Cookin with Soul

It's Sandwich Time! During these hot August days, the sandwich is the perfect food, the ideal meal. Easy-to-prepare, low cost-, nutritious and popular with the entire family.

The sandwich can be hot or cold . . . a snack or a complete meal all by itself . . . a dainty tea sandwich or a hearty hero . . . low calorie or the quarterback special . . . It can be whatever you make it.

America's most popular sandwich, naturally, is the hamburger, closely followed by the cheeseburger. The "Beezer" goes a step further, taking the ubiquitous ground beef sandwich into high society. The grilled beef patty snuggles between slices of both Cheddar and Swiss, all sandwiched between slices of enriched Russian rye and grilled to a golden brown. A special Horseradish Dip, combining sour cream, horseradish, French onion soup mix and garlic salt, provide the final touch. Just dip the sandwich in this delightful concoction before each delectable bite. The dip is also irresistable for dunking chips, if you want to serve them beside the sandwich.

"Betcha" is a bologna sandwich with class. Slices of enriched caraway rye are buttered, then spread with a special sauce of hot dog relish, hickory smoke flavored barbecue sauce and horseradish. Two slices of Cheddar, bologna, a pineaple ring and three crisp bacon halves are sandwiched between the sauced bread. The entire closed sandwich is then grilled until golden brown and the cheese melts.

For a more unusual sandwich, serve "Shrimp Diablo Grill," a new tangy kind of seafood combination. Tiny cooked shrimp (the West Coast kind) are tossed with dices celery, catsup, horseradish sauce, lemon juice, Worcestershire and hot pepper sauces. This mixture is spread on buttered enriched white bread, covered with a slice of Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese, closed with a second slice of bread and grilled until golden.

When creating sandwiches either these three or your own favorite combination always begin with a foundation of enriched bread. Three essential B-vitamins—thiamine, niacin and riboflavina and that important mineral, iron, nutrients needed daily for good health, are added in enrichment. Use honey wheat, caraway rye, pumpernickle, datmeal loaf, raisin cinnamon, sandwich loaf . . . but make sure it's enriched.

August Is Sandwich Month. Serve a sandwich today.

U-BETCHA
(6 sandwiches)

One-third cup hot dog relish; one-third cup hickory smoke flavor barbecue sauce; one teaspoon horseradish; twelve slices enriched caraway rye bread; twelve slices (one oz. each) sharp Cheddar cheese; six slices (one oz. each) bologna; six pineapple slices; nine slices bacon, cooked crisp, drained, halved; butter.

Combine relish, barbecue sauce and horseradish; refrigerate at least one hour. Spread all 12 slices of bread with sauce mixture. On each of 6 slices of bread place 1 slice each of cheese, bologna and pineapple. Top with a second slice of cheese and three bacon halves. Close sandwiches with remaining slices of bread, sauce side down. Grill in butter on each side until golden brown and cheese melts. Cut each sandwich in half diagonally.

SHRIMP DIABLO GRILL
(6 sandwiches)

Twelve slices enriched white bread; butter, softened; three-quarters cup diced celery; one-third cup catsup; one teaspoon horseradish sauce; one teaspoon fresh lemon juice; one-quarter teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; four to five drops hot pepper sauce; six ounces tiny cooked shrimp; six slices (one oz. each) Monterey Jack or Chedda cheese

Butter bread. Mix together celery, catsup, horseradish sauce, lemon juice, Worcestershire and hot pepper sauces; fold in shrimp. Divide mixture equally on unbuttered side of 6 bread slices and top with one slice of cheese. Close sandwiches with remaining bread slices, buttered sides out. Grill on both sides until cheese starts to melt and sandwich is golden.

This hefty sandwich — a square hamburger with sweet fresh cucumber pickles and other trimmings — will keep family food interest high without straining the food budget.

Why do we need calcium? It's needed to clot blood, make nerves and muscles function properly and to develop bones.

Children (especially) may be short of vitamin C, because they do not eat enough citrus fruits or juice, tomatoes, raw cabbage or other foods which are rich sources of that vitamin.

Week's best buys

By Virginia McLuckie
Food Economist

Almost everyone looks forward to summer time because fresh vegetables are in abundance. This year, we encourage shopping for quality and making full use of garden fresh produce, says Virginia McLuckie, Food Economist, Cooperative Extension service, University of Maryland.

Seasonal produce buys suggested are: summer squash, sweet corn, lettuce, endive, cucumbers, carrots, green onions, green peppers, new potatoes, snap beans, cabbage, and tomatoes. Plan to serve some cooked vegetables at meals, even if your menu consists of all cold salads or meats. Cooked vegetables also make tasty additions to salads if you season them with a light marinade.

