AFRO's Mrs. Santa over the top — Hallelujah!

Dr. William Hall and Dr. Donald W. Stewart are shown here at the ground breaking for Garwyn Medical Center's second building.

Garwyn largest contributor to Mrs. Santa

Garwyn Medical Center, Inc. contributed $1,507.11 to the AFRO's Mrs. Santa. This is the largest donation to the fund. Medical staff and employees joined together in this venture.

Garwyn will celebrate its 10th anniversary this spring. Dr. William Hall, corporation president, said because of their success, they feel a deep sense of gratitude to the black community for the patronage they have extended.

For this reason, it was decided that a special project, as the Mrs. Santa's program that reaches back into the black community, deserves the support and encouragement from anyone who can give — big or small.

Dr. Hall further said they look upon the AFRO as a sort of benchmark; it has been a permanent fixture serving the lives and interest of the black community for many years. As a token of their appreciation, Garwyn is hopefully reinvesting in the lives of those who have invested in them.

Mrs. Santa's helpers

By Arnetta Lottier

The Joint Charity Committee of East Baltimore Lodge No. 1043 and Zorah Elliott Temple No. 717 of the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the world presented Mrs. Santa $100.

This group recently held its first annual charity presentation for various organizations. Guests at this affair were the Honorable Mayor William D. Schaefer, Councilman Clarence "Du" Burns, Nathan Irby Jr. as well as the organizations receiving donations.

Presentations were made to the following organizations United Negro College Fund; Kirk Multi Purpose Center; Johns Hopkins Childrens Center; American League for Crippled Children and Adults; McKim Center; Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind, Santa Claus Anonymous.

The Joint Committee is headed by Brother Ronald Rivers, Brother Joseph Cornick, Exalted Ruler of the Lodge and Dt. Virginia White, daughter ruler of the Temple.

The Powell Heirs celebrated with an early Christmas party held at the Winchester armory. Corsages and boutinaires were made for each family member by the president, Mrs. Tiny Randolph. They wish to thank Ms. Thompson who works at the armory and Arthur Bonds who handled the disco.

Out - of - town family members attending the party were: Mrs. Bernice Ross, Eastern Shore; Miss Sylvia Keene, Patricia Pender, Glen Burnie, Md.; Art and Carrie Woods; Misses Willie Mae Beams and Carrie Beams, Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. Beatrice Brown and Mr. Wallace, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brown, Petersburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. G. Hill, Garland Art and Mrs. Fannie Durham, Hampton, Va.

Officers of the group are: Mrs. Tiny Randolph, president; Shelton Randolph, vice president; Mrs. Ann Richmond, secretary; Mrs. Jackie Randolph, assistant secretary; Mrs. Gloria Fields, treasurer; Melvin Fields, business manager; George Randolph, assistant business manager; Mrs. Martha Bailey, chaplain; Alton Wheeler and Bobby Randolph, sergeant at arms and Mrs. Elma Watson, cook. The Powells contributed $75 to Mrs. Santa at the party.

Powder Puff Civic and Social Club contributed $100. to Mrs. Santa. This group is a social and civic organization, made up of mainly Baltimore school teachers. It was founded by six Coppinites in 1955 to enable them to keep in touch with one another. All the group enjoy children and feel that by giving to Mrs. Santa, it is one way they can show love.

The Motions, a social club, contributed $200. to Mrs. Santa. The group started five years ago with the objective of growing through social endeavors. They have given numerous cabarets and other social affairs in the Baltimore area. In the past few years they have been involved in charitable activities including the United Negro College Fund, sponsoring Little League Sports groups as well as Mrs. Santa. Along with the money they donated to Mrs. Santa, they gave toys and clothes for the needy.

Officers of the group are: Paul Bennett, president; James Boardely, vice - president; Leonard Pace, secretary and John McCargo, treasurer.

The Vulcan Blazers, Inc., a group of Baltimore City Fire fighters, presented $100. to Mrs. Santa. This is an annual tradition with this group. They also give baskets of groceries to the needy and a Christmas party for inner city youngsters.

The H. B. Suggs Alumni Association gave $100. to Mrs. Santa. This group originated in Farmville, N.C. and was first known as the H. B. Suggs Alumni Association, named in honor of its beloved principal, Herman Byran Suggs. The name of the organization was changed to "Charitable Organization" when progress forced the integration of the black and white schools.

..As a tribute to Mr. Suggs, who labored for 41 years making this high school one of the best in North Carolina, chapters were formed in Washington, D.C., Boston, Mass., Norfolk, Va., New York City, Stamford, Conn., Baltimore, Md. and Farmville, N.C.

Contributions from the proceeds of each chapter's annual cabaret are made to local as well as Farmville communities to enhance the livlihood of the old school and for the social betterment of life in general for deprived people.

Little School youngsters contributed toys and clothes to help needy children on AFRO's Mrs. Santa list. Above, Lori Ford, Angela Jackson, Warren Jones, Yolanda Simpson, Marcia Thope, Kim Brown, Dominic Hughes, Stacie Sparrow, Brian Tillman, Erica Castro and Leland Green.

Montego Pleasure Club donated $100. to Mrs. Santa. Shown here making the presentation are: Louisa Stokes, mascot and James W. Blackmon Jr., treasurer.

Peers, Inc. made their annual contribution to Mrs. Santa of $100. Shown here include: Wendell White, president; Rassie McCoy, vice president; Leonard Crosby, treasurer.

Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority, Inc., Iota Chapter, donated $100. to Mrs. Santa. Representing the group with Mrs. Santa's helper, Miss Sharon Jordan is Mrs. Thelma Addison, chairperson of community affairs (right) and Mrs. Louise Turks, left.

Clothes were piled high in Mrs. Santa's office due to the kindness of folks who read about her need. They are all gone now. Remaining clothes wre sent to the Bethel AME Outreach Cener, 1301 Druid Hill Ave. This center helps the needy with clothes all year round.
