Local club notes

By Michele L. McRae

You ever wonder what your alma meter is like? Ever have any curiosities about its financial position, new programs, student enrollment, new buildings, old and new faculty?

If so, the best group to contact to get answers to your questions is your college alumni association.

Feeling a strong need to establish a more viable, more visible and more effective working alumni association, some 250 alumni members of Coppin State College were called upon last week.

In a luncheon hosted at the Sheraton-Broadway Inn, Coppin alumni members, along with faculty, staff and administrators of the college gathered to discuss how the college alumni could be more supportive of the school's endeavors.

In a plea to alumni to become active with the Coppin Alumni Association, Samuel H. Wilson, director of the Developmental Studies Program at Coppin said, "Coppin State College is a rapidly expanding, viable segment of the Baltimore Community. New buildings, new programs, new faculty, new students bring new goals and new demands.

"More than ever before we must meet the demand for new and continuing support and involvement of the alumni with the opportunities of this institution."

Glen Dorsey, chairman of the Coppin All-Campus Alumni Steering Committee (ACASC) served as luncheon toastmaster and introduced alumni, administrators and faculty members who explained various segments of college operations, the function of an alumni association, and about new programs, faculty and staff.

Among those were: Ernest Moody, president, Coppin Alumni Association; Dr. Calvin W. Burnett, president, Coppin State College; Dr. John Bonas, vice president, Academic Affairs;

Robert B. Chapman, vice president, Development Foundation Inc.; Robin Frazier, executive secretary, SGA; James Norton, director of Student Teaching.

Highlight of the afternoon luncheon was the presentation of corsages by Dr. Flossie Dedmond, dean of Arts and sciences to Mrs. Alice Hazzard, first "Miss Coppin 1923" and Cheryl Watkins, "Miss Coppin 1976-77."

All graduates of Coppin State College are urged to become active with the alumni association and may do so by contacting: Glen Dorsey, 383-4017 or John Douglass, 383-5960.

Officers of the Coppin Alumni Association include: Ernest Moody, president; James Thornton, first vice president; Yvonne Addison, second vice president; Warren Covington, recording secretary; Lucy Miller, corresponding secretary and James McDonald treasurer.

Fraternity

The Zeta (Zay-ta) Upsilon Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. located at UMBC is sponsoring a "Fashion Show Jam" featuring the Jake Innovators Models, LTD and the band Energy, Saturday, November 20. The affair will be hosted at the University of Marvland, Baltimore County Campus' dining Hall. The "Fashion Show Jam" is for the benefit of Project SAD (Sigma Attacks Defects), a national program of Phi Beta Sigma in conjunction with the March of Dimes.

Project SAD was initiated by Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. in December, 1973. This project is a cooperative venture with the national foundation, March of Dimes.

The initial objective was to get the male population to become aware of the role men must play as fathers, brothers, husbands, sons, and friends in guaranteeing a successful outcome of pregnancy. Emphasis was placed on proper nutrition, early and continuous prenatal care of the mother, the avoidance of drugs, alcohol, and smoking, and the indentification and treatment of venereal diseases. Attention was also placed on genetic diseases such as sickle cell anemia, as well as on environmental factors which can be detrimental.

Project SAD continues to promote public health education through conferences and workshops, and provides in depth services in hospitals and clinics. Now it will attempt to raise the thousands of dollars needed for medical research and the provision of health-related scholarships.

Bassar Club of Maryland

The Vassar Club of Maryland will sponsor a formal dinner at the newly renovated Belvedere Hotel, December 3 in honor of its outgoing president, Alan Simpson, M.A., D. Phil. (Oxon), L.L.D., L.H.D.

President Simpson will give a talk entitled "Reflections on the Liberal Arts Tradition."

Several honored guests will be present, including Dr. Rhoda M. Dorsey, president of Goucher College; Dr. Otto F. Kraushaar, president emeritus, Goucher College; Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Sarbanes, Congressman and Senator-elect, U.S. Senate; Dr. and Mrs. John L. Crew, Supt. of Baltimore City Public Schools and Sister Kathleen Feehly, S.S.N.D., College of Notre Dame of Maryland.

Prior to the dinner, these honored guests and the members of the Vassar Club Board will greet Dr. and Mrs. Simpson at a small cocktail party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Azrael in Ruxton.

The Vassar Club of Maryland, which has some 400 members in the Maryland area, is the alumni arm of Vassar College, a four-year liberal arts co-educational college in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. The club devotes its time to raising money for scholarship students by its annual sale of pecans and to informing prosepective students in the Maryland area about the college and its traditions.

Cardigans, Inc.

In August the Cardigans, Inc. celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary by cruising to South America aboard a Greek Liner, the Americanis. The seven-day trip planned by Louise Edwards, Margaret Peck, and Mary Williams included stops at Caracas, Venezuela; Curacao, Grenada, Martinique, and St. Thomas.

Feeling the pains of nostalgia two months later, the Cardigans and their 49 guests armed with photographs, slides, and movies gathered at the newly redecorated Fox Haven Town and Country Club to reminisce.

