'Big Brother' Ali is beaten but inspires protege's win

CERRITOS, Calif. (UPI) — The heavyweight boxing champion came in sixth in a special celebrity race but his protege Houston McTear of Santa Monica City College came in first with a 10.14 in the 100-meter dash at the Muhammad Ali Invitational track meet Memorial Day.

McTear, who led the old hand-timed world record of 9.0 for 100 yards as a Florida high school student last year, won the Metric 100 star field that included Trinidad's Hasley Crawford, the gold medalist in the 1976 Olympics.

"I was inspired because it was Ali's meet," McTear declared.

"I know I can break the world record . . . 9.94 will be my best time," he said. The world record is 9.95.

It was appropriate that McTear won at the heavyweight champion's first track promotion. Ali, who has been a benefactor to McTear, even bought his parents a home in Florida.

But Ali, who has fine footwork in the boxing ring, could not use it on the running track. In a celebrity 100-yard dash, he huffed and puffed his way to sixth place in 14.1, losing to Chip McAllister, who played the young Cassius Clay in Ali's movie, "The Greatest," and who won in 12.4 seconds.

Howard Bingham, Ali's photographer, came in second at 12.8; singer Marvin Gaye, 12.9; Lance Burton, the young Kunte Kinte in the television movie "Roots," 13.1; and Lawrence Hilton-Jacobs, a "Sweathog" in the television series "Welcome Back, Kotter," 13.3.

Steve Williams of the Florida Track Club finished third behind McTear and Crawford.

Steve Riddick won the 200 meters in 21.2 by an eyelash over James Gilkes of Guyana.

World record holder Edwin Moses of Morehouse College in Atlanta, won the 400 intermediate hurdles in 48.68 but felt dwarfed by the celebrities.

"Did you notice how anticlimactic my race was?" he said.

HUFFED, PUFFED FOR NAUGHT—Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali worked hard trying to keep pace with former WBA titlist Jimmy Ellis and others in 100-meter celebrity dash of Muhammad Ali invitational meet at Cerritos, Calif., but best he could do was a dismal sixth.

Herron held on dope rap

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former professional football player Mac Herron was arrested Tuesday night for possession of cocaine and PCP, a depressant drug also known as "angel dust."

The arrest took place in a hotel where the SWAT squad was trying to outwait a suspicion psychotic armed with a gun, holding a woman hostage in a bathroom.

Police said Herron was arrested by officers on a statement unrelated to the hostage confrontation elsewhere in the hotel.

Herron, 23, was a kickoff return runner for the New England Patriots and ended his professional career when the Los Angeles Rams cut him from the squad before the start of the 1976 season.

Police said they found $20,000 in cash in Herron's hotel room along with an undisclosed amount of the two drugs and booked him on a charge of possession of a controlled substance.

Herron gave home addresses in Chicago, Atlanta and Boston, police said.

Services held for slain boxer

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Funeral services for Tyrone Everett, ranked No. 2 by the World Boxing Council and the chief contender for the junior lightweight crown, were held Tuesday night at the New Light Beulah Baptist Church in South Philadelphia.

Everett, 24, was shot to death last Thursday in a South Philadelphia rowhouse. The bullet, believed by police to have come from a rifle, passed through his right nostril and out the back of his head.

Burial was in Eden Cemetery, Collingdale, Delaware County, Wednesday.

Police are still seeking a suspect, believed to be a man in his 20s who was seen leaving the scene of the murder with a trashbag. The trashbag could have contained the murder weapon, police say.

Girlfriend held in boxer's death

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The girlfriend of slain boxer Tyrone Everett has been arrested and charged with the murder of the junior lightweight boxing contender.

Carolyn McKendrick, 24, surrendered to police Tuesday accompanied by her lawyer. She was later ordered held without bail on charges of murder, weapons offenses and drug charges pending a preliminary hearing June 9.

Everett, 24, considered the chief challenger to the title held by Alfredo Escalera, was found shot in the face last Thursday in Mrs. McKendrick's South Philadelphia row home. He died a short time later.

Tyrone Everett

Mrs. McKendrick and her attorney, Stephen Serota, went to police headquarters about 12 hours after the shooting but she was not questioned by police at that time.

However, warrants were issued Sunday for her arrest and Serota was notified of them Tuesday.

"She is charged with murder and we are not looking for anyone else," said Capt. Donald Patterson, head of the police homicide division.

Patterson also said the murder weapon, believed to be a rifle, was not recovered.

Serota said his client was "obviously . . . very upset at being unjustly charged with a crime she had nothing to do with."

