R.S.V.P. With Marie

Word has it that the B-I-G benefit luncheon and fashion show being sponsored for and by the Travis Winkey Studio this Sunday at the Hilton's grand ballroom is gonna make history.

Models from Winkey's own Fashion Beat along with many of this town's leading designers are adding the finishing touches to this grand spectacular.

Young Winkey (I say "young" because we were at Douglass High together), a professional fashion model and dancer, has many of this town's well known figures working with him. Congressman Parren J. Mitchell and my good friend, Edith House, are heading the benefit committee.

Others are Ann Dyett, Pinnie Ross, Elaine Young, Hattie Smith, Thelma Wharton, Drs. Arron Jenkins, Stanley Madison and James Priest; Allen Quill, Ralley Hawkins, Talmadge T. Williams and the civic and social group, the Baltimore Advocates.

Another person who is involved with this production is P.J.'s legislative aide based out of his D.C. office, Clarence Bishop. He'll be at the microphone as master of ceremonies.

Tickets will be sold through tomorrow, Saturday. Call 523-7855 or pick them up at Pauline Brooks' Boutique in Mondawmin. This is one fashion show you won't want to miss — really!

Speaking of fashion, model Cee Cee Stokes made her last appearance as Miss AFRO-Pall Mall Menthols last Saturday. She was the guest model at the Ladies of Leisure luncheon-fashion show at the Canterbury House located in Sutton Place on Saturday.

Surely, that wasn't the last time Baltimore fashion show-goers will see Ms. Stokes on the runway. She's one of the most popular in town and makes her mark wherever she is seen.

Vacation notes: The George W. Chandlers (Audrey) of Belle Ave. really took a vacation!

The couple spent their spring vacation in Seville, Malaga, Granda and Mijas, Spain and in North Africa (Tangier, Spanish Morocco).

Many know the Chandlers. He's a Baltimore County country club manager and an active member of the Club Manager's Association of America, Baltimore Chapter.

Commenting on the trip, Mrs. Chandler said she loved the Flamingo Dancers but prefers Americkn sports as opposed to bull fighting. She is the manager of the jewelry department at a Howard County department store.

Feeding PIGEONS — The George W. Xhandlers (Audrey) spent their spring vacation in Seville, Spain.

Thirty years. That's what George and Bernice White will be celebrating on July 5 at their Callaway Ave. home. The couple has sent beautifully engraved invitations to their friends asking that they share in the wedding anniversary celebration. They've set the time at 6 p.m.

The Alpha Lodge of the Most Worshipful Hiram Grand Lodge reports more donations to its ongoing Anna Mae Hunter Foundation drive.

New contributors include: Vanessa Johnson, $1; Elaine Williams, $1; Reuben Johnson Jr., $1; Dinah Bell, $1; Richard Hicks, $1; Phyllis Johnson, $1; Calvin Johnson, $1; Jean Saunders, $1; Norma Burrell, $1; Carl Jackson, $1; Derick James, $1 and Fannie Johnson, $2.

The drive closes in August and hopefully by that time the group will have raised $5,000. Won't you help? Mail checks and money orders to: Alpha Lodge, P.O. Box 13284, Baltimore, Md. 21203.

Provident Community Mental Health Advisory Board presented its 3rd annual Unsung Heroes awards dinner-dance. Some 300 persons attended.

The following persons were cited as Unsung Heroes: Dr. Oakley Saunders, Mabel Brooks, Warren Weaver, Gwendolyn Johnson, Elmyra Harris, Walter Stevens, Francisco Taylor, Ronald Jones, Beulah Addison, Charles Parker, Sarah Bundy, the Rev. Marshall H. Strickland, Faye Johnson, Dr. Claude Hill, Ms. Thelma Davis, the Rev. Millie Swann, Harris Marshall.

Guest speaker for the evening, Sunder Devaprasad, director, Provident Community Mental Health Center, emphasize that he question: "Am I my brother's keeper?" is no longer valid. The realities of life dictate that we are our brother's keeper and we all should do whatever we can to better the lot of our brethren," he commented.

George Collins of WMAR TV was the master of ceremonies.

The event organized by the Advisory Board was held to recognize those who rendered their time and talents without expecting any monetary returns for their services to the community.

Betty J. Miles, assistant professor of business at the University of Maryland, Eastern Shore, recently attended a faculty seminar at Florida A and M University.

Sponsored jointly by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Florida Society of Certified Public Accountants, the seminar brought together representatives of colleges and universities throughout the country to discuss new trends in education. During the meeting, attention was focused on the new opportunities for business for women and people of Spanish and African origins.

Mrs. Miles, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn J. Allen of Snow Hill, Md., earned her BA from Morgan State College and her MBA from Atlanta University. She has done advanced study at the London School of Economics, England.

Mrs. Sue Miles entertained at a delightfully refreshing sip 'n snack affair last Sunday afternoon at her Copley Rd. home. The occasion was in honor of her son and daughter-in-law, George and Gayle, who were celebrating their first wedding anniversary. The young Mileses, married in Waterbury, L.I., N.Y., are making their home in Washington, D.C. where they met while both were students at Howard University.

