CONSUMER CORNER

STILL LAND O' PLENTY

Lots of people have been singing in the New Year with strains of "I've got plenty of nothin'" but The Department of Agriculture has news of plenty of plenty this month. The Agricultural Marketing Service lists supplies as either Plentiful, Adequate, or Limited. Plentiful is defined as more than enough for requirements.

IN THE LIST OF PLENTY

Among the plentiful items for January they list Beef; Pears; Apples; Fresh Citrus Fruits; Citrus Juices (notably frozen concentrated orange juice); Raisins; Potatoes (both storage and frozen); Onions Peanuts; Rice; and dry Peas and Beans. It's a pretty good list for the start of a new year and worth checking against your shopping list. Attractive prices usually go hand in hand with plentiful supplies.