A variety of food prepared by the club members, a flowing fountain of rum punch, fall decorations, and music sprinkled with old and new hits helped to enhance the spirit of the evening.

Planners of the affair were Dell Brown, Elizabeth Butler, and Ruth Tonkins.

The club members and their guests were: Dell Brown, Elizabeth Butler, Louise Edwards, Vera Fry, Bernice Hall, Margaret Peck, Juanita Rogers, Vera Taylor, Ruth Tonkins, Beulah Wescott, Mary Williams, Beatrice Jefferson; the James Alstons, Vera Bass, Vivian Bennett, Betty Brook, Edward Brown, George Butler;

And, Rita Chaney, Loretta Davis, Norma Davis, Joe and Leona Felton, Cora Gentry, Tom and Ferona Green, Bus and Michael Hall, the Jesse Hamms, Edith Harris, Alex Jefferson, Armstead Jenkins, Edward and Sarah Jones, Leah Lampkin, the Bronson Millers, Coretta Parker, Edward Peck;

Also, Albert and Hazel Rice, the Stackhouses, Anita and James Taylor, Bill Tonkins, Warren Stanely, Charlotte Walker, Granville and William Waters, Carrie Williams, Alfred Williams, and Carolyn and Queener Willis.

Guiding the club members in all of their activities was the president, Beulah Wescott.

Links, Inc.

Vera Hayes, vice president of the Baltimore Chapter of Links recently entertained the group at Cross Keys Inn in Columbia. The meeting proved to be a Mini-Eastern Area Get-Together since Mrs. Hayes had as her guest several Links from nearby chapters. Guests were Doris Yancey and Margie Lee from Reston, Va. Lula Wade and Celonia Walden of the Columbia Chapter Bertha Crossling from Princess Anne, Valerie Alkiss and Joyce Moore from the Silver Spring Chapter.

Business was taken care of with dispatch. Budget, program, and fundraising were discussed. Plans to attend the Eastern Regional Conference in Pennsylvania are being made. The Bucks County Chapter will be hostesses for the conference in April. Vera Hayes was elected delegate and Barbara Patterson alternate delegate to the eastern regional.

Local Links have been saddened by the passing of Louise Perrin. Mrs. Perrin was a past president of the Baltimore Chapter and was the mother of the current president, Cardrienne Griffin. Lou was a diligent worker and truly a sister to all the members of the chapter. Plans are being formulated to remember Mrs. Perrin in a tangible way.

Fun and fellowship followed the business session. Games were played, a mock election was held, and the opportunity to chat with the special guests was provided. An elegant dinner followed. It can be said that a good time was had by all.

Those members in attendance were Cardrienne Griffin, Barbara Patterson, Beatrice Butler, Etta Phifer, Jimmie LaForest, Kathleen Carter, and Helen Burwell. Marie Francis, Ruth Glenn, Mary Harris, Marie Hicks, Yvette Murphy, Lydia Mussenden, Marion Russell, Theresa Weaver, and Pauline Watts attended.

Baltimore's newest Links Betty Harris, a transferee from the Los Angeles Chapter, Bennie Ruth Simplin, immediate past president of the Shreveport Louisiana Chapter, and Audrey Gaston from Birmingham, Ala. were also present.

Woodlawn Highlights

... by Marjorie Green

Soft spoken Elsie Cannady was the honoree at a gala retirement luncheon held at the Paca Pratt building and attended by over 200 co-workers, friends and relatives. The celebration that marked the end of 34 years in the federal government also brought together many of her former co-workers who work in the Woodlawn and downtown buildings and a few who are currently enjoying their retirement.

Candice Green acted as mistress of ceremonies for the program that gave participants a chance to speak about the calm influence that Elsie has had over the lives of her many friends.

Guest speakers Mary Stokes, Verna Day, Adele Stenzel and Tom Phillips also shared their reasons for being a part of the large gathering. Sol Garner presented the honoree with a watch and $500 contributed by the luncheon guests.

Most memorable moment was the rendition of a musical selection dedicated to Elsie and performed by a trio lead by Don Washington.

The special guest list included the names of the honoree's four sisters, a brother, brothers-in-law nieces nephews and social security retirees, Pauline Weston, Laura Truzerla, Walter and Ruth Lee. Several other retired workers were among those who exchanged greetings with old friends.

Mrs. Annie Thompson gave the invocation and closing remarks.

Visibly touched by the overwhelming reception given her, Mrs. Cannady responded by thanking all of those present and expressing the joys she has experienced during the past 34 years.

Sol Garner, Jackie Holcombe and Tonya Ball helped make the luncheon and program arrangements.

A new effort to reach individuals who may be entitled to Supplemental Security Income (SSI) was launched last week at the Church of Christ, 4301 Woodridge St. Norma Griffin, Operations Supervisor in the Frederick Avenue Social Security Office and I were greeted by approximately 70 enthusiastic members of the Church of Christ and Church of God when we arrived in the fellowship hall with information to share about the program designed to help people 65 or older or needy people who are blind or disabled.

