Mrs. Helen M. Cothorn worked at Social Security

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen Mercer Cothorn, 61, were held March 23 at St. Cecilia's Roman Catholic Church.

Mrs. Cothorn died March 20 after a lengthy illness.

Born in Norfolk, Va., she was the daughter of the late William T. Mercer and Sally Lindsay.

In 1923, she moved to Baltimore with her family and was educated in the public schools and graduated from Frederick Douglass High School in 1935.

Because of her musical talent, Mrs. Cothorn attended Juilliard School of Music.

Her interest in music was great and was a source of inspiration to her students, many of whom majored in music.

Mrs. Cothorn was devoted to her family and her home was the meeting place for family reunions and festive occasions.

Her loyalty and thoughtfulness endeared her to others and because of her warm and outgoing personality, she was held in high esteem by a host of friends.

For many years, Mrs. Cothorn was a dedicated employee at the Social Security Administration from which she retired in 1973.

She was a member of the Piresiders Club and president at the time of her death. Mrs. Cothorn is survived by her husband, John L. Cothorn; five sisters, Mesdames Carrie McPherson of New York; Lucille Kono, Philadelphia, Anne Mercer, Santa Monica California; Gussie Harris and Mabel Brooks of Baltimore.

Also, a stepson, Johnson A. Cothorn; one grandson, Jeffrey A. Cothorn.

Mrs. Grace Walker taught languages

Funeral services for Mrs. Grace Hunt Walker will be held March 23, at noon.

Mrs. Walker, 58, died March 21 after a lengthy illness. Born in Malden, Mass., she was a graduate of Malden High School and Boston University College.

She received her Master of Arts degree from the University of Michigan and her certificate of advanced graduate study from Boston University Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. Mrs. Walker also did additional graduate work at McGill University, Columbia University and Wells College.

For 17 years, she was a teacher of foreign languages in the public schools and prior to coming to Baltimore she taught at Morris Brown College.

She was known as a dedicated teacher of languages and was an aggressive advocate of excellence and academic achievement.

She was a member of the American Association of University Professors, the American Association of Teachers of French, the Lawyers Wives of Baltimore, League of Women Voters, A.K.A. Sorority, Les Onzes, a member of St. James Episcopal Church and several other organizations.

Mrs. Walker is survived by her husband, Attorney Joseph Walker Jr.; mother, Mrs. Grace C. Hunt; one brother, W. Winston Hunt and a sister - in - law, Mrs. Grace B. Hunt, all of Baltimore.

Francis Charity was a printer

Funeral services for Francis Charity, 63, will be held 1 p.m. March 23 at Morton and Dyett Funeral Home, 1701 Laurens St.

Mr. Charity, of the 1600 block McCulloh St., died March 20 at his home. Relatives state he had been in the hospital.

At the time of his death, Mr. Charity was employed at the Washington Post as a printer.

Prior to working with the Washington Post, Mr. Charity was employed with the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers and formerly worked at Journal and Guide.

He is survived by two aunts, Mrs. Willie Lipscomb and Mrs. Gladys Muir; two uncles the Rev. Percy S. Lipscomb and Reginald Lipscomb; a niece, Mrs. Patricia H. Pretlow; two nephews, Hezekiah and Ronald Charity and one brother - in - law, James H. Alexander.

Community choir performs at Palm Sunday service

A capacity crowd heard the Baltimore Community Choir present "The Seven Last Words of Christ" at Union Baptist Church during a Palm Sunday Service of Worship and Communion.

Organizer and director of this interdenominational event was Isador B. Oglesby, director of Union's Summer Chancel choir. The 55-voice volunteer choir drew its membership from local churches.

At the organ was Max Statham, organist-director at Metropolitan Methodist Church, while the piano accompanist was Miss M. Almira Miller of Emmanuel Christian Community Church.

Violinist was Louis Mitchell, a student at Peabody Conservatory of Music. Chuck Richards of WMAR-TV was narrator.

Soloists were Ms LaVerne Stewart, Donald Staggers, George Bennett, and Cecil Bray.

The Revs. Howard L. Cornish, Baxter Matthews, Arthur L. Payne, Marcus Wood and Vernon Dobson, host pastor, participated in the services. Special recognition and an award were given Mrs. Mercedes Wilson, who originated this type of interdenominational Palm Sunday Worship service several years ago.

Mr. Oglesby announced that the Baltimore Community Choir will become a permanent group and the Palm Sunday Worship and Community Service an annual event.

