McDonald's restaurant has New Orleans decor

The new McDonald's restaurant at North Ave. and Charles St., is the latest in the international chain founded in 1955

The atmosphere is different. The restaurant is clean and the price is right.

Osborne Payne is the owner and operator of the phish McDonald's that has the New Orleans decor.

The color scene of the sparious restaurant is green and yellow with hanging fern plants hanging from the ceiling and poinsettias in the center of the room.

Mr. Payne said after spending several days in New Orleans, he decided he would have the first McDonald's in Baltimore with the New Orleans atmosphere.

Seating capacity at the new McDonald's is 148 and there are 43 employees. McDonald's is open from 6 a.m. to 1 a.m. and all night Friday and Saturday served from midnight to 11 a.m. on Saturday and until 12:00 on Sunday.

McDonald's is the only place in the city where you can still get a hamburger for thirty cents. Other items on the menu are fries, fish sandwich, sodas, milk shakes, egg Mcmuffin, hot cakes and sausages, scrambled eggs with sausage for only $1.05, coffee, juices and other good food at a reasonable price.

CHAMPAGNE was served last Thursday at the cocktail sip held prior to the opening of the new McDonald's at North Ave. and Charles St. From (L to R) J. C. Gallmore, manager; Al Williams, general manager of Broadway-Payne, Inc., McDonald's; Miss Rosa Pool, Mrs. Famebridge Payne, Osborne Payne, owner operator and Miss Terry Lane.

How does he feel about his involvement and achievements? He says: "The Lord has been good; the people have been cooperative; and we are thankful."

About the business of education

The spotlight this week is on Miss Karen Purnell, a sophomore at the Baltimore Polytechnic.

Miss Purnell has become the first female in Poly's history to hold some sort of office at the school. She was elected this week to serve as sophomore class vice-president.

The spotlight is also on the estimated 2,200 students who will receive graduate and undergraduate degrees from the University of Maryland College Park today (Friday) at 2 p.m.

Of the total number of degrees to be awarded, close to 1,600 will be at the undergraduate level, 450 at the master's level and 150 at the doctoral level.

GRANTS

Morgan State University recently received two separate gifts totaling $50,000.

In a brief ceremony Dec. 6 at the university, IBM and Shell Companies Foundation awarded the grants to be used for faculty and student development, student aid and discretionary administrative aid.

NEW COURSE

The Elementary Education Department at Towson State University will offer Educating the Gifted in the Division of Continuing Studies during the upcoming spring semester.

Bernard A. Raum, chairman of the legal education and admission committee of the Maryland Bar Association, stated his committee is conducting a probe into the contents of the bar exam.

Raum stated although a complete report has not been filed yet there is no indication that there is anything wrong with the exam.

Baltimore City solicitor Ben Brown, who is currently assisting in a probe of last February's bar exam, said a study into the test by black attorneys has been going on for quite a while.

Brown stated he does not know if any indepth study on the bar exam exists and he could not comment on any figures or statistics of the July exam.

He also explained the current investigation into the last exam should reveal if the law schools are properly preparing the law student to take the exam.

Systems and Applied Science Corp., will design, develop, test and maintain a software system for processing data sent to Earth by the Nimbus G spacecraft. This spacecraft will be launched in November, 1978 to develop advanced sensors and technology basic to pollution monitoring and the oceanographic and meteorological disciplines.

All customers may soon pay for local directory assistance

(UPI) — A consumer advocate for the State Public Service Commission said Wednesday he supports a proposed charge for local directory assistance because some telephone customers pay for the service and never dial 411.

John K. Keane Jr. said the charge would represent "basically sound and economic regulartory policy". If the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. can prove that only a few of the company's one million Maryland customers use the service.

"I'd be in favor of such a charge if the data showed — as it tends to show — that everyone was paying for a service used disproportionately by a small number of ratepayers," Keane said. "As an example, if you make no directory assistance calls and your neighbor does, you're paying for a part of his service."

C and P reported the directory assistance service last year cost $12.8 million, which was spread among all customers in the form of higher rates.

The telephone company figured a customer who rarely uses the service could save more tan $4 annually on his phone bill if a charge was imposed. C and P added that 75 per cent of its subscribers make three or less information calls a month and half of them never dial the number at all.

According to C and P's proposal to the PSC, each customer would be allowed three directory assistance calls and pay 20 cents for each additional call.

Keane said before he can endorse the proposal, there will have to be a full scale rate proceeding by the PSC.

"We don't know enough about the company's statistics," he said. "Our consultant says some costs are overstated, but on the other hand, some productivity gains are understated."