Summer squash is a vegetable that is mild in flavor and really needs only salt, pepper, and butter to season it. It is also a vegetable that is compatable with other stronger flavors, such as onion, green pepper, and sharp cheeses. When you shop, look for squash that is heavy for its size, having rinds that are tender and free of blemishes, and that are of a size that indicates maturity, rather than unripeness.

The most popular squash are the yellow straightneck and Zucchini varieties. There are still some yellow crookneck squash available, but the small, thin skinned lemon-yellow straightneck is generally preferred. These cook in a few minutes in a small amount of water. Too much liquid in cooking dilutes the delicate flavor. Finely chopped onion or a sprinkle of parsley or paprika will flavor yellow squash nicely.

The Zucchini and Chocazella are Italian type green skinned squash. Season them with onion, green pepper, and tomatoes and a sprinkle of Romanio cheese.

The old standby, pattypan or white scalloped squash is not as popular, but it is just as tasty. Try to get this squash in a stage of light green color, as it develops a harder rind once it turns white. Slice, bread, or dip in flour and fry slices of this squash for a long forgotten treat.

Stuffed Pattypan Squash

6 pattypan squash; 6 Tabsp. chopped green pepper; 6 Tbsp. chopped onion;

1 stick butter or margarine; Salt and pepper to taste; 1 tsp. basil leaves (optional).

— Holiday clan reunited

As a result, all of the ten children with the exception of two, one of whom is still a senior in high school, have gone either to college or trade school and are successful in their chosen fields which include a lawyer, an accountant, an electronics technician, a government analyst, and an owner of a tax service and insurance brokerage corporation.

The only request that the parents have made in return for their sacrifices is that they always remember each other and their home training.

The parents refuse to accept monetary pay for their efforts so the children attempt to show their gratitude by sponsoring the family reunions.

The children and their families who have all now migrated to various parts of the United States from their rural North Carolina hometown, consist of a total of 43 including spouses and children.

The reunion ended with a private business meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGlone to elect a committee to coordinate and plan activities for the next reunion which is tentatively scheduled to be held in Chicago, Ill. Attending were:

Mr. and Mrs. James Holliday Sr. Greenville, N.C., Mr. and Mrs. James Holliday Jr. and son Darryle, Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGlone and children, Charles Jr., Lisa, James, Wheaton, Md.; Coniel Holliday and family, Coniel Jr., Jeffrey, Denise and Melody, Mr. and Mrs. William Holliday, and children, Keysia, Billy, Columbia, Md.;

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Holliday, and children, Karen, Marsha, Kenny, Bradbury Hgts., Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Holliday and daughter, Monica, Baltimore, Md.; Miss Nancy Holliday, Greenville, N.C.;

Mrs. Ola Corbett and daughter, Natasha, Greenville, N.C., Miss Pamela Holliday, Greenville, N.C., Mrs. Elizabeth McGlone, Greenville N.C., Miss Ann Atkinson, Farmville, N.C., Miss Naomi Mooring, Ayden, N.C. and Maurice Holliday, Greenville, N.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Holliday and children of Los Angeles, Calif. missed the first reunion because of job commitments.

Household hints

Today's younger homemaker may think the so-called "all-purpose cleaner" is an only recently developed time- and work saver. The fact is, there's been an all-purpose cleaner on the market for nearly a century, and unlike the highly-touted, all purpose products of today, it does do windows. Yet it costs far less than its modern day counterparts.

If you haven't guessed it yet, the product is ammonia. That's tile, easty-to-use, inexpensive ammonia.

It works on shiny surfaces, on walls, floors and bathroom. And it takes the place of many expensive specialty cleaning products like window cleaners, stainless steel cleaners, aerosol bathroom cleaners, etc. etc.

Ammonia works inside, outside and all around the house. Use it in the kitchen, bedroom, laundry room, garage; in fact, any place where cleaning needs to be done.

Beauty on a budget

What can you wear under chiffon or denim?

Next to your skin there is nothing like the silky feel of baby powder to keep you dry and comfortable and nice to be near. And, you can use as much as you want because of its subtle light smell.

It's the go-anyplace, wear-under-anything "fragrance." It's that fresh, clean, natural fragrance that says, "I'm young, I'm real, I'm unique." So if the description fits — or it's the way you want to feel — try the soft smell of baby powder.

Let it be the first thing you put on everyday, because it's the one "fragrance" that goes wit anything you wear.