CCB gets study grant

The Community College of Baltimore (CCB) has been awarded a $40,000 federal grant to expand its work-study program.

Under the plan, students will study either at the Liberty or the Harbor Campus of CCB for a full semester those subjects related to their career choices, said Assistant Dean of the Faculty Jack Friedman at the Harbor Campus.

"Then the students will work for commercial companies, industrial corporations or government agencies for the second semester, obtaining experience as well as college credits for their work; he said.

More than 30 companies signed up when the program was initiated last year. They included banks and financial institutions, retail stores, architectural firms wanting heating and air conditioning trainees.

Students benefit because they combined classroom work with practical on-the-job training. In class, students study subjects related to their jobs. They also study general education subjects. In the classroom, they obtain, a knowledge of job-getting techniques, making out successful applications and job-resumes.

At their jobs, they apply what they have learned in class, besides getting first-hand knowledge of the problems of the companies. They become acquainted with the equipment being used and students learn from their contact with businessmen and professionals.

Mental health lecture to be given

James R. Ralph, chief, Minority Group Mental Health Programs, National Institute for Mental Health, will give a lecture on "The Politics of Mental Health" March 29 at the University of Maryland Baltimore County, 5401 Wilkens Ave.

The lecture is one of a continuing series on the issues of discrimination and maltreatment because of sex, race, physical and mental disabilities and age. The lecture will be held at 1 p.m. in Lecture Hall 1.

Dr. Ralph has served as instructor of psychiatry at the Phipps Clinic of Johns Hopkins School of Medicine; staff psychiatrist at Sheppard and Enoch Pratt Hospital.

The Baltimore City Public Schools' Bragg Nature Study Center, 6601 Baltimore National Pike, an outdoor classroom where students are able to study the environment, has planned a spring schedule of field trips for students that will run from April 3 to June 13.

The Center provides students an opportunity to study the balance between the living and the non - living worlds and to help students appreciate the role of man in maintaining that balance.

Lamb feast at St. Martin's

Members of the Ministers Board of St. Martin's Church of Christ will have their annual lamb feast March 24, 10 p.m. at the church, 2114 Madison Ave.

The Rev. Mr. P.H. Franklin stated you do not have to be a member to attend the dinner. Wine and other foods will be served with the dinner.

The church will also have sunrise services at 6 a.m. March 26, with breakfast served following services.

—Briefs

—Douglas Memorial

"We have units available to young folks, old folks, families with dogs and cats. We are trying to raise the level of the neighborhood and have a homey neighborhood existence," said Rev. Bascom.

"Douglas Village will be people centered and ideal neighborhood trying to get people to have a need for neighborliness," said Rev. Bascom.

The church believes in helping the community and among other programs sponsored by the church is Camp Farthest Incoporated, located 29 miles from the church in Carroll County.

Since 1972, Douglas Memorial Church has operated the camp for inner city children from 7 to 14 - year - old.

More than 10,000 children have spent time at the camp since it began in 1972. The majority of the recruiting is done through the Department of Social Services in order not to make it a church centered program.

Douglas Memorial also has a federal credit union program available to its 800 members.

It is operated just as any other credit union and "We have never lost a penny or turned down a loan," said Rev. Bascom.

The church has also contributed to more than 5,000 scholarships for students in college. While many congregations concern themselves solely with church work, Rev. Bascom is concerned in leading his congregation in the work of the church and the community.

Officer Training School accepting applications

College seniors or graduates may now apply for an Air Force commission through Officer Training School (OTS), Recruiting Service officials announced recently. More than 1,800 openings for OTS are currently available.

Selected applicants who successfully complete the three - month OTS course will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Air Force.

More than 850 people with scientific, mathematical, engineering, physics, meteorology and computer science baccalaureate degrees will be needed for entry into OTS before July 1978, officials said.

Applications should be submitted early in order to be considered for available openings. However, recruiting officials anticipate a continuing requirement will exist throughout next year for people holding these degrees.

This year, some 250 openings are for training as Air Force navigators. Other openings available include: weather, air traffic control, communications - electronics, scientific, computer technology, and developmental and civil engineer officer positions.

Applicants selected for OTS will study communicative skills, leadership, management, military history, customs and courtesies, world affairs, and other subjects designed to ease the transition to the Air Force way of life. Physical conditioning and organized sports are also emphasized at the 90-day school, located near San Antonio, Tex.

Additional information about OTS and other Air Force opportunities can be obtained from the Air Force recruiter or at the Air Force's toll free number 1-800-447-4700.