Elder Jake Butler, SSA employee who pastors the Church of God and the host pastor, Elder Fountz were both helpful and sympathetic to our outreach efforts.

The congregation consisting of men and women in various age groups was asked to share the information with their friends and neighbors. Tony Coates, SSA worker and officer in the Church of God was on hand to give support to the project.

A second meeting will be conducted at the Jones Tabernacle Church in the near future. The public will be invited to attend. Questions about the SSI program can be answered by qualified persons in any of the Social Security offices. The people working there will be happy to assist you. Please do not hesitate to contact them.

Women who served in the armed forces during the Vietnam era total 135,000 and there are 75,000 with service during the Korean conflict. Women who served with the Army and Navy during World War I now total 12,000. Some 57,609 saw service during the cold war period between the end of the Korean Conflict and the beginning of the Vietnam era.

There are 577,000 women veterans in the United States, but they comprise only 1.9 per cent of the nation's 29.6 million veteran population, according to the Veterans Administration. More than half of the 577,000 women veteran — 298,000 — served during World War II.

Catonsville Notes

... by Liz Williams

The NAACP campaign, which began on September 26, will extend through Sunday, November 28. The Baltimore chapter asks for your support of its activities through its membership drive. Crescent Lodge No. 355 of Catonsville recently gave $50 to the local NAACP chapter.

A Recognition Banquet will be held at Martin's West in celebration of our country's bicentennial year on Sunday, November 21, at that time Eva P. Brooks and Nettie H. Page will be honored for their outstanding leadership in their church, Morning Star Baptist, and in their community, Elhana Washington Jr. and Jentry McDonald Jr. are chairpersons.

Congratulations to Janet Anderson who was one of 29 young women honored by the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority's, Epsilon Omega Chapter at its "Salute to Outstanding Young Women" recently. Janet is a 1976 graduate of Catonsville Senior High School and now a freshman at the University of Maryland, College Park, with a major in journalism.

Another special citizen in our community is Robert Hawkins (Lillian). The headlines, in a half page article in the Catonsville Times, read: Honored by Governor Bob Hawkins: A Special Citizen. Pictured with the article was Delegate Louis P. Morsher (D. 13th) as he presented Bob with a Citizen's Award from Governor Marvin Mandel. Bob was honored for his leadership of the community's Midget League. Only a handful of Marylanders have received the governor's special designination. The Catonsville Midget League serves 1,000 Catonsville families in the Catonsville area.

Bob is married to the former Lillian Rideout and the father of two boys, Frank and Drew. He is a very dedicated, energetic, and persevering person whose leadership in his church, Morning Star Baptist, is outstanding.

Isn't it nice to know that the state recognizes that Bob Hawkins is a very special citizen. More about Bob and his many accomplishments in another issue.

The Black Student Union of Catonsville Community College presents a cultural weekend at the Barn Theater. There will be a "Gospel Festival" featuring "The Inspiration Choir" with Pauline Wells Lewis and others.

I received a letter from a dear friend and one of Catonsville's "own", George Leroy Bennett. He reads the Catonsville column so he does know what is happening out here. Roy and his lovely wife, Myrt are enjoying their retirement to the fullest. Myrt had an operation in September but recovered in time to attend and enjoy a retirement dinner given in her honor by Myrt's many friends in the Baltimore County School System. It was a beautiful affair held at Martin's Eudowood, Towson, Md.

Myrt, a home economics teacher at Lansdowne Senior High School was among the first blacks to teach at all white schools in Baltimore County. Roy and Myrt are both involved with the Arena Players and other groups, while Roy has time to work as an assistant professor at the Harbor Campus of The Community College of Baltimore.

November 28 is an important date to put on your calendar. Roy Bennett and his friends from Union Baptist Church will have a "Sing Out" at Grace AME Church. As you all know, Roy is one of Grace's favorite sons. The recital begins at 5 p.m. The entire community is invited to attend. Contributions will benefit the Grace Sunday School where Mrs. Harriet R. Dunlap is the superintendent.

I apologize to Mabel Fletcher for having incorrectly given her birthday. I understand that she celebrated her birthday several months ago in July. However, congratulations to Mamie Talbott Ebb, the longtime C and P employee who recently celebrated her birthday with friends at dinner. Also congratulations to Jessie Steward who also celebrated her birthday last weekend with a family gathering that included children, grandchildren, sisters, brothers, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Lynch (Louise) are moving to Richmond, Va. as of December 8. Mrs. Lynch succeeded Mrs. Hatie Smith as the site manager for the Lunch Plus Program which was held at Grace AME Church every Wednesday. The Lunch Plus Program is now held on Monday through Thursday at noon at the Bannekar Recreation Center. Mrs. Florence Jenson is the new site manager.

Thought for the week: May the Lord bless you and keep you today and always.

P.S. "Get Well" cards to Margurite Saunders Carroll (Billy) who is recuperating at home.