$20,000 grant will provide legal services for elderly

The Maryland Office on Aging has received a $20,000 federal grant to implement a legal services program for the elderly on a statewide basis beginning Jan. 1, 1977.

In making the announcement, Dr. Matthew Tayback, state director on Aging, says, "During recent visits to each subdivision in Maryland, many older people mentioned problems to me that could be solved if legal services were available to them. I am confident this program will have very beneficial effects."

Appointed by Dr. Tayback to initiate the new legal services program is attorney Peter Robb. Mr. Robb was graduated with honors from the University of Maryland School of Law after completing his undergraduate work at Georgetown University in Washington.

The grant also provides for a consultant to be retained in an advisory capacity. Selected by Dr. Tayback for this role is Professor John J. Regan of the University of Maryland School of Law. Professor Regan is nationally noted for his long career in dealing with legal problems as they relate to the aged.

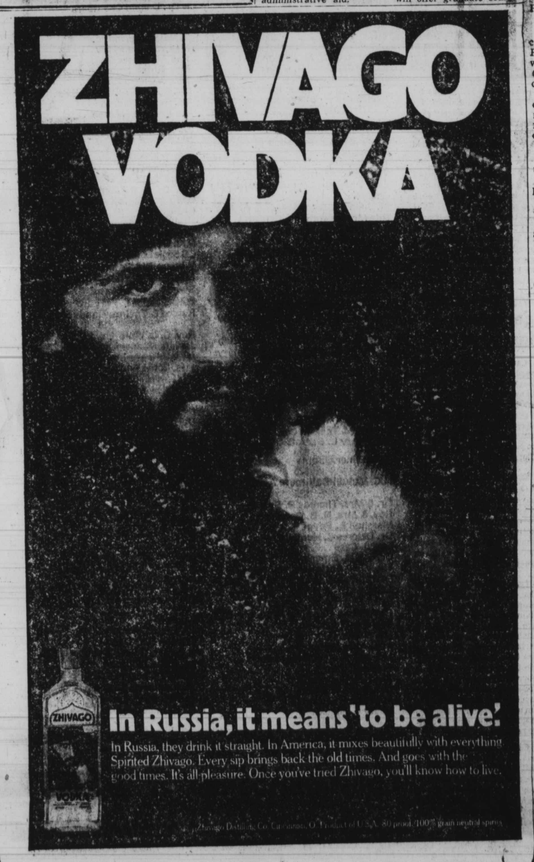
In planning his course of action, Mr. Robb says he will first determine what specific legal needs Maryland's senior citizens have and what legal services are now available to them.

"I have several objectives I hope to accomplish," says Mr. Robb. "I hope to make existing legal services more responsive to older persons ,as well as develop additional resources to meet the legal needs of the ever growing senior population; I expect to initiate and conduct training programs on the subject of legal services for granted staffs of various aging programs now in operation and I also will set up educational programs on legal issues for the elderly themselves."

As part of his goal, Mr. Robb expresses hope of getting local bar or law schools involved in legal activities relating to services for the elderly.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — The appointment of Dr. Y. B. Weatherspoon as director of research and product development for Peter Eckrich and Sons, Inc., has been announced by the meat specialty company.

A native of Cairo, Ga., Weatherspoon earned a bachelor's degree from Fort Valley (Ga.) State College, a master's degree from Kansas State University and doctorate from Michingan State University.



Mrs. Santa's helpers

By Arnetta Lottier

Many friends are bringing clothes and toys to the Mrs. Santa's office and it is greatly appreciated.

Thanks to Edward Timmons of the 2300 blk. Rosedale St. for the clothes he brought. Also to Mrs. Alice McNair of the 1800 blk. E. North Ave. for the clothes and toys she brought in.

Mrs. Marian Cromartie of the 6700 blk. Townbrook Ave. for the games she brought in. Dr. Joe Padgett brought in some nice warm clothes. Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 927 of Faith Baptist Church will bring in toys they collected.

Thanks to Mrs. Mary Clayburn and WWIN for the wonderful toys they collected for Mrs. Santa. Many children will be happy because of your efforts. Also to Mr. Hill of "All Under One Roof" store for the clothes for men, women and children (a half a truck load) they sent to Mrs. Santa.

Adopted Families

Orchids to the kind folks who have been adopting Mrs. Santa's families. Some of the families have called in to say thanks also.

Included in the group who have adopted families were: Mrs. Brucie Brunson of the 700 blk. of E. 21st St.; the Youth Group of Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church, Mrs. Mary Clarke, youth director and Dr. Olin P. Moyde, pastor.

