undetermined although one police spokesman hinted revenge as a motive.

Co-workers describe the accused postman as a "good, conscientious employee.

Police reconstruct that all four women were killed in a two and a half hour period, beginning at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, probably with a small calibre pistol.

Mrs. White was shot in the throat as she stepped from her car in front of her home.

Robert Jackson, husband of one of the other victims reported a man came to his home and asked to talk to him and his wife.

They agreed, and with Jackson driving, went to the man's home in southwest Raleigh, Jackson said.

There, according to Jackson, the man pulled a pistol and forced him into the trunk of the car.

He said he heard his wife scream, several shots were fired, and then his young daughter was forced into the trunk with him.

He said the car started and after a short distance stopped. He told officers he then heard more shots.

A second sister, Mrs. Harmon was found dead at her home.

Police report Mrs. Harrington was found by police in Harris' home after he was taken into custody.

the proposal will provide an increased number of teachers in the area of exceptional children and additional free breakfasts and lunch in the schools.

The board held a public hearing on Saturday, Jan. 11 to obtain suggestions and recommendations from the community.

Three of the four new board members Grolder L. McCrea, Howard E. Marshall, and David F. Sloan eagerly responded to questions from the audience and "hung right in there" over-riding their newness to the board.

Cited as the most important request was a need for guidance at the elementary level. At present, all elementary schools do not have full time counselors.

Commissioner McCrea forcefully responded, stating, "We need counselors at the elementary level where the discipline problems begins. Students in elementary school need some kind of direction."

However, this provision was not added to the current budget request.

Norman P. Ramsey, new board president, handled the meeting last night with ease and authority, while the seven other members worked together for the first time as a unified working body.

Other members present were Dr. Beryl Williams, Dr. W. Eugene Scott, Mrs. Sheila Sachs, and Oscar Heim. Robert Schaefer was absent.

Sparrows Pt. calls back 1,200 workers

The lay-off "crunch" at Sparrows Point eased this week when 1,200 steelworkers were called back to the plant.

Fritz Whitman, spokesman for Bethlehem Steel told the AFRO, "Because of our increased coal shipments we were able to put blast furnace 'D' back into operation."

This now leaves three furnaces out of operation and 1,600 men still jobless. Originally 4,100 men were laid off after strikes by the coal miners.

Mr. Whitman said he could not speculate when the remaining numbers of steelworkers would return.