Patterson said police had located a man who reportedly had been seen leaving Mrs. McKendrick's home the day of the murder. He added however, that police have determined he is not a suspect in the case.

Mrs. McKendrick, the mother of two, has been on probation following her conviction on a charge of receiving stolen property and weapons and narcotics offenses.

Funeral services for Everett were held Tuesday night in South Philadelphia. He was buried Wednesday in Collingdale, Dela. County.

Pro stars to aid Alpha net meet

Former wide receiver Willie Richardson and current running back Lydell Mitchell of the Colts, are among sports celebrities who have accepted invitations to play in the Druid Hill Park Courts. Plays begins Friday (10th) afternoon and will be continuous.

Agencies which lend aid to the development of inner-city youth will benefit from the recorder.

Ashe may pass Wimbledon nets

Arthur Ashe who won the tournament in 1975 by routing heavily favored Jimmy Connors, may be forced to scratch from this year's Wimbledon tennis championships.

The slender Virginian has not responded as well as he hoped to a midwinter heel operation, and early this week received treatment for an eye infection.

Indications are that he may decide to withdraw before the end of the week.

BIG BROTHER ACT—Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett was on hand to root for little sister Sherree in the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association track and field championships last weekend at Shippensburg State College. Sherree was unplaced in the girls long jump and hurdles competition but big brother was pleased.

LEFT BANK JAZZ SOCIETY, the only one of its kind (no kidding) in the more honors. This month of June has been declared Left Bank Jazz Month by Mayor Schaefer in a special proclamation. When the presentation came last week, Benny Kearse, president and all board members received citations individually.

Others so honored were Mildred Battle, vice president; James Hatcher, treasurer; Elford Jackson, financial secretary; John Fowler, recording secretary; Judy Webber, corresponding secretary and Vernon Welsh, Charles Simmons and Leon Manker.

THE AUSPICIOUS event followed the 13th Anniversary Dinner Dance which featured Duke Ellington's Orchestra directed by Mercer Ellington and Vernon Welsh, MC.

Other milestones include the WBJC FM 7 to midnite Saturday broadcasts by Mr. Kourse. "The Jazz Extravaganza" has a fantastic listening audience.

LBJ presents all summer the best in Jazz at the famous Ballroom every Sunday at 5 p.m. and usually 1,000 persons are on hand.

Members of the LBJ Society who are on the AFRO Honor Roll and are keeping the 13-year tradition and unprecedented tradition alive are:

NEXT WEEK'S special will be a feature on Sylvia Woingust Branchcomb, Yonkers, N.Y., a former Baltimorean and graduate of St. Frances Academy who has made her mark in the literary world with many published works. She's the sister of Baltimore's popular Norman Woingust who is verrrry proud.

YOU WON'T BELIEVE IT, but it's true. Dr. Eugene Williams Sr., 5217 Farm Pond Rd., Columbia, Md. announces the most encouraging happening:

There's a movement going on to prove there is a market for intelligent and sensitive black films.

Gordon R. Watkins president of the Toussaint Group, New York, heads the black - owned film and videotape productions declares that films and TV productions on the vulgar black image side are no longer of interest.

The distortions hurt us all and neglect the better black lifestyles and history.

YOU CAN HELP by adding your name to the list against No More Dirt and for intelligent, good portrayal of black citizens. WRITE; Gordon R. Watkins, president, Toussaint Group, Inc., 420 E. 51st., New York, N.Y. 10022.

GOOD NEWS always comes from the William Davis family of Jeffery Rd., Woodlawn. The twins they love so dearly, nephews Ronald and Ronnie Henry, sons of Eloise and Wilmer Henry, are graduating June 4 from Woodlawn Senior High School. Psychiatrist says blacks shun smut

CHICAGO — Blacks are more committed to the family and the "American dream" and therefore do not have time for child pornography, says a black Chicago psychiatrist on the topic of current Congressional hearings.

"I haven't counted heads and there is no real data," Dr. Douglas L. Foster told the AFRO last week. "But from my own observations, I've found that blacks are committed to their families and protect their children."

Dr. Foster practices on the far South Side of Chicago that is 16 to 17 per cent black and says he "gets a lot of data unofficially."

"I don't know why it's (pornography) not big with blacks," he said, adding: "Our children aren't fascinated by sex because they are exposed earlier."

Dr. Foster also said that pornography is not a big business in the black community and in a really stable black community, you usually can't find pornography shops, but if you do, they aren't controlled by blacks."

