em one at a time until it leads to the title."

The Denver heavyweight, though doing it in an unfashionable way, "took" former World Boxing Association champion Jimmy Ellis at Denver on Tuesday night.

If all works the way he hopes, Ron will get the chance to add Ken Norton to his growing list come fall.

On Tuesday, Lyle, whose only loss was a 10-round decision to Jerry Quarry in New York in February, 1973, stalked Ellis for 12 rounds en route to a unanimous decision.

"At Madison Square Garden I made a mistake and tried to look good," Lyle said. "It's just a matter to win and that's all."

"It (the jabbing) wasn't really anything different," Lyle said. "It's just a matter of doing what needs to be done to win. After all, that's what it's all about and that's all you prove anytime you go in the ring whether or not you can win."

Lyle, who weighed in at 215½ compared to 194 for Ellis, ran his record to 28-1-1 as he surprised Ellis, an inch and a half shorter at 6-2, with a stinging jab and quick combinations.

Morgan ex-QB stars in WFL

Daryl Johnson, one-time Morgan State College quarterback, was the big name in Houston's 11-0 World Football League win over the Philadelphia Bell at the Astrodome Wednesday night.

Johnson, now at defensive back for the Texans, intercepted a Philadelphia pass and returned it 57 yards for a TD to the delight of 26,227 opening night home fans.

On the Bells second play of their second possession, quarterback Jim Corcoran, the WFL's leading passer in last week's initial games, underthrew to wide receiver Vince Papale on the left sideline. Johnson picked off the pass on his own 43 and outraced Corcoran to score with 8:34 on the clock.

* * *

Texans quarterback Harry Theofiledes scrambled back to his 20 yard line and threw to running back Jim Nance for the extra points, making it 8-0.

The Texans Charlie Durkee added a 28-yard field goal midway through the second quarter for the only other score.

Cherry, Doughty at Colt drills

Although camp doesn't open for the Baltimore Colts until tomorrow (Saturday), eight members of the team are already at work at the McDonogh School site.

Former Morgan Stater Stan Cherry and All-American Glenn Doughty from Michigan, along with defensive back Nelson Munsey and tight end John Andrews, comprise half of the 8-man contingent which gives indication of defying the strike by fellow players against the National Football League.

Also on hand at the school grounds where the Colts will train, all quarterback Marty Domres, linebacker Mike Curtis, safety Brian Herosian and [illegible] Ronald Taylor.

Eagle outlook appears good

The first week of practice has passed for the Baltimore Eagles, and the word is extreme optimism.

"I was optimistic before we set foot on the practice field, and after the way the first week has gone I can only say I am extremely optimistic about the upcoming season," says head coach Don Warthen. "Not only do we have a good nucleus of returning veterans, but the newcomers we signed over the winter have more than fulfilled our expectations. Additionally, we have had a couple of walk-ons that have been impressive."

Among some of the more impressive newcomers are running backs Ernie Murray from Southern U. and Clint Marshall from Massachusetts, who have both shown the speed that coaches rave about. Murray is a local product, having played at Carver.

The Eagles now have six practice dates left before their meeting on July 28 with the minor league Atlantic City Seahawks in Aston, Pa.
