Madison Ave. YW community meet

Community-member meetings, open to the community and to members of the YWCA (Young Women's Christian Association) and to representatives of the many outside organizations which regularly use the facilities, will be held at 1912 Madison Ave. on Sept. 3, 7 p.m. and Sept. 6, 2:30 p.m. Purpose of the meetings is to tap the opinion of the community about whether the YWCA should continue to present programs at 1912 Madison Ave. Input from the community is desired so that a report can be presented to the Metropolitan Board of Directors.

The Madison Avenue YWCA has played an important role in the comunity in terms of social action, recreational activities and as a locus for the encouragement of the black women's club movement. However, the decline in membership and the under-utilization of many rooms on the third and fourth floors now threaten the continued existence of YWCA activities at this location.

Therefore, money and membership will be discussed at these meetings. Specific fund raising plans will be presented. The need for YWCA members to increase their support of the Madison Avenue Center and to bring in new members will be discussed.

Agenda for the two meetings will be the same. Scheduling of two meetings is silely to offer a choice of times to attend and to make attendance possible for the maximum number of persons.

All who are members of the Madison Avenue YWCA Center, all who use the facility, all who have fond memories of it or who have some opinion about the contribution of the Madison Avenue YWCA to the Baltimore community, are urged to attend one of these meetings.

For information the number to call is 669-1381, the Madison Avenue Center of the YWCA.
