Blocks on the Move

Bulk trash pick-ups in these areas April 16

Clean yards, alleys, basements

Edward J. Moore, head of the Department of Sanitation has scheduled mass bulk pick-ups for five AFRO Clean Block areas, Saturday, April 16.

Lower Govans which includes York Rd. Woodbourne Ave., Sheridan, Glenwood, McCabe, Craig, Alhambra, Ianhoe, Beaumont, St. Georges, Midwood, Lothian, Zone 12.

Druid Heights including North Ave., Druid Hill Ave. Division St., Etting St., Brunt St., Baker, Gold, Bloom, Pressman and Pennsylvania Ave. Zone 17.

Calloway — Garrison, Boarman, Sequoia, Ardale Zone 15.

Jefferson St. — Monument St., Bradford, Montford, McElderry, Port, Milton, Rose, Lucerne and Patterson Park Ave. Zone 13.

Carey St., Edmondson Ave., Franklin St., Schroeder, Arlington, Carrollton, Stockton and Bennett Place, Fremont Ave. Zone 23.

See maps for your area.

If your street is in the areas shown, these are the things to do before April 16

Any junk you plan to clear out of your basement, do so the night before the pickup date. Then put rubbish in neat piles if they cannot be boxed or bagged. Sanitation workers are not expected to clean up trash thrown in the alleys or on the streets.

In areas where trees have been trimed, tie the limbs in bundles. Any leaves should be boxed or put in plastic bags. The main thing, however is to do all of your cleaning or cleaning out for bulk pickup before April 16.

Hopkins to dedicate new cancer center

The new Johns Hopkins Comprehesive Cancer Center will be dedicated on April 17, at 4:30 p.m.

Built at a cost of $19 million in combined federal, state, and private funds, the Hopkins Center is one of the first of the nation's 18 comprehensive cancer centers to complete its new facilities.

The Center's patient wing adjoins a wing with basic research laboratories. A computerized clinical information system will allow physicians to keep track of the more than 100 pieces of data accumulated about each patient each day, thus determining response to the latest in treatment.

Each of the 56 inpatient rooms has a special air circulation system. The room air turns over completely 26 to 28 times per hour, and there is no recirculation, thus providing a room with a view—and an environment as clean as that of a surgical operating room.

To allow patients to lead as normal a life as possible, the new Center also contains "Day Hospital" facilities where selected patients can come for drug or radiation treatments during the day—and return home at night. This is particularly important for children with cancer.

With Center inpatients receiving an average of 18 drug doses per day a special pharmacy unit has been located in the Center. Anticancer drugs are quite potent. To be sure that each drug dose is calculated precisely and given in accurate time sequence, the pharmacy uses a computerized to administer to each patient at the proper time.

But aside from the more technical aspects of drug therapy, the pharmacy staff is available around the clock to instruct patients and their families concerning the drugs they are receiving and the wide range of possible side effects.

With 17,000 to 18,000 new cases of cancer diagnosed per year in the region served by the Johns Hopkins Comprehensive Cancer Center—14,000 of these in Maryland—the Center cannot hope to treat all of the cancer patients in the region. Instead, says Dr. Owens, "Our mission is to help physicians who have patients with special treatment needs." Consultation and treatment will be provided for about 2,000 newly diagnosed patients each year.

Ticket scalping against the law

The Baltimore City Code prohibits "the sale or exchange of any tickets for admission to a public amusement, athletic, educational or other event in the City of Baltimore for more than the price stated thereon or to receive any remuneration, in any form, greater than such price . ." The maximum fine for violation of this Criminal Ordiance is $500.00.

This "scalping" law includes the sale of tickets for events such as baseball and football games as well as the forthcoming Elvis Presely Concert.

The Baltimore Police Department will enforce and the States Attorney's Office will prosecute all violations of this ordinance.

Pay meters Good Friday

Commissioner of Transit and Traffic Hugo O. Liem Jr. announced that money must be put into parking meters on Good Friday, April 8, 1977.

Discrmination suit filed

A cashier at Coppin State College has filed a suit with the Maryland Human Relation Commission against her supervisor, charging discrimination because of sex and age.

Mrs. Sarah O'Maro, 55, of the 2200 block Cecil Ave. employed in the Coppin business office, has charged that a school executive has constantly harrassed her by denying her educational opportunities, chances for advancement and giving her poor evaluations, both complainant and respondent are black.

Mrs. D'Maro in taking this action, and that she complained to school officials but nothing was done.

Mrs. O'Maro further contends that two men under 40 years old were hired to fill positions for which she has passed the test and has the necessary qualifications.

Dr. Calvin Burnett, president of Coppin State, said he was not aware of the fact that Mrs O'Maro complained to school officials not did he know that she had filed the suit.

An official at the Human Relations Commission states an investigator has been assigned to the case. No hearing date has been set.

Grants given for projects

More than $34,500 was awarded by the Maryland Committee for the Humanities and Public Policy for eight new people projects.

Antioch College, United Communities Against Poverty, the Columbia Foundation, the Remington Improvement Association and Offender Aid and Restoration received grants.

New projects include dialogues between humanities scholars and local citizens on such topics as public participation in politics, children's literature and how the new city of Columbia has fared in the last ten years.

Development grants were awarded to the Maryland Institute of Art and the Maryland Documentary Theater for future programs. Also awarded was a grant for the script for an upcoming film on Anna Ella Carroll.

Calendar of events can be obtained by calling the Committee's office at 837-1938.