Jacqueline Keyes, guitarist and vocalist, and Carol Merchant, vocalist, both graduating seniors of Western High School where the hostess is assistant principal, provided live entertainment with renditions of "Memories," "We've Only Just Begun," and other appropriate music.

Among guests, many of whom were meeting the new Mrs. Miles for the first time, were:

Betty Williams, JoAnn Jones, Emma Davis, and Mercedes Chaplin. Dr. Clifton R. Jones, Thelmon Holland, Jr., Algelo Fortunato, Michael Franko, Walter Lucas, Joseph Turner, Fred Collins, Tom Brown, Tal Thompson, Wayne Mumby, Cedric Williams and the Rev. Beverly Hargrove.

Miss Ella B. Wilkes, was hostess to a family reunion held at the Holiday Inn. Rose corsages and boutineers identified family members. It was a glorious occasion.

Guests were: Mrs. Edmora DeLoatch and family from Hampton, Va., Mrs. Wilma L. Nealy and family, Cleveland, N.C.; Mrs. James L. Gaither and family, Salisbury, N.C. and Aaron Anderson Wilkes and family, descendants of deceased, Eleanor Carter Wilkes and William Wilkes.

Other relatives and friends came from Kentucky, North Carolina, Newport News and Hampton, Va., Philadelphia, Pa., Washington, D.C., Northeast, Lothian. Havre de Grace and Baltimore, Md.

Among the Baltimore guests were: Mrs. Juanita Mitchell, and her son, Attorney Michael Bowen Mitchell.

Piano selections were by a nephew William Nealy and soloist, Ralph L. Bowen.

Leroy F. Jackson Jr. (hunky) from Los Angeles, Calif. was here to attend the graduation of his daughter Denise from Walbrook Senior High School. Later, he and his family were guests of his grandmother, Mrs. Jessye N. Valentine at the Hunt Valley Inn.

Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond White, Leroy III, Clarence and Georgia Davis, Ms. Eleanor Purdy, Arthur Valentine, Mrs. Mary Christmas and James J. Valentine.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gray of Federal St. are happy as wish to can be. Their daughter, Lynnell, was graduated from Lake Clifton High School while another, Kim was inducted into the National Honor Society at Dunbar High School.

Miss AFRO-Mall Mall Menthols, Cee Cee Stokes made here last public appearance for the Afro-American and the Tobacco Co. last weekend. Here she is shown with her prize, an original creation from Walburton Pulley's Fall '75 collection. Made of Quiana and ultra-suede, it has three pieces, halter top, jacket and slacks.

WOODLAWN HIGHLIGHTS

Summertime fun

By Marjorie R. Green

One of the proudest mothers in the Social Security Administration is Ardella Lokeman, supervisor in the Bureau of Disability Insurance. Her son Joseph Reid was graduated in the top 5 per cent of his class at Forest Park Senior High School and received eight honor awards.

One of his top prizes is a four-year scholarship to Harvard Under-graduate School. This week he entered Barnard College, an extension of Columbia University for a six-week course in preparation for the medical education he is pursuing.

Josep is just one of four children of Ardelia and James Lokeman. Vernon and Kathi Reid are both students at Towson State College. Kathi, who is in her third year is also working at the Social Security Administration under a collegeship. She works four hours a day.

Jay Lokeman is a third grader at St. Cecelia's.

The family worships at Ebenezer Baptist Church where the Rev. Clarence Poole is pastor. Mrs. Lokeman sings on the church choir and is president of Ebenezer's Willing Workers group. She is president of the Forest Park Parent-Teachers Association and chairperson of the Advisory Council for Region No. 6.

Prior to coming to SSA she worked as a seamstress. Ardelia's husband, James is employed by the Baltimore Contracting Company. They live in the Forest Park area of the city.

There was plenty of food, music and dancing at the kick-off benefit crab feast sponsored by VOSSA's (Volunteers of Social Security) fund-raising committee last Sunday at the S and R Banquet Room.

The volunteers will now get started with the serious business of helping those who cannot help themselves enjoy the summer months of July and August.

There is a cookout scheduled for the Bolton Hill Home next week. Other cookouts will be held at area residential facilities for the physically or mentally ill. There will be at least two cookouts each Saturday.

SSA Volunteers will also be participating in the summer programs of the Urban Services Agency; Youth Services Bureau, and the Department of Social Services. Mrs. Kitty Smith is Volunteer Coordinator at the Woodlawn Headquarters complex.

Theodore McCullum will be acting as Tour Leader on August 16, when a group of Baltimoreans head out California way in a modern air conditioned bus for a sixteen-day holiday. The group will visit the campus of the famed University of Notre Dame and the historic Boys Town before viewing the majestic Rocky Mountains in Denver, Colo.

In Salt Lake City, Utah they will visit the famous Mormon Temple and the Tabernacle. Then on to Reno, Sacramento and San Francisco, the cultural center of the west coast. There they will visit China town.

The ninth day will find them in Los Angeles marveling at the wonders of Disney Land. Las Vegas and Albuquerque are a couple more of the fantastic stops prior to crossing the mighty Mississippi River and heading home.

Anyone interested in joining the group can get information by calling 947-7810.
