Ever have a week when so much has transpired — literally something new everyday — that you just cannot wait for the week to end I recall receiving a letter from a friend on stationery which read: "Hang on baby, Friday's comin."

Sure wish I could find some of that paper!

Whoever said you see the same faces at social functions could not have made a more untrue statement. For last Friday night, this writer was in the company of the 450 odd men of the Medina Temple No. 1 and their 1,250 guests who came out to support the annual Shriner's Charity Ball at Martin's West.

It was a lively affair; we danced to the vibes of "Saturday," a soul-stirring, integrated band, while having the distinct opportunity of seeing some faces which were new to this writer.

For example, Frank Johnson, who is the current potentate of Medinah Temple, chairman of the affair; William Dames, grand master from the state of New York, and the Rev. Porter Phillips, who is the new pastor of Enon Baptist Church. The list is extensive . . . many new acquaintances were made that evening.

Proceeds from the Ball go to various charities, including the AFRO's Mrs. Santa and Clean Block campaign and the Anna Mae Hunter Foundation.

On Sunday the Association of Black Media Workers, Inc., a group of local journalists, photographers, producers, directors, editors and personnel, hosted a cocktail sip in the ballroom of the McKeldin College Center at Morgan State University.

Some 200 guests attended the gathering, where the renowned Philadelphia Inquirer columnist Chuck Stone (he's a former AFRO writer) gave remarks. Dewayne Wickham, a reporter for a local daily newspaper, who also wears the hat of president of BMW, extended greetings.

A slide presentation showing some of the members at work was an additional highlight.

The Association was organized last April and already has nearly 40 members. Plans are being finalized for a communications seminar/workshop, awards banquet, TV show and a summer school program.

Tonight, Friday, our camera will be at the annual Mardi Gras sponsored by that dynamic group of black men, Omega Psi Phi, Fraternity.

The yearly costume ball will be at Martin's West; it will begin around 10 and windup at 2 in the morning. You'll be able to read about the Mardi Gras in this space next Friday.

Tomorrow, Saturday, Mrs. Vivian Cook retired educator and co-founder of the Philomathians will host the monthly meeting of the group at the Sheraton Inn.

Members are hopeful that the hostess will be there; Mrs. Cook has been under the weather for the past several months and has been unable to attend meetings.

"Women Who Helped Make the AFRO" is this month's topic and will be presented by the Vice President-Publisher, Elizabeth Murphy Moss and the Vice - President - General Manager Ida Murphy Peters.

Editor's note: Due to space limitations, we are not always able to print stories and pictures the week after an affair, meeting, etc., al. have taken place. Please bear with us, we're doing the best we can . . . honestly.

Columbia Capers

. . . by Pinnie L. Ross

Dr. and Mrs. Noel Myricks hosted a great party last week in their beautiful Iron Crown Court home in the section of Harpers Choice.

It served a two-fold purpose: first, to meet old friends, and second to raise funds for Governor Jimmy Carter, democratic candidate for President.

The 60 guests included some of Howard County politicians, headed by County Executive Edward L. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wehand (Md. State's Attorney); Lloyd Knowles, Howard County Council; Attorney Dwight Keppit and Mrs. Keppit, also Dr. and Mrs. Robert Martin, D.C.; Senator James Clark, House of Delegates representative; Hugh Nichols.

Guests were addressed by Senator Clark, who felt that Jimmy Carter was out in front and that he would do very well on the campaign trail.

Just before and after the address by the senator, conversation took place in the Myricks' sunken conversation pit where small bags of individual peanuts were given to the guests from the Georgia farm of Gov. Carter.

One of the highlights of the party came when the telephone rang and it was Gov. Carter on the line. He had a 20-minute conversation with the group, talking about various issues and answering questions.

Friends contributed over $600 for the cause. It was the largest amount to have been raised in this area.

* * *

Congratulations went to Dr. Noel Myricks, J. D. Ed D. associate professor, University of Maryland, College Park; Dr. Edward Haynes, legal investigator for N.E.A.; Wayne Kong, associate Dean of Students at Federal City College; for their efforts in hosting the party.

Mrs. Myricks (Marti) looked very pretty, and saw that her guests tasted her native Jamaica punch which received lots of compliments. She was dressed in a pair of sporty black slacks with a snorty sherbet color silk blouse. Dr. Myricks wore a gray business suit.

The Myricks received lots of compliments on their fabulously decorated home which had Japanese wallpaper and gorgeous African paintings throughout the house. They had some art work done by a San Quinten artist. They chose earth colors for their color scheme of gold and brown.

Mrs. Myricks is a Howard County English teacher at Howard High School. The Myricks have one son, 12-year-old Toussant, a student at Glenelg Country School. The couple came to Columbia by way of Washington, D.C. She is a native of Oakland, Calif.

Workshops for urban women

Baltimore New Directions for Women, cooperating with the YWCA will offer a six-week workshop, on Tuesdays only, designed to help the urban woman realize fully the conditions attending taking a job, going to school or staying home.

