Mrs. Sarah F. Diggs was dedicated worker

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Fernandez Diggs, 80, were held Friday, Jan. 3 at Sharp Street Memorial United Methodist Church, Dolphin and Etting Sts. from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The Rev. Richard L. Clifford officiated along with the Rev. Howard L. Cornish.

The Rev. Clifford brought words of comfort to the grieving family by saying, "Mrs. Diggs has now gone on to do her work for God."

Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, National NAACP Legal Committee member and civil rights lawyer, paid tribute to Mrs. Diggs by stating, "We all owe a lot to Mrs. Diggs for her willingness to sacrifice her time and efforts for our civil rights."

Speaking on behalf of Mrs. Enolia McMillan, president Baltimore branch NAACP, was Mrs. Margaret Dyer who read a resolution.

It read in part, "Since Mrs. Sarah F. Diggs was one of the best workers of the NAACP and since she had been on the executive board for over 30 years, her passing was a lost to all NAACP members and her family has the heartfelt sympathies of each and every one of us."

The Sharp Street Memorial United Methodist Choir rendered the musical selections "How Great Thou Art" and "It Is Well With My Soul."

Morris C. Queen, director of the choir, accompanied on the organ.

Mrs. Diggs, a long-time member of Sharp Street, had been active with the Baltimore branch NAACP since 1935. She was always referred to as "a dedicated worker."

Many times Mrs. Diggs handled financial records and reports for various committees. As recently as Dec. 25, just four days before her death, she submitted her financial records so that the work of fund raisers would run smoothly and successfully.

Her survivors are a twin sister, Miss Julia Fernandez, Atlantic City, N.J.; a nephew, Eugene Ambrose Briscoe, Denver, Colo.; one great-niece and one great-nephew.

PIONEER BURIED—Mrs. Sarah Fernandis Diggs, 80, Baltimore pioneer resident and community leader and first woman's editor of the AFRO-AMERICAN (1925-32), was given last rites on Friday evening at Sharp St. Methodist Church. Sole surviving relatives, her twin sister, Mrs. Julia Fernandis of Atlantic City, and nephew, Ambrose E. Briscoe, Denver, Col., right, are escorted from church by mortician, Herbert Nutter, left. Burial was Saturday in Arbutus Memorial Park.

Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind.
They are cherished in the hearts

Upright and just to the end of her days.
Sincere and true in the heart and mind.
Beautiful memories she left behind.
