—Cong. Mitchell testifies

officers wrote affidavits. The affidavits would say they observed from the street, observed the exchange of narcotics, observed certain people associated with crime go into this particular place. The affidavits would never say wiretaps were used, Guest said.

Sen. Edward T. Conroy, D-Prince George's, committee chairman, interrupted and asked, "Are you telling us that within your knowledge and belief that wiretaps were being made without legal authority?"

"Yes sir, it was common practice," answered Guest. "The whole thing that upset me was it was so easy to do this. If they don't have evidence from the street level, they use wiretaps."

Guest said that at one point, he himself was under surveillance by use of a listening device placed on his coat.

Cong. Mitchell, who testified he was under police surveillance during his 1970 and 1974 campaigns, said Guest infiltrated a meeting of his campaign organization in 1970.

Guest told the committee he was sent only to the one campaign meeting and when he returned he was questioned by "eight or ten top officers," including Maj. Bernard Norton, head of the inspectional services division — the special intelligence gathering unit.

Cont. Mitchell also produced a copy of a 1970 police memorandum outlining the surveillance of a Sept. 24 community meeting which he attended that year at the United Methodist Church.

The memorandum contained a list of the individuals' presence and their activities.

"What was most disturbing to me was the last page which said copies went to Commissioner Pomerleau, the deputy commissioners of three bureaus . . . the chief of patrol . . . the attorney general, army intelligence and the FBI"

The Wednesday night session was first of the committees' public hearings. The panel met privately earlier Wednesday, interviewed one witness and discussed issuing subpoenas for several others.

Conroy said the committee is "close" to voting on whether to subpoena several witnesses, including officers in the city police department.

Several potential witnesses, it has been learned, have told the committee's attorney about specific instances of police spying, but have balked at investigators to testify before the full 8-member panel.

The unprecedented investigation began after published reports that the inspectional services division compiled dossiers and "activity folders" on politicians, black leaders, community activists, anti-war protesters and newsmen.

Young Fitzgerald, a 6th grader at School No. 122, says he sells the AFRO to help get things he wants and also to help his brothers and sisters. "I have been selling the AFRO off and on and I like it!" He wants to be a fireman.

A career in teaching is what 14-year-old Stokes plans. Meantime, "I will continue to sell the AFRO. My brothers did it and it helped them." Young Stokes is not a carrier but a driver's mate who helps distribute papers to vendors

He is a 7th grader at Booker T. Washington Junior High School.

Mr. Rea reveals as an incentive to carriers the AFRO gives those who sell the largest number of papers, tickets to games and sometimes cash awards.

In addition the AFRO serves a living textbook. When young people visit they are shown how black people are engaged in dignified, rewarding work using many different skills.

They are shown a film and at the end of a plant tour pictures are taken.

Region II improves Clifton and Lombard Hi

Members of the Region II office for the Baltimore city public schools have begun a program to upgrade the academic standards and improve student-teacher relationships at Clifton Park and Lombard Junior High Schools.

Both schools have been the targets of criticism and degrading by white parents whose children were assigned to the schools under the desegregation plan implemented last fall.

Parents pointed out at School Board meetings that the students in these schools were unruly, academic standards were far below the required levels and that school supplies were not adequate.

Mrs. Thelma Cox, regional superintendent and her entire staff visited the schools on Jan. 6 to observe in the classrooms, hallways and other parts of the building.

After completing their reports, members of the group determined that many problems were the result of poor attendance among faculty and students, ineffective teaching and lack of special programs for the student body.

Mrs. Cox told the AFRO, "With the help of the administration, faculty and security force in these schools, we have been able to develop definite plans for changing the schools' images."

The principal and faculty of Clifton Park have scheduled special assemblies involving parents to take place periodically in the auditorium.

At one time the auditorium was locked and barred and experienced a great deal of vandalism. However, since students may now use their facility, the vandalism has decreased.

Mrs. Cox said, "We are very, very happy with our results. The atmosphere in the schoos has changed drastically."

In order to help those students with reading deficiencies, a reading specialist has been added to Clifton's staff.

The most instrumental plan developed in the school, states Mrs. Cox is adjustment center that helps those disruptive students who constantly walk in the halls.

"Once a child becomes depressed, he doesn't hold his feelings inside," said Mrs. Cox, "instead he become disruptive to free himself of his frustrations."

The center operated by two faculty members, allows those students to work with such basic courses as English, mathematics, social studies and science.

Once a student has improved; he would then be allowed to take elected courses.

Students are dismissed at noon on Wednesdays so teachers may work with department heads on lesson plans and staff development.

that had been demaged by the firebombs and cross burnings.

Mr. Neely told the AFRO, the residents suggested several ways to prevent trouble. The area is now in the process of getting adequate street lights closer to their homes.

The police department is setting up surveillance in the area and will continue patrolling the area. Mr. Neely stated his office will keep in contact with the community.

