Calvert County News

By Melvina Edwards

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Foster Jones, 88, were held Tuesday at St. Edmonds United Methodist Church. The Rev. John R. White officiated.

Mrs. Jones died Saturday in Prince Frederick Hospital.

Born March 17, 1887 in Calvert County, she was the daughter of John and Sarah Foster.

She and her husband, Compton Jones, had ten children.

Mrs. Jones was a member of the class at St. Edmonds led by James Jefferson, Sr.

She was well known in the community and was known for her many kind deeds. She was able to keep her own house in addition to being employed by Mrs. Ethel Lou Stinnett.

The Rev. William Edwards and Elder Parran of Washington assisted in the services, and the combined choirs sang her favorite selections.

Mrs. Willie Mae Plater sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Inez Jennings.

Survivors include five daughters, Mesdames Estelle, Evelyn, Lucy, Ernestine and Ruth; five sons, Leon, Westley, Thomas, Guy and Joseph.

Also 54 grandchildren, 85 great grandchildren, seven great - great - grandchildren, one great-great-great-grandchild, four nieces and three nephews.

And, three sisters-in-law, Mrs. Bertha Chambers, Mrs. Lillie Pratt, Mrs. Lottie Jones; two brothers-in-law, James and Philip Jones; five sons-in-law and three daughters-in-law.

Send sympathy cards to the family of the late Alnutt Reid of Huntingtown.

Local Club Notes

This year, the BALTIMORE CHAPTER OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF BLACK SOCIAL WORKERS (NABW) will host the organization's 8th annual conference, April 14-17, at the Baltimore Civic Center. The conference theme will be "Black America: Reawakening for the Future."

The NABSW will pay tribute to the heritage and achievements of blacks in addition to the exploration of current issues peculiar to the black community. Expected attendance will be between 4,000 and 6,000.

The conference will provide a forum through which black social workers and those in related fields can exchange ideas, develop programs and offer services specifically in the interest of the Black Community and generally to the community at large.

Efforts will be made to clarify, coordinate and communicate issues on such topics as Early Childhood Training, Senior Citizens as Untapped Resources, Survival Skills, The Relationship of Economii and Political Power to the Black Community, The Psychological and Sociological Stresses in the Black Community Resulting from Economic Depression, Black Male-Female Relathionships and Housing Alternatives in the Black Community.

In addition to 27 workshops, the conference will also offer mini-courses for college credit.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m., Mon., April 12 at the Baltimore Civic Center.

The conference is not open to the press, however, open meetings with the press will be held throughout its duration. The purpose of these will be to highlight keynote speakers and to update the public on events.

For further information contact the conference headquarters at 402 N. Franklintown Road, Balto. Md., 21223, (301) 233-0005 or 0006.

The Baltimore EPCUREANS and their husbands (Eppos) recently celebrated their Founders' Day beginning with morning worship at the New Shiloh Baptist Church. The Rev. Harold Carter officiated. Following services, they dined at the Pimlico Hotel. Later, the Eppies and Eppos met at the home of Doris and Lester Wallace for "happy hour," where more good food and drink, fun and laughter prevailed until the wee hours.

Those Eppies and Eppos celebrating were: Gladys and Samuel Daniels, Elva and Randolph Edwards, Bernadine and Miles Horrison, Audrey and Raymood Pinderhughes, Merita and John Stokes, Delores and William Sykes, Doris and Lester Wallace.

Also, Barbara Bennett, Gordine Blount, Miriam Brown, Elise Clark, Bettye Morton, Dorothy Johnston, Nikki Randolph, Harry Adams and Thomas Lassane.

DOUGLASS HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 1926 will meet tomorrow, Saturday, March 20 at the Quality Inn, Route 40-West, 1 p.m. All members are urged to attend to finalize plans for the 50th anniversary in June.

Hostesses for the meeting are: Louise Jones, Mable Bates, Catherine Dixon, Esther Thomas and Norman Edwards.

BLACK BICENTENNIAL FOUNDATION of the District of Columbia will present the first showing of its Black Bicentennial Fashion Show, Sunday, March 21 at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D.C.

The show depicts the history of fashion in Black America and will feature some of Washington's most talented and skilled designers and models.

Several models from Baltimore's Flair Studio were selected for the show from the more than 300 who auditioned. They are Mark Burrell, Roselta Moses and Cee Cee Stokes. Willia Bland, director of Flair Studio was selected as the show's commentator.

"A special salute to Baltimore will also include Gwen Kelsam, Quianna Cooke and Shawan Patterson.

Baltimore designers Catherine Wooten and Joici Britton will also be featured.

After the initial presentation, the show will tour several major cities with the first stop in Richmond, Va. in April.