Urban women will discuss assessing their own potential, setting realistic goals for their own life style at home or at work, job finding techniques and the history and culture of women.

Held at the YWCA, 1912 Madison Ave. from 9:30 a.m. to noon on Tuesdays from Feb. 3 to March 9, the series is funded by a grant from the Maryland Committee for the Humanities and Public Policy. Participants pay only $5 for the entire series.

Sessions will be led by Norma Ford, assistant in Continuing Education at Morgan State University and Lulu Reuny, who has had wide experience in leading groups and who lived and taught in Zaire, Africa from 1963 to 1965.

Speakers will be invited to provide expertise: exercises and group discussion will develop ideas. For information or registration, call 669-1881.

Wayland 'now hosts weight control meet

The new Weight Watchers "Personal Action Plan," described as a breakthrough in bringing help in the management of problematic eating, will be available in the Forest Park area.

The new group will start at the Wayland Baptist Church, 3200 Garrison Blvd. in the rear of the Sanitary on Tuesday afternoon Feb. 10, at 4:30 p.m.

The Weight Watchers program is the largest and most successful in the world. The program teaches people how to use their heads to change their shape. The meal nutritionally sound calorie program is used to re-educate eating habits.

Advice on how to cope with divorce

NEW YORK — Between 1965 and 1974 the number of divorces in the U.S. more than doubled. What are some of the reasons for this high rate of divorce? What are the divorce laws all about? Can anything be done to lessen the personal and community costs of divorce? How does divorce affect children?

These questions are considered in DIVORCE, a new Public Affairs Pamphlet by Elizabeth Ogg. In addition, Ms. Ogg offers guidance for those who are divorced or divorcing.

Legally, Ms. Ogg explains, divorce is becoming "easier to obtain and the process itself less punitive and easier to bear." Although fault grounds do exist, many states have accepted at least one no-fault ground for divorce — that the couple have lived apart for a specified length of time.

With regard to alimony, "at least 31 states now permit alimony to be awarded to either husband or wife, and about 30 make either or both parents liable for child support."

However, Ms. Ogg states, there are disadvantages to the whole concept of alimony: it is, for example, "rarely paid regularly . . . . and most court-ordered payments are insufficient to support a woman and children adequately."

And what about the children? If not handled sensitively, Ms. Ogg warns, a divorce can have crippling effects on the children. She offers some general guidelines for divorcing parents:

— Don't try to isolate the child from the difficulties prior to the breakup.

— Give simple, honest explanations — without burdening the child.

— Give the child reassurance that both parents will continue to love and care for him or her.

— Allow the child to ask questions.

— Allow the child to vent angry and hurt feelings.

— Try telling the very young child a story about divorced parents who treat their child in ways that show they continue to love him or her.

— If you feel overwhelmed by guilt about the pain the divorce is inflicting on your child; remember that maladjustment, psychosomatic illness and delinquent behavior often result from an unhappy unbroken home.

— Try to avoid making too many changes all at once.

— Keep the child's welfare steadily in your sights.

After the divorce it is natural, of course, to feel lonely, depressed, resentful. If the going gets too rough, Ms. Ogg suggests that professional help be sought from a minister, marriage counselor, family service agency or mental health center. She lists some groups to contact and explains their function.

Finally, Ms. Ogg asks: "What can we do about divorce?" Her suggestions:

— Eliminate all fault grounds for divorce and all fault considerations from related issues like child custody, property settlements, and so on. This would end all migratory divorces and do away with the collusion and perjury used in so many cases to establish fault.

Local Club Notes

Dennis A. Gowie, executive director of Provident Hospital recently accepted a check for $1,500 from the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. The Delta's total pledge was $1,000 to the hospital. The presentation was made by Mrs. Ruth Pratt, president, and Mrs. Annette Hall, sergeant at arms, of the Baltimore Alumni Chapter.

The national sorority was established at Howard University in 1913. There are 12 chapters in the Maryland area; at present, there are nearly 600 members in the Baltimore chapter.

Deltas are supportive of community activities which are engaged in fund-raising projects. According to Mrs. Annette Hall, "we recognize the need for community involvement, and the need for the financial support of Provident Hospital. We want to see it grow and survive." Mr. Gowie commented at the presentation, "Provident Hospital is grateful for the continuous exercise of this fine sorority's support, which assist with the hospital's on-going responsibilities and progress."

Las Amigas

Members of the Baltimore chapter of Las Amigas Inc., observed their annual Founder's Day last Sunday by having dinner at a restaurant on Reisterstown Rd.

Las Amigas Inc., is a national, civic and social club which was organized Feb. 5, 1957 in Charlotte, N.C. Mrs. Shirley Drew is founder of the Baltimore chapter which was organized October 1957.

Today, there are 18 chapters of the Las Amigas Inc. The club is a non-profit organization of business and professional women dedicated to the improvement of their respective cities.

