Lt. Michael Mitchell, 24, slain near Tex. army base

Funeral services for Second Lt. Michael M. Mitchell, 24, 2919 W. Mosher St., were held today (Friday) at the Unity United Methodist Church where he sang on the choir and was active in youth groups.

Relatives told the AFRO Army officials advised them Lt. Mitchell was beaten and shot twice in the back in a cafe in Taylorsville, near Ft. Hood where he was stationed.

Because information about the circumstances of his Sunday death are so sketchy, the family has asked Congressman Parren J. Mitchell to investigate.

The young officer's body was flown to Baltimore on Wednesday to the Vernon Bailey Funeral Home.

A 1969 graduate of Edmondson High School, Lt. Mitchell was commissioned in 1974.

Also while at Morgan he played Lacrosse and football. He belongs to the college art club and was photographer for the Promethen. He belonged to the Tau Alpha Upsilon Fraternity.

After graduation from Morgan ROTC, he was assigned to the 391st Signal Corps.

He was stationed at Fort Gordon, Fort Benning, Ga. and in June, 1975, assigned to Fort Hood.

Born January 6, 1951, in Baltimore, he was the son of Mrs. Tosie Mitchell House and the late Willie B. Mitchell Sr.

Survivors include his mother, stepfather, Elroy House; three sisters, Mrs. Veronica Odum, Mrs. Irene Gillis, Miss Deborah Mitchell.

Also, three brothers, Willie B. Mitchell, Donald Mitchell and Kenneth Mitchell.

And, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Marion (Mozelle) Mitchell.

Burial is in Baltimore National Cemetery.

Killed at Texas base

Mrs. Charles W. White was wife of minister

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia Corlotta Coleman White, 57, 2408 Shirley Ave. were held Thursday evening at the Wilson Park Community Church. 4629 York Road where her husband, the Rev. Charles W. White is pastor.

Mrs. White died Monday in Provident Hospital following a brief illness.

Born in October 19, 1918 in Columbia, S.C., she was brought to Baltimore by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coleman and she attended Dunbar High School.

The Rev. George Baynard of Shiloh Christian Community Church officiated and music was by the Chancel Choir of which she was a member.

Mrs. White was also a member of the Senior Usher Board and secretary of the United Christian Wives Association.

A lover of children, Mrs. White helped rear many children in the community and was a day care mother in her home.

In addition to her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lavline Rankin, Miss Diane White; son, Levi Feldman; 5 grandchildren. 4 great grandchildren; sister Mrs. Isabelle Wilson; two brothers Emmanuel Coleman, Earl Taylor.

Burial is at Arbutus Memorial Park. The Charles A. Rice Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

Two men get life for eggnog chief's murder

Two men who dressed as women at their trial in Criminal Court were each sentenced to life in prison plus 10 years for the murder and armed robbery of Charles Friedenberg, 71, president of the Overbrook Eggnog Corporation.

Given the life sentences were Michael (Lisa) McCree, 21, 200 block N. Calvert St., and Robert (Verna) Dixon, 21, 1700 block N. Calvert St.

John J. (Theresa) Garris, 22, 1600 block Calvert St. received a 4-year sentence for second degree murder and armed robbery of the victim.

Police testified at the trial at the trial that Mr. Friedenberg's deteriorated body was found July 11, 1974 locked in a closet.

His hands were tied behind his back and his ankles tied with cord and a wire around his neck.

Police report Friedenberg apparently picked up the defendants, who were hitch-hiking and dressed as women. Police revealed the victim went with the defendants to the apartment where he was killed.

Police testified Mr. Friedenberg was reported missing from home by his wife.

Conaway sees hatchet job in ouster of Patterson

Frank Conaway, candidate for president of City Council, said Walter Orlinsky served as mayor Schaefer's "hatchet man", in the firing and destruction of Dr. Roland N. Patterson, Baltimore's first black school superintendent.

Conaway charged that Mayor Schaefer and Orlinsky met behind closed doors.

He says Orlinsky was given carte blanche to fabricate charges against Patterson and to supply the school board with these "trumped-up charges."

Proof of the pre-fabricated charges against Patterson were brought to light by Larry Gibson, Patterson's attorney who said "not a single witness was presented to back up several charges."

Conaway further charges that Mayor Schaefer, Orlinsky and members of the school board conspired to drive the highest ranking black school official from state, but what must be understood is that "the Judas of the Political Arena" Orlinsky was the man who did the mayor's "dirty work."

