Annette Holt, teaches ballet classes

Annette C. Holt, renowned dancer, will be conducting ballet classes under the auspices of the Urban Services Cultural Arts Project at the Performing Arts Center, Gilmor and Baker Sts.

Miss Holt, who recently returned from a three-year stay in her native England where she taught ballet at the U.S. Air Force Base, has an impressive list of accomplishments to her credit.

Her professional endeavors have included a starring role in the London West End production of "Hello Dolly", and a successful dancing stint with the British Broadcasting T.V. Company.

Friday classes are scheduled for beginners, intermediates and advanced students from ages 6 to adult. Auditions and interviews will be held through Feb. 19 on Fridays only, 3-6 p.m. at the Performing Arts Center.

Norman E. Ross is the director of the Cultural Arts Project. For more information call 523-2107 or 276-4646.

Catonsville Notes

... by Liz Williams

Sympathy cards to Joan (Hutzler) Freeman of Leewood Ave. who recently buried her mother.

Thinking-of-you cards to our known sick and shut-in in the Catonsville community: Mrs. Sally Nelson, Shangri-La Nursing Home, Harlem Lane; Mrs. Agnes Allen, Dukeland Nursing Home, N. Dukeland St.; Mrs. Grace Steward, at home on Winters Lane;

Also, to Mrs. Beulah Washington, Provident Hospital; Mrs. Janie Randal, University Hospital; Alexander Williams Sr., St. Agnes Hospital; the Rev. Douglass Coates, pastor of The Full Gospel Tabernacle; James Bennett, St. Agnes Hospital and to Mrs. Helen Kent, Johns Hopkins.

Before we know it, graduation time will soon be here and many more of the young people in our community will be continuing their education in many areas. I will let you know about these young people as soon as the news gets to me.

At this time I know that Patricia Boston, the daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Boston, hopes to enter the Peabody in the fall. Pat is now a senior at Catonsville Senior High School.

Judy Barber has just returned from a visit to the University of Dayton, Dayton, Ohio. She is very interested in its criminal justice program. She will graduate from Villa Julie in June. Her brother, William ("Brother") Barber Jr., is a senior at Catonsville High School and hopes to enter the University of Maryland-Baltimore County in the fall.

Their sister, Carol, is a student at Catonsville Community College. How time does fly. It seems as though it was only yesterday when these kids were in grade school.

If you know of other young people who will graduate in June, let this column know. Also include what their plans are for the future.

We really have to be proud of our young people who really want to make it and a special salute to you wonderful parents who are hanging right in there with your kids.

It is not easy to send a child to college these days with tuition being what it is, and it is going to continue to increase. You can forget those figures that you planned on twenty years ago.

Catchin' up with the news: With so many things happening around the recent Christmas holiday, this column failed to mention that the Optimers provided their usual cheer to the community.

Members were very generous with their donations of food.

Neighbors contributed food to the basket that was placed in Hawthorne Brooks' store. Jahie Peguese asked for and got a turkey from Pantry Pride (Westview). The total collection was 125 pounds of foodstuff. The basket was given to the Maryland Children's Aid and Family Service in the Catonsville area.

Wilnet Bristow was chairperson of the committee.

Congratulations, ladies,

This was a week filled with reminders of how swiftly time is moving for some of us.

It started when I bumped into my former coworker, Shirley Thornton and her daughter in a local shopping center. It was quite a shock to see that Shirley's baby girl had grown into a very lovely young woman. I hadn't quite recovered from that shock before a voice behind me asked "Miss Margie, don't you remember me?" It was Rae Hillen's daughter, Paula. Yes, I remembered Paula but I remembered her a chubby little girl, and that chubby little girl had grown to be an attractive young mother.

Old Father Time was still shadowing me on Monday morning when I entered the Federal Building to attend the Management and Career Seminar about women given by the Civil Service Commission. Sitting across the table from me was Janet L. Jackson, Bureau of Disability Clerk.

Janet is the daughter of my old friends Albert and Louise Jackson, SSA. She was in the Edmondson High School Class of 67. She started working six years ago and has set high goals towards the field of management. Janet is the mother of two boys, Roy, age 3 and Glen, age 7.

January 23 proved to be an evening of fun, food, spirits and hospitality when the International Optimist president, Pat (Mary) Grady was honored. The affair held at Blue Crest North. Cocktail hour began at 6:30 and fun continued during the evening with hot hors d'oeuvres, dinner, a program, open bar and dancing.

Charles Diggs and Ted Bristow were in charge of the members of the Banneker Optimist group.

Plans are underway to select a member for the Optimist of the Year Plaque. This award will be given to the most outstanding member, based on contributions and participation in the club's fund raising, youth and community service projects.

There will also be a Testimonial of Appreciation Plaque to the runner-up. Awards will go to members with perfect attendance at monthly meetings.

It would be so encouraging to this group if the community would continue to support them with their projects, especially those dealing with the youth. There are many ways in which you can help. Call one of the members and find out what you can do to assist.

Congratulations to the John (Cleaver) Poags who have become grandparents for the second time. Ronald Clayton Perry, the new arrival, weighed 8 lbs. at birth. His parents, Rod (NaRonna) Perry, Hollywood, Calif. The Perrys have one other child.

Last Saturday, family and friends dropped in to wish Margaret (Thomas) Flemming happy birthday. You can imagine what a good time they had when Margaret had just her family around without the friends. She is one of 13 children, 9 girls and 4 boys and all are living.

They reside in the Baltimore-Catonsville area with the exception of 2 sisters, 1 living in Maine and the other in New York City. Margaret and Thomas are the parents of 4 children.

