What's happening in the schools

The Parent Teacher Student Association of the Hampstead Hill Jr. High will meet Tuesday, Feb. 10, at 7:30 p.m.

• •

Following the business meeting, the school band, the choir and the modern dance group will perform. After the program, parents will have the opportunity to confer with their children's teachers. Counselors, librarians, and administrators will also be available for conferences.

Prior to the meeting, the PTSA will hold a Bake Sale in the lobby by the auditorium.

Some 272 students from Northern High School were honored recently for having perfect attendance records for the first quarter of the 1975-76 school year.

"Attendance is much improved over last year due in large measure to a new policy of allowing 10 absences per class," explained Ms. Mamie B. Williams, attendance coordinator.

Ms. Williams said after the students collect 10 absences they receive an automatic grade of 55 except under extenuating circumstances.

Parents are teachers at Mount Washington Elementary School.

Every Wednesday through January, in a program called Wonderful Wednesday, club meetings were held during the afternoons conducted by volunteer parents working with teachers. Students had the opportunity to sample such unique subject areas as Spanish and French, Japanese Culture, ballet, knitting and puppetry. One remaining "mini-mester" meeting remains on the schedule; a final assembly where the fifteen clubs will individually present what they have accomplished.

The parents also provided a baby-sitting service for those in the program. Principal Mrs. Elizabeth Monocrusos was elated that the school had the opportunity to work in small groups with children who were delighted with this activity.

The program was successful she said because "the parents were talented, well-organized and well-prepared. This was a project made possible because of good positive parent involvement. Ours is a beautiful community with a wide variety of interests and we are very fortunate to have parents so involved in our school," she enthused.

What kinds of foods were prepared in colonial times?

As part of a unique series of monthly Bicentennial activities, Gwynns Falls Elementary School held a Bicentennial tasting party Thursday to give participants the oportunity to prepare and try an unusual assortment of dishes made from colonial recipes researched by students.

Fifth grade teacher Ms. Pamela Heady said the party was one of many planned by the school's Bicentennial Activities Committee headed by Mrs. Peal Dashiells, and that some of the foods being prepared included Indian stew, fruit shrub drink, butternut cake and corn muffins.
