—Slave labor bill

receive written notification by mail rather than appearing at an employment office monthly to receive a certificate that there is not a job for him.

The main objections to the bill was advanced by Del. Dean. He could go along with a bill that would establish public employment, but this bill would require that persons who [illegible] a job but can work take a public job regardless of what that job is.

There is a fear that the jobs offered will be menial because they are ones which nobody else would want to do.

After attaching two amendments on the bill, the House passed the bill. Without the amendments it would have gone to the governor's desk for his approval or rejection. It is now before the Senate which originally passed the bill.

The vote in the House against the bill was just black delegates who stood firm against it.

Passage of the bill is expected.

Students get Bird discount

College and senior high school students will again be entitled to a 50 per cent discount on the purchase of upper reserved seats at most Orioles home games this season.

The program will begin Friday afternoon, April 9 when the Birds open their 1976 home season against the Boston Red Sox.

The student baseball card if presented at the E-6 window at Memorial Stadium on the day or night of the game will enable the bearer to purchase at half price on all eligible dates. Cards may be obtained at all senior high schools and colleges in the Baltimore area. They may also be picked up in the Orioles public relations office at the stadium.

This is the seventh season the Orioles have operated the discount ticket program for students. Last year more than 21,000 card holders attended Orioles games.

Whoosh!

There'll be speed to burn today (Friday) and Saturday in the Colonial Relays at William / Mary College at Williamsburg, Va.

Former Norfolk State star Steve Riddick, world record-holder Ivory Crockett, and indoor and outdoor collegiate champion Haseley Crawford will clash in the featured 100-meter dash.

Bill Olds, Louis Carter to NFL expansion clubs

Two players familiar to AFRO-area football fans — Bill Olds and Louis Carter — were among 21 black athletes selected by the Tampa and Seattle expansion teams in Tuesday's NFL draft.

Olds, starting fullback for the Baltimore Colts last year, was taken by Seattle. He was a third-round choice from Nebraska in 1975.

Carter, a star running back at the University of Maryland in 1973-74, played the 1975 season with the Oakland Raiders.

Among other players with pro experience chosen by the two new clubs for stocking purposes were:

TAMPA — Wide receivers Willie McGee, Los Angeles, and Lawrence Williams, Kansas City; guard Ira Gordon, San Diego; Running backs Anthony Davis, from Canada; Harold Hart, Oakland, and Vince Kendrick (who also played at Maryland), from Atlanta;

Defensive end Council Rudolph, St. Louis, linebacker Jimmy Gunn, N.Y. Giants, and defensive back Jim Kearney, Kansas City.

SEATTLE — Wide receiver Sam McCullum, Minnesota, and tight ends Ron Howard, Dallas, and Charlie Waddell, San Diego;

Running backs Gary Hayman, Buffalo, and Kerry Marbury, New England.

Defensive ends Jesse O'Neil, Houston, and Joe Owens, New Orleans;

Linebacker Ken Geddes, Los Angeles, and defensive backs Al Matthews, Green Bay, and Eddie McMillan, Los Angeles.

Terp sophomore is heart victim

Twenty - one - year - old Chris Patton, a reserve center on the University of Maryland basketball team, died suddenly Thursday, victim of a heart attack.

Young Patton was stricken during the course of a 2-versus - 2 pickup game on the promenade of the College Park campus.

Patton, a 6-foot-9, 210-pound sophomore from Bessemer, Ala., played in 14 games for the Terps last season and started four.

A graduate of St. Francis High School in Athol Springs, N.Y., Patton played 19 games as a freshman.

He was taken from the stadium by the Branchville rescue squad, whose members tried repeatedly to get his heart restarted.

He had no heartbeat when he reached the emergency room. A pacemaker was inserted into his heart in an effort to start beating, but all efforts failed and Patton was pronounced dead at 2:40 p.m.

"I'm shocked, and very, very sad," said Maryland coach Lefty Driesell. "Chris certainly had made a lot of progress since he had been here.

Chris Patton stricken in play

"He was plagued by injuries (knee surgery, broken hand, pulled groin muscle, mononucleosis), but he started the last four games of the season and appeared to be just finding himself."

Patton was the second present or former Maryland player to die of a heart attack this year.

In February, Owen Brown, a 1975 graduate, suffered a fatal heart attack while playing in a recreational pickup game in Ohio.

Injured Indiana cager released by hospital

Bob Wilkerson, the Indiana University starting guard who suffered a concussion in the opening minutes of last Monday night's NCAA championship game, returned to campus late Wednesday.

Wilkerson was hurt during the Hoosiers' 86-68 victory over Michigan at the Philadelphia Spectrum.

Dr. William Buchheit, head of neurosurgery at Temple University Hospital where the player was taken, said Wilkerson "suffered a cerebral concussion from which he recovered with no residual effects."

Wilkerson was injured when he caught an elbow on the left temple from Michigan's Wayman Britt after coming down from a layup.

The 21-year-old Wilkerson lay sprawled on the court for 10 minutes before being carried into the dressing room on a stretcher. He later was ordered to the hospital when he blacked out for a second time just after intermission.

Dr. John Miller, Indiana's team physician, said at the time that "head injuries have to be treated as if they were all serious. When he began blacking out, we called for the ambulance."

Smile coast to coast for 21¢.

With the long distance interstate (out-of-state) minute rates, you can make someone smile for 21¢ or less.

Just take a minute and dial direct. You'll save.

For instance, you can call all the way to Los Angeles, during the night or most of the weekend, and it's just 21¢ for the first minute, and even less for each minute after.

But if you have the operator place the call for you, you'll pay $2.25 for the first three minutes, even if you talk for less.

So always dial direct.

During the day, you can still save if you dial direct. Then the first minute's just 54¢ or less; additional minutes, 38¢ or less.

When everything else seems to be costing you more, you can still save on long distance calls.

Just take a minute and dial direct.

Now that's something to smile about.
