Masons hit snub by Mayor, talk weather, Parren

By Greg Logan

Some 800 delegates from the U.S. and abroad have been at the Baltimore Hilton this week for the 37th Biennial Session of the General Grand Masonic Congress of the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, and the 36th Biennial of the sister group, the Order of Eastern Stars of the Adoptive Rite.

Present at the six day convention, which ended today (Friday), were persons from Canada, the U.S., England, the Bahamas, and the West Indies.

Approximately 300 Masons and 500 Eastern Stars attended. The men wore jewelled collars colorful badges and some aprons with their dark suits or tuxedos. The woman, in white, complete with white fezzes, also wore handsome collars and insignias.

This AFRO reporter was assigned to visit the convention site and talk with visitors to find out what they thought about our city.

Several visitors immediately expressed disappointment they had not been greeted personally by the city's mayor, William Donald Schaefer, who sent a representative.

For example Robert Blue, a 32° Mason from New Orleans, complained, "I enjoyed myself very much, but in New Orleans, the Mayor would have come personally to the conference and presented us with the key to the city. How did he ever get elected anyway?"

"He's not worthy of a leadership position if he's not willing to come out and greet a large congregation of people such as this," commented James Hatton of Gary, Ind.

Willie Clifton of Kanapolis, N.C., declared, "With a great organization like this, his absence was sort of a letdown. If he had shown up, it sure would have boosted my ego."

Patrick Hickson, a native Canadian from Quebec, stated, "His (Schaefer's) excuses are not acceptable."

Elzie M. Williams, who is Grand Master of the M.W. Zerubbabel Grand Lodge for Maryland, summed up the feeling about the Mayor's snub, when he observed.

"The feeling is unanimous. This is the first time that no elected official has come to greet us personally."

Delegates from the U.S. come from the Carolinas, Mississippi, Illinois, Louisiana, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio, Washington, D.C., Texas, Virginia, Maryland, and Florida.

They had glowing words of praise for Congressman Parren J. Mit hell, who addressed the delegates.

"People like him," continued Mr. Blue, "are 99 and 44 one-hundreths per cent pure, because they are not afraid to say what they feel."

Quincy Williams, who has been a Mason for 26 years and works for General Motors in Pennsylvania, called Congressman Mitchell, "an all right powerful Congressman."

The foreign delegates said they were most impressed with the downtown Charles Center area, where the Hilton is located.

"The only sorrow I feel, "said Sylbert Dennis of Trinidad, "is that we have to leave, because it is really beautiful. I wish I could stay longer.

Mrs. Fredericka Butler of Nassau, who has been an Eastern Star for 10 years, stated," I like Baltimore very much, except for this heat. It's much more humid here than in Nassau."

Their American counterparts, however, did not seem to share their enthusiasm for Baltimore city.

For example, Ms. Sandra Penner of New York, stated "Baltimore is alright, although I really haven't seen much of the city because I don't know my way around."

Ms. Leola Newell of Natchez, Miss., was blunt: "I don't like it. (Baltimore)"

Ms. Mary Hendon, an Eastern Star from Chicago, complained that "the people here are not very friendly."

In his remarks, Congressman Mitchell told the delegates:

"Let us not get so caught up in measuring our progress that we think the struggle is over. Let us dream dreams and revel in those dreams, but let us live our day to day lives aware of the harsh realities ... aware that as black people we have neither economic nor political parity, aware that racism is not ended, it is not dead, it has simply changed its weapons and tactics.

"We all know that this country is caught up in a major reces-

Hints For Homemakers

INEZ KAISER

I can always plan on friends visiting us during the summer. Some bring their grandchildren along, especially when we're staying at our Ozark home by the lake.

AIM FOR YOUR TEETH

AIM toothpaste is always available at both of our houses. AIM is one sure way to win the children over. It also helps to insure a peaceful visit.

The young ones really like its great taste and AIM's blue gel spreads its taste faster than most toothpastes. It really does taste good. That's the big reason why kids may like to brush longer.

Aim

AIM's contents are specially designed for young ones to use during the cavity-prone years, especially those between the ages of six and twelve. AIM contains just the precise amount of stannous fluoride recommended by dental authorities, and it is low in abrasion.

It has been a long time since I had a small child, but I still recall the importance for young ones to brush their teeth to help fight cavities. AIM is an investment that helps make children want to brush.

"all" TO THE RESCUE

Now that summer is in full swing we can look forward to vacations, family cookouts, outdoor gardening or just relaxing at home. Over the years I have found a number of shortcuts which allow me more time to spend with my family and friends in leisure activities.

For example, I am continually amazed at the many times CONCENTRATED "all" has come to my rescue. The other day we had a barbecue on the patio. The grill had not been used since last summer and was filled with grease and grime, so my husband Richard tackled the job of cleaning it.

all

By the time he finished, I thought the new slacks he had received for his birthday would never be clean again. In his haste to clean the grill he had neglected to put on an apron.

But CONCENTRATED "all" with bleach, borax and brighteners saved the day again! It worked wonders on the greasy stains. And, as always, the whole wash was clean, too.

"all" tackles tough jobs without pre-soaking. You can take my word for it: "all" will not only remove summer cookout grease spots, but it will get your whole wash clean.

DOVE CARES FOR YOUR FACE

When we think of summer, our thoughts turn to the outdoors and time in the sun. It's also a time when you should really be concerned about the possibility of drying out your skin.

Normally, your face is the most affected area of your body at this time of the year. You should use extra precaution to give it that needed care during the warm weather.

Dove

A daily facial can help a lot. It will remove dirt and perspiration and keep the pores of your face clean. DOVE beauty bar makes it possible to wash one's face without worrying about the dryness that soap may cause.

DOVE does a fantastic job of cleaning your pores. With its one-quarter cleansing cream content it helps to reassure you about the texture of your skin.

DOVE helps moisturize your skin and its smooth lather leaves the skin feeling soft and smooth.

So try using DOVE beauty bar. You, too, will be willing to give a testimonial to your friends.

DOVE'S FOR DISHES AND KIND TO YOUR HANDS

The name DOVE is familiar in many households—as a beauty aid and as a dishwashing detergent as well. DOVE LIQUID is mild to your hands.

DOVE cleans dishes well, and leaves them sparkling. There is no need to wonder if it will cut grease or remove foodstuff from dishes: it really works.

For years women have been concerned about washing dishes. Much of their anxiety has come because they were concerned about red, rough irritated hands from so much dishwashing.

DOVE LIQUID helps that problem.

Its mildness provides an important bonus by being so kind to your hands.

No wonder the makers of this dishwashing miracle tell us the more you wash dishes, the more you need DOVE LIQUID.

The reason is obvious. DOVE helps to leave your hands soft and smooth. It matters not how many times or how often you put your hands in dishwater, the results are the same.

So the next time you buy a dishwashing detergent, reach out for DOVE LIQUID. From that day forward, you'll find yourself extending that hand with more and more self-assurance.

Cutting boards, wood utensils and wooden work surfaces need special treatment to keep spoilage bacteria under control. Scrape surfaces if necessary; scrub with soapy water and rinse well with boiling water. Then disinfect clean surfaces in a liquid chlorine disinfectant — household laundry bleach — will do the job.

Be alert for signs of spoilage in canned meats. Bulging jar lids or rings, gas bubbles, leaks, bulging can ends — these may mean the seal was broken and the meat has spoiled. (You may test a can by pressing the ends: ends should not bulge or snap back).