Thanks also to Mrs. Helen Dixon of the 1700 blk. and the Christian Women's Fellowship group of Mt. Olivet Christian Church, for adopting some of Mrs. Santa's families again this year. The Rev. Donald Gibbs is pastor.

Thanks also to Mrs. Mary McGill and the Rose Charity Club of Concord Baptist Church for the help they are giving to some of our burned out families. This group helps all year with families who have been burned out. They not only give clothes but also furniture to help people get a new start. Isn't that wonderful? The Rev. Matthew R. Silver is pastor.

Mrs. Santa wants to thank Mrs. Anna Kerber for the help she is giving in the Mrs. Santa room in Bay College. She keeps the clothes straight and assists the people coming in to get things for their families. Many remember her from last year when she did the same thing.

Mrs. Kerber is also an ardent worker with the Heart Fund drives. She not only mans the Mrs. Santa room but also spends part of each day at Lexington Market collecting money for the Heart Fund and giving out hearts. She will be there until Dec. 24. She has received the Founder's Award and an Appreciation award from the Heart Foundation for the help she gives them.

Merry Christmas and thanks to the Social Security employees of Woodlawn for adopting some of Mrs. Santa's families each year.

Also to Mrs. Geneva McNair of the 2500 blk. W. Coldspring Lane for adopting a family.

Other folks adopting Mrs. Santa's families are: Miss Bernice Williams of the 1300 blk. Hillen Rd.; Lowell Carter, 1200 Oakhurst Pl.; Mrs. Corrine Vante, 2200 Round Rd.; Ms. Serena G. Miles, 2300 Winchester St.; Ms. Mary Robinson, 200 Mount Holly St.; Holy Temple Church of Truth; Ms. Jennavie Mumford, Jessup, Md. who is making clothes for some of our families.

Mrs. Genesta Lane gave one family a TV, radio, record player combination and they were so pleased.

Special thanks to the Berea Temple and Mrs. Exum for the many families they adopted. Also to Ms. Wanda Lewis, 2100 W. Fayette St. Mrs. Mamie Diggs, 2400 McCulloh St. is so kind each year by adopting a family.

Saint Peter's Northwood Foundation Council, originally sponsored by two community organizations, is now sponsored by a community board of directors. There are 78 boys in the group. Thanks for the $55 you gave Mrs. Santa.

The Peers, Inc. gave Mrs. Santa $100. This is a civic and charitable club who have been together over twenty-five years. They give regularly to different organizations. They recently donated to the NAACP Defense Fund, Arena Players, Provident Hospital and a scholarship to Coppin State College.

Officers of the Peer, Inc. are: Calvin Styles, president; Wendell White, vice president; Rassie McCoy, secretary; Grayson Williams, treasurer; Thomas Edwards, business manager.

Members are: Leonard Crosby, William Lyles, Ernest Maker, Charlie McLawhorn, Frank Russell, William Rucker, Leonard Thompson, MacAlister Tyler.

Zeta Phi Betas help many charities

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. Alpha Zeta chapter gave $50 to Mrs. Santa. This chapter works in various ways all year to help the community.

They volunteer at the Stork's Nest, Lafayette Square Multi Purpose Center, three days a week to promote pre-natal care and prevent birth defects. Low income pregnant mothers can purchase baby items at a minimum cost. They must be referred by a cooperating pre-natal clinic.

Tutorial services are offered by this group at the Zeta Education Center, Lafayette Square Multi Service Center on Saturdays. They also teach arts and crafts, cultural arts and modern dancing.

Archonettes, high school young ladies, sponsored by the chapter, are involved in service projects, recreation, cultural programs, etc.

Sponsored a soror in the United Negro College Fund Gala who was the winner for 1976, Miss June Baker who won $5,034.

They also have a revolving loan fund at Morgan State University and Coppin State College.

Sponsored a Night at Arena Players giving the proceeds of $1600 to Arena Players. Contributed $535 to NAACP. They give regular support to the Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind. They also sponsor four undergraduate chapters.

Officers of the chapter are: Mesdames Mary E. Fields, president; Ethel Hall, first vice-president; Ethel Hall, second vice-president; Grace Dawkins, third vice-president; Beatrice Mayo, recording secretary; Doris Johnson, asst. recording secretary; Mary Frazier, corresponding secretary;

Also Mamie Williams, financial secretary; Beatrice Smith, asst. financial secretary; Beatrice Pitts, treasurer; Alice Hall, asst. treasurer; Linda Brown, sergeant-at-arms; Bernice White, publicity; Isoline Crowner, custodian.