Conaway says Orlinsky not only pre-planned Patterson's destruction but, other high ranking black school officials who surrounded Patterson.

He states, in my eyes Orlinsky has lied to the black community, he has committed a crime, a crime called "perjury."

"But Orlinsky and I will be seeing a lot of each other in the near future and on election day, Sept. 9, the defeat of Orlinsky by the black community will bring an end to Mayor Schaefer's "hatchet man."

Sports moms encourage their sons

By Greg Logan

Mrs. Marie Henson and Mrs. Barabra Robertson are two "sports mothers" whose sons play in the James Mosher Little League.

What are sports mothers? They are women who attend coming out to a game and to give their sons a little encouragement.

"I don't really think parents interfere too much in little league," says Mrs Henson, "I don't think though, that they show a lot of enthusiasm."

Mrs. Henson was at the Mosher and Wheeler Park one afternoon watching her son, Howard, who plays for the Dodgers, compete in the game against the Pirates. She has nothing but words of praise for the boy's coach, William Richardson.

"He teaches them (the young players) to be good losers and good winners at the same time," she says.

Mrs. Robertson, who was there watching her son play for the Orioles in a contest against the Tigers, got interested in the Mosher Little League when she discovered that her neighbor, Donald Smith, was the Orioles' coach.

She wants her son, Michael, to continue playing baseball, at a higher level, and is an advocate of a little league softball program for girls.

Both are satisfied with the registration fee that they had to pay.

"I expected to be paying much more," says Mrs. Robertson. "Boys need a program like this, anyway. It gives them something to do during a long, hot summer, and it makes men out of them."

Glen Arden mayor dies of heat in his auto; Masonic rites Aug. 2

By Elizabeth M. Oliver

Masonic rites will be held Saturday Aug. 2, 11 a.m. at the First Baptist Church, Glen Arden, Md. for James R. Cousins Jr., a deacon, who was mayor of the town 30 years.

Mr. Cousins, age 67, a 32rd degree Mason and member of the Fairmount Lodge No. 9, died unexpectedly Thursday as he sat in his car outside the church.

His wife of 47 years, Mrs. Ethel Lee Cousins, told the AFRO the cause of death seems to have been the heat as temperatures rose to 101 degrees in the Prince George's County town.

Mrs. Cousins said her husband had just addressed the Maryland Baptist State Convention capacity audience at the church.

She said he went outside, got in his car and was found slumped over the wheel about 4:30 p.m.

After arrival of an ambulance, the physician and crew worked on bystanders of Baltimore clergy, officials and members were present at the all-day statewide convention with the Rev. J. W. Johnson, pastor and congregation as hosts.

Mr. Cousins will be buried in the Maryland National Cemetery, formerly Carver Cemetery, Laurel, Md. The Sam Butler Funeral Home in Glen Arden is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mr. Cousins was born in Washington, April 29, 1908. His mother, Mrs. Luvenia Cousins, residing at his home in Glen Arden, survives.

In addition to his wife and mother, also surviving are two sons, James Cousins III, a Lanham, Md. electrical engineer and Lemuel W. Cousins, a Seat Pleasant, Md. teacher; seven sisters, two brothers and nine grandchildren.

Mr. Cousins is credited with building up the Glen Arden town of predominately black citizens, during his three decades as mayor.

As he talked at the convention, he revealed plans to retire in 1976.

A 33-year employee of the D.C. Naval Yard, Mr. Cousins retired in 1965 and became a member of the Prince George's County Housing Authority.

He held that post at death and was chairman of the Municipal League; moderator of the Southern Baptist Association and assistant director of the Glen Arden Urban Renewal Program.

FRANK M. CONAWAY

Conaway gets death threat

City Council presidential candidate Frank M. Conaway, Gary Hyman and John Gallagher are the lives have been threatened.

Mr. Conaway told the AFRO the police came to his office Wednesday and stated his "life has been threatened and he should take it seriously." Conaway said the police would not tell him how they got the information.

He has been given police protection and states, would not have taken this as serious but the other two candidates have been threatened.

He would believe that an assassination plot like this could happen in Mississippi, but not in Baltimore.

"I am staying in the race because I am a proud black and the only black left in the race. I will not be threatened by any racist who would commit murder to see that Orlinsky wins."