Their oldest boy, Peyton, met with a tragic drowning accident several years ago. Margaret's maiden name was Bailey and the family grew up in St. Pius Prish and attended school there.

The Pacesetters at Mt. Olivet United Methodist Church are sponsoring a Song Festival on February 15 in observance of their first anniversary. There will be several singing groups participating.

Let us join this fine group in celebrating their first anniversary. Congratulations to you and may you continue your good works in your church and in the community.

I came across his unusual definition of a friend and would like to share it with you.

A friend is one to whom one may pour out all the contents of one's heart.

Chaff and grain together,
Knowing that the gentlest of hands will take and sift it,
Keep what is worth keeping,
And with a breath of kindness, blow the rest away.

Creativity workshop at YWCA -Woodlawn

Bernice Lewis, poet, teacher of dramatics to Children leader who has training in group dynamics, has embarked upon a new venture in the YWCA at 1912 Madison Ave.

Mrs. Lewis will conduct a "Creativity Workshop" on Feb. 21 from noon to 2 p.m. Participants, who can be any age, will be given an opportunity for creative expression in music, drama, rhythm, poetry, oral expression, speech dynamics and crayon design.

Using group dynamics theory, Mrs. Lewis will arrange the session to help free this creative expression. Ideas and feelings will be freed and techniques will be spelled out.

Participants must register by Jan. 31.

Mrs. Lewis, who holds a masters' degree in education from Johns Hopkins University, a master's equivalent from New York University, and has receive training in human relations and group dynamics, has taught "Dramatic Express on" classes for children on Saturdays at the Madison Ave. Y for several years.

In addition, she is a consultant to the Board of Education, singer, writer and choir director. She conducts a choral singing club at the YWCA on Saturdays where popular, folk, and religious music are sung and voice training, harmony and solo work are encouraged.

She will also teach six sessions of hand writing and four sessions of a crafts workshop at the YWCA.

Persons wishing to enroll in the creativity workshop, or any of the above mentioned courses should call the YWCA, 669-1881.

cessful tea and fashion show that featured the popular KLW's and Trinity's first lady, Mrs. Marie Wood, who received loud applause when she made a surprise appearance in the fashion show. Sharing the spotlight with the ladies was talented Harold Brightful, who looked oh so very handsome in his fantastic wardrobe designed by Tom Robinson.

The most pleasing surprise of the day was seeing Katherine "Kitty" Phillips in the audience. Katherine is a former Bureau of Data Processing employee. She entered on duty at the old Candler building on St. Patricks Day, 1942, and retired from the Social Security Administration in October, 1969 because of poor health.

Since then she has spent most of her time being a housewife and companion to her husband Daniel, who is a retired postal employee. Both are active at Trinity AME Church where she is a member of the "Daughters of Allen." Reverend Willie K. Wood is pastor of the church.

"I have come to see you as willing to accept an accountable responsibility after an accountable responsibility — with a seeming, boundless energy for pursing the paths required by the goodness of excellence in scholarship in teaching and in administration."

He was among those persons named to the AFRO's 1974 Honor Roll announced in December. The AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers presented Dr. Fraser with its Honor Roll plaque. The coveted plaque was presented by Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy Moss, vice-president-publisher, and her son, Benjamin Murphy Phillips, a recent graduate of Morgan. Mr. Phillips read the honor roll citation.

Dr. Kenneth F. Jenkins, professor of Science Education, Morgan, called Fraser "a towering image of success" an excerpt from a National Science Teachers Association's report.

Throughout the program, Dr. Fraser's wife, Mrs. Marie Fraser shared the enthusiasm carried out during the evening.

Mrs. Fraser is known in the field of education having received the National Outstanding Teacher of the Year Award in 1973.

Dr. Thelma P. Bando, associate dean, Student Services at Morgan, presented a sterling silver tea service set from the Morgan family.

Lastly, members of the Walbrook Trinity Presbyterian Church cited Fraser for exemplified Christ-like living in his relationship with others," and presented him a plaque.

Finally, when all of the speakers had given accolades, Dr. Fraser took the podium. His remarks were eloquent and brief, although he did rehash his early days Morgan.

He concluded by saying: "This testimony is in a real sense a tribute to Morgan. Thank you for honoring me for the work that I enjoyed doing so very much.

The Fraser testimonial was a history-making event. Presidents from six state colleges were present, namely Dr. Calvin Burnett, Coppin; Dr. Harry Bard, Community College of Baltimore; Dr. Samuel Myers, Bowie; Dr. Macambe Turner, University of Baltimore; Dr. James Fisher, Towson, and Dr. Billingsly, Morgan.

In addition, Dr. and Mrs Herman Branson, longtime friends of the Frasers, were present. He is president of Lincoln University (Pa.;) Mrs. Dwight Oliver Wendell Holmes, widow of former Morgan president; Dr. John Crew, interim superintendent of Baltimore Public Schools; Dr. Luna Mishoe, president, Delaware state.

Special tables were reserved for Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Science Education Department at Morgan; National Science Foundation, Morgan Administration, Public School Officials and Administration;

Also, Walbrook Trinity Presbyterian Church, Board of Trustees, Morgan State University and Md. Colleges and Universities; MSU Alumni Office, Morgan State University Women, Wheeler Block (the Frasers live on Wheeler Ave.); Classes of '51-'53, and Sigma Phi Alpha Fraternity Houle.

Immediate family members present were their daughter, Mrs. Delores Fraser Cove of Philadelphia and her son, Monroe Barrick Jr., a junior at Temple University; William Fraser Martin of D.C., son of the late Mrs. Stephanie Fraser Martin, their daughter; and her husband, William D. Martin; Steven C. Fraser, Los Angeles, Calif. son of the late Rev. Thomas P. Fraser, III, their son.