We have lights and tree, but no food

Dear AFRO:

I must say that I don't understand your item in the paper on Friday, Dec. 10. It said and I quote "Don't judge a book by its cover. Many families may have material things like TV sets, wall to wall carpet and stereos ... but they have just been thrown out of work, they can't get Social Services, for the first time in their lives they are hungry."

The item in the paper went on to say that the National Guard would be bringing the baskets. If the family has Christmas trees with lights and material comforts the guards would be told not to leave a basket.

Mrs. Santa I wrote you asking for help for our three children. My husband hasn't worked in almost three years. This is the first year we have ever had to ask for help during the many years we have been together. The money we get from welfare doesn't even pay our bills. We haven't bought anything new for our family in two years.

I am writing this letter because I have a problem. I have two artifical christmas trees, at least five sets of lights and other decorations. My mother - in - law passed away in July and I can get all of her Christmas things that she saved over 45 years of marriage.

My mother is dead and I could get her Christmas things, my father doesn't use the stuff anymore. You see I can get these things and make my house a Christmas wonderland but then I would be denying my children the things that you are being so generous to collect. You see I have made arrangements with the Gas and Electric company to make sure that I have heat and light. I have asked for your help with other things needed.

Why must we do without the beauty of Christmas? You see if a blind man could see (my father - in - law) a poor man was rich (my father) two great women were alive (my mother and mother - in - law) and the most important man, my husband who still has his pride was able instead of disabled you can be sure that this house would be a Christmas wonderland, not an area of darkness. You see we don't want welfare. It happens to be the only thing we have.

Name withheld
by request

Dear NWBR:

Thank you for writing and Mrs. Santa will take this into consideration.

Mrs. Santa

Case 424 — I am 25 years old and the mother of three children, one girl, age 9 and two boys, ages 8 and 4. I am divorced and unemployed and I am receiving help from the Department of Social Services. My baby (boy 4 years) has brain damage and requires special schooling and training. This makes our financial status very weak to say the least, especially since I myself have epilepsy, which also puts a strain on my budget because of clinic appointments, babysitters when I am ill. I know every child wants toys for Christmas, but my main concern is food and clothing. I have looked for employment. Also, I have applied for a furniture grant but was refused because on September 3, 1976, I was robbed and had to go to Social Services for help in paying my rent.

Case 425 — Please help me and my family this year. My father is the only one working and my mother has heart trouble. There are eight people living in a two-story home. The cost of living is going up, I know, but God knows I would appreciate this very much if you could help my family and me.

Case 426 — My family and I are in desperate need for help for the holiday. My food stamps were stolen last month and I was unable to give my children a Thanksgiving dinner. I have 9 children. Eight are still in my care. Their ages are 18, 17, 15, 14-year-old twins, 12, 11 and 9. We need blankets to help keep us warm.

I lost my city job

Case 427 — Writing to ask for a Christmas basket. There isn't any money left for my children, ages 10, 12, 16, 17. The first three are girls and the boy is the oldest. Due to the freeze on city workers I was laid off my job as a food service helper in the Baltimore City schools.

Case 428 — I am 19 years old and living with my sister and she has five children and one is on the way. Their ages are 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7. My sister cries and I ask her what is wrong. She doesn't have any money to buy her children anything for Christmas. She had invited her friends over and when they left, her food stamps were gone, but she doesn't know which one. I am out of work myself.

Case 429 — I am married and have two small children, ages 5 and 6. My husband works, but he won't be able to get them anything for Christmas because we are so far back in our bills and we will have to pay them this month. By the time we finish paying them, there won't be anything left to get the children something for Christmas.

Case 430 — I am 43 years old and separated from my husband. He deserted me for another woman because I am sick and under the doctor's care. I have six children and one granddaughter. She is one and the others are 14, 17, 18, 18, 20 and it takes a lot for them.

Poor things, they don't know

Case 431 — My small children laugh for joy over the things they wanted for Christmas. Poor things, they don't know that they won't get one toy unless someone gives it to them. When you have 12 children and all are in school but two, you know how that is. If you can just help the five little boys get two pair of skates between them and one doll for the two little girls, oh how happy we all will be.

Case 432 — I am the mother of three children, but the oldest is in a foster home and is coming to spend the Christmas holidays with us. I don't have enough for them all, so please help me in any way that you can.

Helps Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Inflammation. Relieves Pain & Itch.

... Gives prompt temporary relief from hemorrhoidal pain and itch in many cases.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.
