LAMBDA KAPPA MU

The Iota Chapter of Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority recently celebrated Founders' Day, a fitting tribute to its founder, Florence K. Norman.

The theme was "Stay Involved" for the occasion. Mrs. Mary Silva presided. The invocation was given by Mrs. Veta Greig and greetings by Mrs. Bettye Shelton. PLEIADES CLUB

Members of the Pleiades Club of Baltimore received a "charge" of the heart at their Jan. meeting as they listened to notes of thanks from two needy families who had received Christmas baskets.

Traditionally, club members exchanged gifts among themselves every January. But, priding themselves on "keeping a hand on the pulse of the community," the group donated its Christmas gift monies to someone in need.

The club was organized 15 years ago and has been providing a first-year scholarship for a high school graduate attending Morgan State College. The present recipient is Donna Cherman of East Baltimore.

Delroy Wright is president. Other officers and members are Margaret Wright, Lillian Wiggins, William and Norma Webster, William Brent, Charles and Katherine Shoultz, Mildred Johnston, and Earl and Ann Loving.

HERBERT M. FRISBY SOCIETY

Ms Julia Woodland, principal of Paul Laurence Dunbar Senior High School, addressed the recent January meeting of the Herbert M. Frisby Historical Society meeting.

Members of the historical society gathered at the Auchentoroly Terrace home of Miss H. Lota Howard.

Ms. Woodland's address, "New Concepts of the Black Urban School", became a personal note upon old reminiscence. A product of Baltimore City public schools, Douglass High School to be specific, she recalled the scintillating classes, the guidance and encouragement received from the vanguard of the historical society, scientist-explorer and former teacher, Dr. Herbert M. Frisby.

Ms. Woodland stated the need for creativity and renewed drive to help our school children. The realization that the school as a center of learning, in order to survive, must depend on its community and parent involvement, dedicated commitment and support. She advocates that, "a parent is anybody who touches the life of a child."

Under discussion were the plans for the New Black American Ball to be held at the Kittamaqundi Room, March 22, in Columbia. Chairing the committee planning this gala event is Mrs. Roland Williams. In the plans are excellent cuisine, nectare from sunkissed gardens, marvelous music to 'trip-the-light fantastic.' Also uncovered are plans to make tribute to historically significant black women. For further information call 947-2424.

In attendance at the meeting were: Dr. Cllara Adams, Eleanor Anderson, Palestine W. Anderson, Martha G. Bradford, Gwendolon P. de Cecilio, Phyllis Eley, Jacqueline A. Fleming, Alice F. Ford,

Dr. Herbert M. Frisby, Madames Kathryn T. Frisby, Rosa T. Gaskins, Brueye Greene, Mildred Garmon, Catherine T. Howard, Miss H. Lota Howard, Madames Thirkield D. James, Reva Lewis, Mary G. Lewis, Bernice M. McDaniels, Louise Moop;

Kathleen B. Newsome, Doris Oswell, Jessie M. Perkins, Sarah Rayne, Ruth Rosedom, Margaret K. Ross, Ruth L. Russell, Barbara A. R. Smothers, Shirley L. Strother, Ida Swanson, Mary S. Thompson, Louise Turks, Marguerite A. Wilkins, Anetnia A. Williams, Mildred A. Williams, Mamie Woodford and Queenie Lane, and Bernice S. Waite, president.

Last Thursday I spent another enjoyable evening with that fantastic Chesapeake Toastmistress club. The occasion was annual speech contest held at the Ramada Inn on Security Boulevard.

I was invited to act as a contest judge along with Barbara Haskins, Ernestine Smith and Mildred Forehand. It wasn't an easy task to score the new and talented speakers, but we did come up with a winner, Linda Cohen who was given "Pollution" as her key word.

Second place winner was Shirley Hughes. Others included on the program were Elizabeth Bryan, Eleanor Hood, Martha McCready, Sarah Speaks and Elsie Owens. Emma Brewington and Elsie Owens acted as timers.

Members assigned to be hostesses were Lillie Johnson, Marie Scott and Vivian Young. Contest committee members were Mary Payne, Emma Brewington, Eleanor Hood and Estelle Flowers. Mrs. Majorie Cole is president of the group.

The Black Pearls Limited recently held their first benefit raffle of 1975 and identified the Sickle Cell Anemia cimmittee as the recipient of all proceeds.

First and second place prize winners were Diane Beach and Bernadette Burrell. Both are employed at the Social Security Administration. Third place prize winner was Emily Smith, C. and P. Telephone company employee.