Relieves Tormenting Rectal Pain And Itch, Helps Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues
. . . Due to inflammation. Gives prompt, temporary relief from such burning itch and pain in many cases.
The burning itch and pain caused by infection and inflammation in hemorrhoidal tissues can cause much suffering. But there is an exclusive formulation that in many cases gives prompt relief for hours from this itch and pain so that the sufferer is more comfortable again. It also actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation and infection.
Tests by doctors on hundreds of patients in New York City, Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center reported similar successful results in many cases. This is the same medication you can buy at any drug counter under the name Preparation H®.
Preparation H also lubricates to protect the inflamed surface area and it doesn't sting or smart. In fact, it has very soothing qualities which make it especially helpful during the night when itching becomes more intense.
There's no other formula like Preparation H. In ointment or suppository form.

World prayer day set

Today, Friday, March 7, is the World Day of Prayer for churches throughout the nation.

Trinity Baptist Church, 1001 Druid Hill Ave., will be the scene tonight (Friday) for special services to which all citizens are welcome.

Featured at the 7:30 p.m. event are ministers, choirs and members of the following churches: Madison Avenue Presbyterian; Payne Memorial, Sharp Street Methodist, Pennsylvania Avenue AME Zion, Grace Presbyterian, Douglas Memorial and Union Baptist.

Black families lecture

Dr. Andrew Billingsley, noted author of Black Families in White America, will discuss this topic on Monday, March 10 at 12 noon in Gordon Wilson Hall, 6th floor, University of Maryland Hospital, 22 S. Greene St.

Currently graduate professor of social science at Howard University, Dr. Billingsley has written extensively on the strengths of the black family in our society.

Everyone is welcome to attend this presentation which is sponsored by the departments of social work at University Hospital and the Institute of Psychiatry and Human Behavior.

Poly families dinner

The annual Poly family dinner will be held in the School's cafeteria on Saturday, March 15, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The speaker is Francis B. Burch, Attorney General of the State of Maryland, and Jim Motscheller, formerly of the Baltimore Colts, will be the Master of Ceremonies.

There will be door prizes, a sophomore class fund raising event, Poly Follies preview, and music by the Poly Dance Band.

The dinner, catered by ARA, will again be served by students.

Get your tickets through any Poly student, or mail your check, made payable to Poly Parents' Association $3.50 per person, to Mrs. Janice Starlings, Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, 1400 W. Cold Spring Lane 21209. Be sure to enclose your return address.

UMES economy symposium

A symposium entitled "The Economic Squeeze and Its Victims" will be held at the University of Maryland, Eastern Shore on March 5 at 1 p.m. in the Frederick Douglass Library Auditorium.

Jointly sponsored by the Department of Business and Economics and the Division of Experimental Studies, the symposium will concentrate on current economic problems and policies.

School Board supports free lunch program

Superintendent Dr. Roland N. Patterson and the Board of School Commissioners stand in support of the Free Breakfast Program for the Baltimore city public schools.

Speaking during the regular board meeting Thursday night in the Coldstream Park Elementary School, Dr. Patterson stated, "The Department of Education will do everything in its power to insure a free breakfast to every eligible child in Baltimore city."

The pledge was further amplified by members of the Maryland Food Committee, Youth Services Division of the Department of Social Services and the Baltimore branch NAACP.

The program, which would be federally funded, would provide free breakfasts in the schools to those children whose parents live on low and fixed incomes.

In other board action, President Norman P. Ramsey requested Dr. N. Nuebert Jaffa, deputy superintendent of business to make a complete study of the conditions at Forest Park Senior High.

The school was to undergo a major renovations process that remains incomplete.

Harry Smith, Forest Park Parent Association told the board that students would not attend the school in September if the repairs were not complete.

He stated that the safety of students was being seriously jeopardized by allowing them to attend a school where plaster falls from the ceiling and paint chips from the walls.

Members of Northeast Baltimore urged the board to allow the Chinquapin Middle School to remain with its present racial composition.

Formerly, the Woodbourne Junior High, the school now houses 6th, 7th and 8th grade students who are 77 per cent black and 23 per cent white.

-Dobson

In Hagerstown, Md.

However, when court appointed lawyers, Mrs. Elsbeth Levy Boothe and Arnold Zerwitz presented the case before the Court of Special Appeals, the court ordered a new trial for 21-year-old Dobson, who is the son of the Baltimore family of prominent ministers Judge Watts released Dobson on March 5 from Hagerstown on the $15,000 bail.

Present at the bail hearing were his parents, the Rev. Harold and Mrs. Mildred Dobson

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Dobson put up their home for $10,000 of the bail and cash for the balance. The Dobson's live in the 3600 block Ellamont Rd.

The other $5,000 was raised by bail bondsman, which meant the Dobson's paid $550 cash to the bondsman.

CORRECTION

On pre-print page 29, the identification of four persons is incorrect. Here is what it should say:—Big Sisters' Contest—Mrs. Sara Giles, left, and Mrs. Ernestine Press, center are two members of the Big Sisters of Baltimore Inc., which launched essay writing contest for Baltimore high school juniors and seniors on Sunday. Honorary co-chairmen are Dr. Thomas P. Fraser, left, interim president of Morgan State College; and Dr. Roland N Patterson, superintendent of Baltimore city schools. Contest will award $700 scholarships and trophies to winners on April 12 at Morgan.
