Lethal gas stolen in Towson, Md.

TOWSON, Md. (UPI) — Baltimore County Police Thursday asked citizens to help in locating several cylinders of lethal gas stolen from a loading dock at the Greater Baltimore Medical Center.

Police spokesman John Metzger said the cylinders were removed by someone using bolt cutters. Taken from the platform were six cylinders of nitrous oxide, each about 28 inches high and weighing six to seven pounds.

Also taken was one cylinder of carbon dioxide and one cylinder of oxygen.

Metzger said the nitrous oxide, sometimes called "laughing gas" and the carbon dioxide were considered lethal.

The police spokesman said the chemical supplier has reported similar thefts recently in Montgomery and Howard counties.

He said hospitals in the immediate area have been notified to look out for the cylinders and citizens with information should contact police.

Mom charged with killing daughter

Mrs. Tanya S. Gillis, 20-year-old mother of a two-year-old girl, has been charged with the suffocation of her daughter.

Mrs. Gillis, of the 2400 block Shirley Ave., was arrested May 25 at Provident Hospital, when her child, Cetrice was rushed by ambulance after being found unconscious.

Police report Mrs. Jacqueline Davis lives in the same house with Mrs. Gillis and called the police.

Police quote Mrs. Davis as saying she found the child unconscious in the bedroom with a piece of torn plastic trash bag covering her face.

Union Memorial nurses diplomas

Forty-one graduates of The Union Memorial Hospital School of Nursing received their diplomas on Thursday evening, at the University Baptist Church.

Presiding at the ceremonies was Dr. John D. Morris, Union Memorial's chief of staff.

The address to the graduates was delivered by special guest, Mrs. Margaret F. Walsh, R.N., executive director of The National League for Nursing.

Established in 1899, The Union Memorial Hospital School of Nursing offers a three-year program leading to an RN diploma.

The school's philosophy emphasizes that nursing is an art based on scientific principles and that it involves assisting members of the community to reach a maximum level of healthful living.

Its practitioners participate as a vital part of the health team in assisting the patient with the physical needs that he is unable to meet himself and in supporting the psychosocial and spiritual needs of the patient and his family.

Graduates were presented by Mrs. Frances D. Tompkins, R.N., Director of Nursing. Miss Dorothy McI. Scott, chairman of the Nursing Education Committee and a member of Union Memorial's Board of Directors, awarded diplomas.

Following the ceremonies and presentation of scholarships and awards, a reception for graduates and their guests was held.

Teacher with black wife files $65,000 damage suit

DANVILLE (UPI) — An English teacher, who says he was discriminated against because his wife is black, has filed a $65,000 federal damage suit against the city school board.

Roy Benjamin Burnette Jr., filed the suit Wednesday in U.S. District Court. The suit accuses the seven-member board of "willful, deliberate, wanton and malicious discrimination."

Burnette holds a master's degree in English and taught at the city's George Washington High School between 1970 and 1973. He said he had been working as mobile home distributor when in December, 1974, he heard of an English teaching position and applied for the job.

* * *

The suit said Assistant School Supt. Alden Whitmore told Burnette he would have no trouble being rehired at the time he applied.

The former teacher said he then heard no word about the job until he called the school system April 2, 1975. He said at that time Whitmore told him his qualifications were good, but cited the white teacher's marriage to a black woman during the time he was not working for the school system.

The suit charges that Whitmore explained to Dr. Zane Eargle, school superintendent at the time had advised that it would be unwise to rehire Burnette.

Burnette said Whitmore told him, "Things in Danville have changed, but not that much."

Bicen beauty contest

The Baltimore City Bureau of Recreation will hold a Bicentennial Beauty Pageant at Greenspring Junior High School, 4701 Greenspring Ave., on Friday, June 4 at 7:00 p.m.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Erma Taylor, District 1 will salute the Bicentennial with over 50 girls, ages 14-19, competing for trophies and other awards.

The program coordinator, Mrs. Jacqueline Fuqua, of the James D. Gross Recreation Center, has set up the four classifications of the program on which the girls will be judged.

There will be a talent class, swim wear and evening dress categories, and a personality section where the girls will be judged on their answers concerning a pertinent modern day topic.

The judges are

Ken Brown, coach, Morgan State University.

Mrs. Fannie Moragne, supervisor, Performing Arts, Bureau of Recreation.

Mrs. Rita Wagner, dance specialist, Bureau of Recreation.

Mrs. Annie White, public school teacher.

Chuck Richards, asst. director of Public Affairs, WMAR-TV

Dr. Jackson plaque unveiled at Freedom House

Approximately 300 people gathered in front of Bethel AME Church Tuesday to witness Dr. J. Rupert Picott, director of the Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History dedicate and present a bronze marker in honor of the late Dr. Lillie Mae Jackson.

The brief ceremony was held across the street from the eight-year-old Freedom House and held on the birthday of the late, great leader of civil rights and founder of Freedom House, 1234 Druid Hill Ave.

The bronze marker has been placed on the front of Freedom House in memory of Dr. Jackson. The inscription says, "In memory of Dr. Lillie Mae Jackson, servant of God, champion of the people and mother of freedom."

The marker was made possible by a grant from the Amoco Foundation, Inc. Dr. Picott has previously dedicated plaques to Carter Woodson and Louis Armstrong. However, Dr. Jackson is the first woman to receive the honor.

John R. Peters, president of Freedom House, Inc., presided at the ceremony and described "Dr. Lillie Mae Jackson Day as the happiest day in his life."

Governor Mandel and Mayor Schaefer had proclaimed May 25 as "Dr. Lillie Mae Jackson Day."

Emanuel Blow, president of the Baltimore Chapter of the Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History, Inc., stated the association was proud that Dr. Jackson was the fourth person in the United States to receive a marker.

Blow characterized Dr. Jackson, "As a lovely lady, a great humanitarian, a crusader for social justice, a devoted church woman and an unselfish worker for the common good."

* * *

Others extending greetings on the program were Mrs. Marguerite Campbell, representing the mayor; William Box Harris, representing Gov. Mandel; Col. James A. Watkins, George Lottier, the Rev. Vernon Dobson and Frank Showell.

Solos were by Mrs. Eleanor Bryant Graham and Miss Angela Walden with Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell playing the piano.

Representing the school system was Mrs. Ruth J. Pratt, who said, "We of the school system cannot forget that it was Dr. Jackson and the NAACP who filed the suit brought before the U.S. Federal District Court in 1938, which eliminated the dual salary scales for black and white teachers. We must not and cannot forget Dr. Lillie Mae Jackson."

Other participants were Ms. Josephine O. Young, secretary-director of Freedom House, Inc.; Mrs. Rosetta Jenkins, Sen. Clarence Mitchell III, Bowen K. Jackson, Mrs. Johnnie M. Thompson, Mrs. Frances Marshall, Mrs. Louise Allen, the Rev. Dr. John R. Bryant.

At the conclusion of the program, a reception was held inside of Freedom House.

A PLAQUE TO THE MEMORY of Dr. Lillie Mae Jackson for her struggles for Freedom of blacks and others, was unveiled Tuesday during ceremonies at Freedom House, in the 1200 blk. Druid Hill Ave. Tuesday was proclaimed Dr. M. Jackson Freedom Day in Baltimore by the Mayor.