Last week, the House Crime Subcommittee opened hearings on several bills designed to counter a rapidly increasing child pornography business and the rising number of child prostitution rings — both of which find most of their victims among the estimated one million runaways reported each year.

Although penalties differ, each bill sets fines and prison terms for individuals who cause or knowingly permit a child under age 16 to engage in a prohibited sexual act or the simulation of such an act for photographs or films.

The bills would not apply to possession of films, magazines, books or the like featuring child pornography but would cover individuals who produce, distribute and sell the materials in interstate commerce.

Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., chairman of the Subcommittee said, "It is clear that a considerably number of these porno films are using them as a guide for their own acts in sexually abusing children, further widening the vicious circle of abuse."

Although a wide variety of child pornography was available in adult books stores until a few months ago, publicity stirred a public outcry that resulted in many stores dropping the material.

Preliminary information received by the committee indicates child porn peddlers are no longer relying on adult bookstores for their market, and "big money" is moving in.

What once was a "cottage industry," with sales out of car trunks and post office boxes, now has a production and distribution system of its own, with backing by big league but shady financeers, experts say.

Was it black castor late date that upset 'Guys & Dolls' patrons?

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. — Management called it a seasonal change, but a local newspaper labeled it racism.

Approximately 5,000 theater-goers demanded refunds rather than witness an all-black revival of "Guys and Dolls."

"The (Miami) Herald misrepresented the facts," Mrs. Linda Pollak told the AFRO last week.

Speaking for the Parker Playhouse management, she explained: "Our season has never run this long and since most of our subscribers are winter residents, they didn't want to stay in town that long."

The musical opened May 18 and will run through Saturday, June 4.

Playhouse producer Zev Bufman, whom Mrs. Pollak says was made to look ridiculous in the article, expressed his feeling last week by running a sarcastic, full-page advertisement in the Herald.

It stated simply: "Ok Boss. My name is Toby. My name is Toby."

The reference to "Roots," Mrs. Pollack said, was a personal statement from Bufman to the Herald.

"He's telling them that if this is what they want to do, go ahead, but he's not going to change his ways, just as Kunta Kinte didn't change his in 'Roots,' she explained. (Bufman is white.)

However, Mrs. Pollak did admit that this was the first time there had been such a huge demand for refunds and that it also was the first time the Playhouse has offered a show with an all-black cast.

And so me subscribers even admitted that they did not want to see a play with all blacks, she said. "About two dozen complained about the black cast, but most said they were leaving town," Mrs. Pollak added.

Mrs. Pollack also explained that patrons did not know "Guys and Dolls" was scheduled until six weeks prior to its opening.

"When subscriptions opened last November, we had only announced two of the plays," she said. The Playhouse normally runs eight shows each season.

Satellite relays doctors' techniques to Indiana

Satellite technology can revolutionize medical research, a spokesman for the Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting's Telecommunication Office said.

Sidney Tishler said satellites can allow doctors at one hospital to witness medical procedures thousands of miles away and consult with each other on difficult cases without delay.

This process was demonstrated at Johns Hopkins doctors searched for lung cancer on one patient, while health science educators 563 miles away in Indianapolis watched with less than one second's delay.

The Indianapolis physicians were able to question the Hopkins doctors as they probed. They also participated in a lecture on cell diseases and watched, with Hopkins physicians, a videotape of an operation on the eye.

Normally only one doctor can look through the tiny glass fiber instrument used to probe a patient's lungs. But the satellite demonstration enabled all who were watching the broadcast to see via a camera hooked to the viewing end of the instrument.

Tishler said a NASA - Canadian Communications Technology Satellite transmitted picture and sound between the two cities.

In Baltimore, two infrared laser units fed the signal from the Johns Hopkins to a microwave station atop an adjacent parking garage. The signals were picked up by the satellite in orbit 22,300 miles above the equator and beamed to Indianapolis, where it was received by a temporary earth station. (UPI)

Problem VD been getting even worse

BOSTON — The number of reported cases of penicillin-resistant gonorrhea in the U.S. is growing rapidly and could become the disease's dominant strain, according to a Veterans Administration doctor here.

Dr. David Feingold, chief of dermatology at the VA Hospital, said last week that the foreign strain, linked to the Far East, has climbed from the reported case 18 months ago at Phillips, Md. to several hundred in 21 states.

He told a meeting of the Massachusetts Medical Society that the strain probably will increase further because "bugs are so smart and people are so negligent."

Dr. Feingold said 150 new cases of the penicillin-resistant strain were reported nationally in March and April, compared to 21 cases from March to September, 1976. He urged aggressive treatment as the only weapon against the new strain.
