—Dobson may go free

is strong belief Dobson may go free.

FAMILY JUBILANT

The AFRO was not able to contact the father, the Rev. Harold Dobson or the uncle, the Rev. Vernon Dobson at press time.

However, the Rev. Spencer Dobson, grandfather of young Dobson and pastor of St. Marks Baptist Church stated, "I thought all the time he was due a hearing. I think it is fine."

Mr. Johnson told the AFRO:

"We are going to the trial jurist, Judge Robert B. Watts, to ask that Mr. Dobson be allowed bail or come out today on his own recognizance. He should be returned to his wonderful family so that he can resume a normal life.

"He has been at Hagerstown Maryland Correctional Institution since December, 1973.

"He was a Howard University second year student.

Mr. Johnson also said he hopes that State's Attorney William Swisher will not consider a retrial.

SUFFERED ENOUGH

The attorney told the AFRO, "Young Dobson should not have to face another trial. He has been taken through the judicial system once and found not guilty on most of the charges and the other charge overturned.

"A retrial would cause a great emotional strain on the defendant as well as the entire Dobson family. They have all suffered enough because of the charges in the first place."

STATE MAY DECIDE NEXT WEEK

When asked what his next steps would be, State's Attorney William Swisher told the AFRO Friday morning:

"To be honest with you, I don't know anything about the first trial, only what I read in the papers.

"I will have to get a copy of the Court of Special Appeals opinion and study the whole thing.

"If there is sufficient evidence, we will go for a new trial. Whatever, we will get something moving on it shortly, possibly next week."

Asked if he would have any part in setting bail or allowing young Dobson on his own recognizance, Mr. Swisher said he is not sure of what his authority is.

JUDGE WATTS

When reached by the AFRO Friday morning, Judge Watts said it is possible he could decide to release young Dobson on his own recognizance or set bail.

However, he stated, "I have not received a copy of the Court of Special Appeals order. I do not know what the opinion is. I will have to know more than I know now."

NOT GUILTY OF MURDER

Mr. Dobson can not be retried for murder of Del. Scott. Mr. Johnson told the AFRO.

He states, "The only thing the state can re-try him on his for kidnapping Steven Brown, a cab driver and for possession of a hand gun.

"The handgun violation concerns the gun they allegedly found in young Dobson's home. However, Gerald Smith and I as defense lawyers contended that the gun was planted in the Dobson house by the police.

"Larceny of the two auto tags was thrown out. The murder charge and the kidnapping of the other cab driver, Carl Washington, the driver on the night of the murder, were found not guilty by the jury.

"Washington can not appear again as a witness

"The state's case is now considerably weaker."

PROSECUTOR'S ROLE DAMAGED

Mrs. Sandra O'Connor, then an assistant states attorney, was the prosecutor who contended the testimony of the taxi cab driver Washington was valid rubuttal.

However, the opinion of Special Appeals Court jurist, Judge Richard P. Gilbert, states, "Washington's testimony did not serve to rebut anything the defense had demonstrated or implied.

"The evidence adduced from Washington served only to arouse the passions of the jury.

"There is present the very real possibility that the improperly admitted evidence contributed to Dobson's conviction."

WITNESS KNOCKED OUT

The Court of Special Appeals opinion by the three judge panel also shot down the portion of the state's case which included the identification of young Dobson by cab driver, Steven Brown from photographs

The court ruled that the testimony is inadmissable since the selection of photographs shown Brown led him into the identification.

The court also considered the fact that Washington testified about a date months before the theft of the gun with which Dobson is charged.

Prosecutor O'Connor contended that Brown's cab was stolen on June 18, 1973 and taken as a "trial run" for the kidnapping of the cab driver and his cab the night of the murder, July 13, 1973.

Actually, young Dobson was convicted of the June 18 kidnapping but was found not guilty of the kidnapping and stealing the cab on the night of the murder of Del. Scott.

Dobson went on trial Nov. 19, 1973 and was convicted Dec. 11, 1973, armed robbery, kidnaping, illegal use of a gun and receiving stolen goods.

The 12 jurors consisted of seven black women and two black men; and two white women and one white man. The jury deliberated 15 hours. Ralph W. Shipley was the foreman.

John Mitchell gets 8 years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John N. Mitchell, H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman. Richard Nixon's most trusted aides, were sentenced today to up to eight years in prison for their part in covering up America's worst political scandal.

In writing perhaps the final major chapter of Watergate, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica also sentenced Robert C. Mardian to up to three years in prison.

All four were convicted New Year's day of conspiring to cover up the scandal.

Mitchell had been Nixon's attorney general and campaign manager; Haldeman and Ehrlichman his chief White House aides and Mardian was Mitchell's chief deputy at justice and in the re-election campaign.
