

same by measure in any quantity not less than one pint, in accordance with the license issued under the provisions of this sub-title of this article, which liquor thus sold by measure shall not be allowed by said storekeeper to be used on his premises.

1876, ch. 146.

138. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of the preceding section shall, upon indictment and conviction thereof, be fined not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars for the first offence, and for each offence thereafter he shall be fined as above directed, and also be imprisoned not less than ten nor more than thirty days in the county jail, and his license may be suppressed at the discretion of the court.

Ibid.

139. No apothecary or druggist in said county shall sell, barter or keep on his premises, except for the private use of himself and his family, any spirituous liquor, wine, ale, beer, schnapps or any article used and sold as a beverage in the composition or compounding of which, whisky, brandy, high wines, or any spirituous or fermented liquors shall be the principal ingredient; and any apothecary or druggist so doing, shall, upon indictment and conviction thereof, be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred dollars; but nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent said druggist from keeping and using alcohol as a solvent for drugs, when such solutions are not to be used as a beverage.

Ibid.

140. Any person who shall sell or barter any intoxicating, spirituous or fermented liquor, without first having obtained a license, as required by this sub-title of this article, shall, upon indictment and conviction thereof, be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than three hundred dollars; and it shall be the duty of any justice of the peace, upon information received and confirmed by the oath of a credible witness, to have any person so offending, arrested and committed to the county jail, unless he shall give sufficient bail or recognizance, with sureties, to appear before the circuit court at the next succeeding term thereof, to answer the charge.