Proceeds from the Baltimore chapter's benefit raffle and pre-holiday dance went to the Maryland Regional Institution for Children and Adolescents.

This year's conclave is scheduled for April 2-4 in Salisbury, N.C. and members of the Baltimore Chapter have chartered a bus to attend the affair.

Following the conclave, the group will hold its annual dance April 16 at Martin's West as a benefit to raise scholarship funds for Baltimore youth.

For the past several months, members have been doing volunteer work at Provident hospital.

Ggogs

Alpha Chapter, "Government Girls On the Go, a service organization of federally employed women, recently held the first of its quarterly meetings for the employed at the home of the President, Mamie Jones.

The Ggogs are formulating plans for a gala benefit affair Oct. 22 at Blue Crest North. Funds received from this affair will be used for charitable efforts in the interest of senior citizens and youth projects on the Community.

In 75 Club year the group made significant contributions to the Arena Players, Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind, Md. Baptist Home and the Mt. Washington Hospital for Children.

Ggog members are Mary James, Eileen Manning, Deborah Hendricks, Elizabeth Taylor, Shirley Horton, Brenda Rigby, Carolyn Mello, Mildred Ayers, Rachel Briley, Pauline Turner, Shirley Hanks, Sarah Gross, Marcelene Holloway, Mignon Del Valle' Diaz, Betty Hubard, Hazel Woods, Mary McCall, Mamie Jones, Doris McKinley.

Marion Coants, Barbara Alcindor, Delores Bordley, Dorothy Pettaway and Mamie Jones.

Iota Phi Lambda

The Black History committee of Keema Chapter of Iota Phi Lambda sorority is planning a luncheon to be held on Feb. 28 at the Beltway Motor Inn, 3648 Washington Boulevard.

The affair will highlight the Bicentennial theme "America For All." The luncheon theme's Reflection of the Advancing Black Culture — 1876 to 1976." This theme will be portrayed in film, Art, Music and Poetry by members of the committee. Sorors Eva Cook and Anne Foster are co-chairpersons.

The scholarship committee has entered two candidates in the Iota Phi Lambda Sorority National Scholarship Contest. Lisa Blackwell and Gwendolyn Johnson, students of Forest Park High School are vying for the $2,000 Sgholarship. Iota awards six annual scholarship from its national treasury. Sorors Dorothy Baker and Doris Browning are co-chairpersons of the scholarship committee.

Beauty Culture

At the regular quarter meeting of the Maryland State Beauty Culture Assoc., Inc. plans were formulated for the State Convention, Beauty Show and two-day Educational workshop. "This business meeting was held at the State Home, 2216 Eutaw Place.

The State Convention will be held April 4-5, at the Baltimore Hilton Hotel. Mrs. Florence Fitzgerald, national hair designer of Cleveland, Ohio will be guest artist for the two-day educational workshop.

Phi Beta Sigma brothers celebrate Founders' Day

Zeta Sigma Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity celebrated its 62nd Anniversary Jan. 23 with a Founder's Day Dinner at the Hilton Hotel.

Al Sanders, dynamic newscaster and anchorman for WJZ-TV gave the keynote address and was presented the Zeta Sigma Community Service Award by Joseph Wiles, president of the fraternity.

Samuel B. Newton, head of the Business Education Department of Carver Vocational-Technical High School was presented Zeta Sigma's Distinguised Service Chapter Key by Parlett L. Moore, past-national president.

The Phi Beta Sigma Life Membership Certificate went to Edward W. Wilkins, immediate past president and was presented by Dr. L. Franklin Phillips.

A NAACP Life Membership was presented to the chapter by Leonard Saunders, vice-president of the Baltimore Branch.

Mr. Saunders, first vice president of the Baltimore Branch, NAACP, presented a Life Membership Certificate to Zeta Sigma Chapter with regret that the Membership Plaque had not arrived, but assured the members it should be delivered soon and would be presented upon arrival.

He also observed this was Zeta Sigma's second Life Membership for which he expressed the Association's appreciation and commendation.

Mr. Saunders further emphasized the need for the continued support of the NAACP by all community organizations and their individual members; and urged them to give serious consideration to the possibility of their taking a Golden Heritage Membership.

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity was founded at Howard in 1914. Founders were A. Langston Taylor, Leonard F. Morse and Charles I. Brown.

The last living member of Baltimore's Zeta Sigma Chapter, Dr. J. E. T. Camper was present as head-table guest.

Guilbert I. Daley presided giving the aims of the fraternity, "Culture for Service and Service for Humanity."

Program participants included Soror Ann Tichman, Anti-Basileus Zeta Phi Beta Sorority; Mrs. Esther Wiles, president, Sigma Wives; Ernest W. Lee, National Pan Hellenic Council; Paul Cash, Philadelphia, Regional Director; and Joseph Washington, who introduced the speaker.
