National Neighbors set regional confab

The National Neighbors' Regional Conference will be held Sept. 19-21 at the Central YWCA, 128 West Franklin St. National Neighbors' members from surrounding communities have planned a combination work, study share and fun weekend that deliberately coincides with City Fair activities.

National Neighbors' main efforts are toward the development and retention of integrated neighborhoods.

The conference theme is "Rx for Government, Organizations and Citizens working Toward Achievement of Good Neighborhoods." Registration is at 6:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 19.

Speakers include Jean and Morris Milgram, George Laurent, Don Miller, Father Vincent Quayle of St. Ambrose Housing Aid Center, Warren Hobbs, SSA Housing Officer and Garrett McCrea, Baltimore City Board of Education.

"The Boston Tea Party," an improvisational theatre group, will present an evening of improvised "history" in honor of the Bicentennial at the College of Notre Dame of Maryland on North Charles St. Sept. 24.

The program, billed as a "conspiracy of music, humor and insight," will begin at 8:15 p.m. in Le Clerc Hall. "Tea Party" depends on the audience for suggested material and spontaneously develops it into a comedy situation. Tickets are $2.50 each (student rate is $1) and may be reserved by calling the director of student activities at 435-0100.

The play is one of five events scheduled in Notre Dame's lecture and performing arts series.

United Fund campaign goes to the schools

The United Fund-CICHA Campaign — The United Way of Central Maryland — kicked off Wednesday. Thanks to the dedicated efforts of an attractive black woman, the campaign is already anticipating its most successful year with employees of the Baltimore City Schools.

Ms. Dorothy Gaskins, a resident of Windsor Hills and a United Fund-CICHA professional, has personally taken the "Fair Share" message to over 125 of the 231 city schools.

"This is the first year we've been able to work closely with the schools," points out Ms. Gaskins. "We're talking with every principal to get his or her support and to help us set up a campaign in each school."

Working with Ms. Gaskins in meeting this tremendous goal is Mrs. Ruth Pratt, senior education officer to the superintendent of schools.

"Mrs. Pratt has been fantastic," comments Ms. Gaskins. "Her dynamic personality and her willingness to attend our training sessions and other meetings has been of great value in attaining the success we've seen to date."

And success is what Ms. Gaskins has experienced with the schools thus far.

Sixty of the 125 schools visited have scheduled campaign kick offs. All the rest have said they will conduct a campaign and are now planning their kick offs.

BEEF COOKING DEFINITIONS FOR TODAY

BARBECUE has become slang for anything with seasoned sauce. It used to mean cook directly over/under heat and baste with sauce.

BRAISE means brown in a little fat, then cook covered slowly in little liquid. BROIL means no pan between meat and heat. To ROAST, cook uncovered with dry heat.

Today you never just FRY — you "deep fry" in a lot of fat or "pan fry" in a little. To SAUTE, brown (or cook) in a little very hot fat. Pat meat dry first and don't crowd. To SEAR, brown surface with brief high heat.

PAN BROIL is uncovered "fry panning", pouring off fat as you go. To PARBOIL or PRECOOK, simmer a bit before other cooking.

SIMMER means cook in liquid so bubbles form slowly and break below surface. A boil is fast bubble — don't do it to beef. STEW means simmer seared pieces in liquid to cover.

Tele-teaching helps pupils out of class

For Baltimore city public school students in grades four through nine scheduled to be out of school two or more months due to illness or injury, enrollment in tele-class is a method for keeping up with school work during the period of absence.

Students in tele-class are provided with head-set telephones which allow them to communicate with their teacher and classmates. The teacher in the program uses a conference unit that gives the necessary flexibility in teaching within this structure.

* * *

The concept is engineered so that the teacher may work with individuals, in small groups, or with the entire class.

The versatility of the equipment allows part of the class to work together or independently while the teacher works withother students. The class size is seldom larger than fifteen students.

Major subject areas are included in tele-classes, and indivisual instruction is provided for language and mathematics. The tele-teacher visits the students at home each week to review progress and provide an necessary materials and equipment. Between visits, papers, maps and worksheets are sent to the students through the mail.

Students on tele-teaching make good education progress and have a positive attitude toward the department, the classmates and school in general. It has been found that the parents appreciate the service and make every effort to provide a good educational environment in the home.

Ford to send Pearl, Rocky

LOS ANGELES (UPI) -- Pearl Bailey, currently starring in the musical "Hello Dolly," will fly to London with Vice President Nelson Rockefeller to participate in the opening of the Franklin-Jefferson Bicentennial Exposition there.

Centennial affair will honor Carroll

On Sept. 30 the Baltimore Museum of Art will open a major Bicentennial exhibition entitled, "Anywhere So Long As There Be Freedom: Charles Carroll of Carrollton, His Family and His Maryland."

Funded, in part, by the National Endowment for the Arts, the exhibit will attract visitors from this country and Europe making it not only an important local but national Bicentennial event as well.

The exhibit will run through Nov. 30, and there will be numerous special events in association with it.

This long overdue tribute is being organized as a major exhibition by The Baltimore Museum of Art, in conjunction with the Maryland Historical Society and the Peale Museum. This exhibition will provide a showcase for portraits of Carroll and his family and will evoke the eras in which several generations of the family lived.

Major lenders to the exhibition, which will have 90 major pieces, include H. M. Queen Elizabeth II, the eighth Duke of Wellington, the Wellington Museum of London, the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, the Historic Properties Commission of the State of Maryland, the Maryland Archives, Georgetown University, Yale University, Paul Mellon, and lenders in the State of Maryland, many of who are direct descendants of the Revolutionary generation.

Further information concerning the exhibit may be obtained by calling the museum at 396-7100.
