ONE HAS INDOOR PLAYGROUND

4 new elementary schools

The Baltimore public schools will offer four new facilities to an expected 92,000 elementary pupils when door open Sept. 4.

Located in various sections of the city, the schools in total will provide a 4,900 student capacity.

Harford Heights No. 6 was built at a cost of $7 million at North Ave. and Broadway and is the largest elementary facility in the city.

The two-story structure is equipped with an auditorium, a cafeteria, gymnasium and media center, and has open classrooms rather than self-contained spaces. It holds up to 2,500 students.

Although, Highlandtown No. 215 was built on a "tight spot" at the corner of Clinton and Pratt Sts., the building is quite unique with its playground situated inside the buiiding

The four-level school, costing nearly $2 million has a gymnasium and media center and 700 pupils occupancy.

Built at an estimated $2.3 million, William Paca No. 83, was completed by the "fast track" method in less than two years.

It was designed and constructed simultaneously.

A gymnasium, media center and a full-service kitchen are featured in the three-level facility which holds 850 students.

Housing kindergarden to upper level youngsters, each age group is sectioned on different levels.

Federal Hill No. 45, located at William and Grindall Sts. is a two-story building with a full-service cafeteria, gymnasium, and media center.

The $2.5 million school holds 850 pupils and has an attached recreation center for community use.

Sabra
Montgomery Ward's Junior Reflections Department has a full line of coordinates to offer.
Sabra selected a hunter green flared skirt topped by a matching short sleeve jacket worn over a landscape print blouse since the layered look continues to be a popular fashion trend.
The perfect outerwear to match is the classic wool camel coat from Montgomery Ward's Womens Fashion Department-one of the many fantastic coats that Montgomery Ward features for Winter 1975.

Morgan U has financial aid available

Certain categories of financial aid are available to students entering or continuing the 1975/76 academic year.

While funding is not unlimited, those students in need of assistance for the coming Fall or those who plan second semester entry are encouraged to seek aid through available programs.

* * *

Any student in need of aid who has not yet sought same is requested to make application for the Basic Grant at the earliest possible time, whether for first or second semester entry.

Basic Grant applications may be secured through high schools, libraries and colleges.

The Financial Aid Office at Morgan will be pleased to mail a grant application to any student on request. One caution on this program however, is that students with any post-secondary education prior to April, 1973 will not be eligible for grants this year.

Maximum awards are $1,400.

Work / Study Program opportunities were recently improved by an approximate 22 per cent increase in funding level.

* * *

The University anticipates being able to place any eligible student seeking employment as a form of aid.

Work/Study funding is considered relatively adequate and it is expected that students will be permitted to work up to 20 hours per week throughout the school year.

Applications and required Student Financial Statements are available through the Morgan Financial Aid Office.
