For Fall: Look of Orient

NEW YORK — Madame Mori has long been known throughout the world for her magnificent Couture Collections created from updated traditional Japanese silk screen prints and subtle scenic florals inspired by the Mori gardens in Japan.

Not swayed by the rush of many designers to the Chinese look, Madame Mori has created a modern Eastern look. She stands alone in her application of Far Eastern design to today's needs.

At her recent Fall '75 opening on Seventh Ave. New York, the models showing the couture Collection came down the runway in floating silk chiffon dresses that were long and slim with deep kimono sleeves; twin prints—one in silk covered in solid chiffon, the matching print repeated on chiffon made into an intriguing cover-up; marvelous, colorful abstract prints on sheer black; one-piece matte jerseys covered with a layer of silk-screened chiffon ending at the elbows in graceful ruffles; two-piece chiffon prints with voluminous soft skirts and poncho tops.

The whole Collection was elegant, understated and very sophisticated.

To those who expected only elegance from a Mori design, the Boutique Collection came as a surprise and a whole new look at Madame Mori's talent.

Sunday outdoor jazz series

Mayor Schaefer announces that the Bureau of Music will continue its Sunday series of outdoor summer concerts July 20 with Baltimore's Big Band conducted by Gene Walker in War Memorial Plaza, 7 to 9 p.m.

The program scheduled each Sunday evening this summer until Aug. 24 not only will feature the Big Band sound popularized by Count Basie and Stan Kenton, but also will offer modern jazz and selections of contemporary music with a rock beat by composers like Thad Jones and Mel Lewis.

Vocal soloist is Luelia Bright.

Audience seating is provided and there is no admission charge to these concerts.

Booklet on drunken driving out

How alcohol affects vision and, therefore, driving is told in a new pamphlet published by the American Automobile Association's traffic engineering and safety department.

Single copies of the pamphlet are being made available gratis by the Automobile Club of Maryland. Write to the AAA club's special services department, 1401 Mt. Royal Ave, Baltimore, Md. 21217.

She won the bike!

Winner of the Flori Roberts-AFRO-AMERICAN 10-speed ladies' bicycle is Brenda Gibson, 18, June graduate of Edmondson High School who plans to enter Community College of Baltimore in fall majoring in secretarial and office science. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gibson, Jr. of Appleton St. Miss Gibson's lucky coupon was picked by AFRO board chairman, John H. Murphy, III at the drawing held last Friday at the AFRO office. Shown in background are Cynthia Stanton, Flori Roberts cosmetics representative, and Richard Williams, cosmetics buyer at Stewart's.

WEEK'S FOOD ECONOMIES

Ten buying guide tips

Look at the luscious displays of fresh fruits available throughout the summer months and use this Ten Buying Guide Tips for getting value for your money, says Virginia McInnis, Food Economist, Cooperative Extension Service, University of Maryland.

1. Do It Yourself — There is no substitute for your own experience in choosing the right quality of fresh produce for different uses.

2. Don't Pinch, Don't Squeeze — Rough handling while you are selecting them causes spoilage and waste. Such loss to the grocer usually is passed on to the consumer, so your costs go up when you handle carelessly. When you must handle a fruit or vegetable, to learn its quality, use thoughtful care to prevent injury.

3. Don't Buy on Size Alone — Large size pieces are not always the best quality, nor are they always economical. They may be entirely unsuited to the purpose you have in mind.

4. Keep A Lookout for Deterioration — Some products decline rapidly in quality while on display. Frequently such overripe fruit can be bought at a reduced price, but the waste in preparation may offset the price reduction.

5. Don't Buy Just Because of Low Price — Unless the lower price is a result of overabundance of the commodity at the time, the so called bargain may be undesirable.

6. Buy In Season — Quality is usually higher and prices more reasonable when you buy fruits in season.

7. Appearance Isn't Everything — Distinguish between blemishes that affect appearance and those that affect eating quality. Many blemishes can usually be removed in the normal preparation for use.

8. Buy Full Containers — Small fruits are sometimes sold by measure in certain types of containers. Watch for full measure and see that the items are good throughout. When buying by the pound, check the scales to see that you are getting accurate weight.

9. Buy Only What You Need — Never buy more than you can properly refrigerate and use without waste.

10. Study The Market — A knowledge of the supply and prices should aid you in securing value for your money.

thing. Paradise Island has it. The casino gambling tables offer roulette, black jack, and craps plus brigades of slot machines.

Tired but happy you make pour way back home; the mid-summer blahs have ended, and you are happy at last.—Check it out!

Columbia Capers will return the week of the first of August. This columnist and hubby will be vacationing in Miami, Fla. (Biscayne).

Thought for Today

"A loving heart is the truest wisdom." — Charles Dickens

Pineapples should be used promptly after purchase. They do hold for a day or two in the refrigerator — but for best quality, use as soon as possible.