Club members present at the drawing were: Sandra Washington, president; Valerie Fickling, June Phillips, Bernadette Bowley, treasurer; Martha Jefferson, secretary; Theora Cootes, Bernadette Johnson and Carole Jackson in charge of Publicity.

Congratulations to Disability Inquiries clerks, Mrs. Bonnie Hudnall, and Mrs. Diane Vinik. They were both promoted to GS-4 Technical Assistant positions; Elizabeth Harris was promoted to the position of GS-4 telephone switchboard operator.

"The best is in our reach. If we are willing to pay the price for it." The above quotation is an excerpt taken from a stirring sermon delivered at the ministers conference this past Monday afternoon by The Rev. James Ball, pastor of Timothy Baptist Church.

As I sat there surrounded by men of the clergy, I watched and listened as they loudly responded to the message I kept thinking how true and timely that statement was in relation to the business that brought me to the gathering of men.

The business was the Fire, Renovation, Expansion Drive for the Maryland Baptist Home for the Aged. I was late but Mrs. Estelle Dobson, honorary F.R.E.D. banquet chairperson, the Rev. Spencer Dobson, chairman of the 1975 honorary trustee committee; the Rev. William Johnson, Publicity Cochairman; Reverend C. C. Alexander, president of the United Baptist Missionary Convention, the Rev. M. J. Brackett, past president U.M.B.C.; and other F.R.E.D. committee members were already collecting $100 pledges from supporters of F.R.E.D.

Miss Helen Benton, banquet chairmerson has stated that "freewill gifts of $100 or more will certainly help us reach our $38,000 goal by March 19, when the drive is climaxed with a banquet at 6817 Dorwood Road. Right On Preachers!!

Tickets can be obtained by calling 728-5777 or 462-4800. Guest speaker for the evening will be the Rev. Dr. W. T. Walker, Canaan Baptist Church, New York.

Yes, "The best" in a home for the aged "is in our reach, if we are willing to pay the price for it."

R.S.V.P. WITH MARIE

Spread a little love

By Marie P. Cooke
Reflections Editor

Love is: A Tuesday afternoon at a love feast February is Love Month and the pupils at Carter Godwin Woodson School No. 160 in Cherry Hill asked this writer to come in while they spread a little love. (Not that they don't spread love all the time, it was just on Tuesday they really laid it on thick!)

Love was shown in a number of ways at the school (located at 2501 Seabury Rd.) Posters, paintings, flowers and things lined the hallways, administrative offices and classrooms which exemplified what they thought love was all about. (It's always refreshing to see where our youngsters are coming from — how they look at themselves.)

Although this is Love Month, a universal celebration, the students didn't forget it was their week, Black History Week, and its meaning reflected throughout the building.

The 30 students in Mrs. Evelyn White's sixth grade class expressed their feeling of love through three channels: A presentation, program and feast. Principal, Mrs. Ruth Prattlooked on admirably.

What is love? Love is: Playing with friends, helping stop a fight, babysitting as a favor; these are a few of the things of what it's all about, say the youngsters.

Short skits, a dozen, were staged. At the close of the program, a group sang "Feeling Groovy", led by classmate Roland Lee on guitar. All the students participated in the program which was followed by a presentation, a gift of love — chocolates for the teacher.

And then the feast began.

Mrs. Sarah Forrest, the class mother and Mrs. Pamela Coles, a parent, sure put a lot of love in the food they prepared. It really was a feast, with fried chicken and all the good things that complement cakes in the shape of valentines were plentiful.

(Editor's Note: My waistline couldn't stand it if Love Month were celebrated every day of the year — at least not at a feast. The food was just that good.)

(And another note: We often talk about how bad the school kids are. Well, those children at School No. 160 are the kind I'd like to have. They are courteous, neat and just plain KIDS. You'll find no writing on the walls there.) The pupils in Mrs. White's class are:

Leroy Brockington, Keith Brooks, Adrian Brown, Andrew Bough, Albert Green, Gershwin Hardy, Steven Holland, William Jackson, Roland Lee, Douglass Matthews;

Tony Matthews, James McKennie, Dwayne Mundell, Raynard Pinckney, Paul Pinckney, Craig Roper, Costello Simms, Gregory Weeks, Brian Hubbard;

Deborah Arthur, Sharon Brewer, Toni Caraway, Ladonna Clark, Phyllis Colbert, Terry Coles, Sharanita Hardy, Vanessa Leak, Danita Taylor, Deborah Trayham, Lisa Woodard.

(Note to Mrs. White's students: No, I REALLY AM NOT TV's weathergirl, Charlee. Sorry for the mixup, even though we favor just a little.)
